Mild Reservationists Announce Concessions by Lodge—Democrats Yield Three Points.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Important advances in the direction of bringing about a non-partisan compromise adjustment between the bulk of the Republican and Democratic elements of the Senate, with a view to commanding the necessary two-thirds vote for the ratification of the Treaty of Versailles, with interpretative, rather than nullifying reservations, were made tonight.

The compromise negotiations which were begun between Democratic and Republican Senators today following the very satisfactory informal conference of twenty Democrats at Senator Owen's apartments last night, reached the point tonight where certain influential Republican Senators had agreed to take up tomorrow morning a proposal to bring Republicans and Democrats together in a round table conference for the purpose of still further closing what appears to be a narrowing gap between most of the members of both parties in the Senate.

It is not permissible to-night to give the names of those men who are taking an active part in this movement among the Republicans, but the statement was authorized that those who are trying to bring influential representatives of both parties together in a conference for the purpose of an absolute compromise adjustment, have decided to go ahead with this task, most actively among the Republican members, that influential Democratic leaders will work similarly among members of their party, and that there will be an informal conference between Republican and Democratic Senators tomorrow morning.

Working for Big Parley Today.

It is learned late tonight that the proposed round table conference will probably take place as early as tomorrow afternoon. That at least is the view in the minds of certain Senators of both parties, who had further informal conferences tonight and who agreed unofficially to work toward that end.

Whether this meeting will take the form of a very large gathering or whether it will be in the nature of a smaller gathering of representatives of both sides of the Senate aisle, and of the character of a non-partisan conciliation committee, had not been determined tonight, and will depend upon the results to be achieved by the activities of those in both parties who intend to put their shoulders to the wheel tomorrow morning.

Prospects are regarded as bright that the joint conference will take place in the afternoon when the latest form of the proposed compromise adjustment over reservations will be considered in the hope that the two sides may be brought close enough together for some definite announcement to be made tomorrow evening.

"It is possible that tomorrow's developments may result in some sort of a tentative agreement as early as tomorrow afternoon," said a prominent Democratic Senator tonight who had been in active touch with influential Republicans.

See Partisanship Dropped.

Those who are working for a compromise adjustment, such as might be regarded by the Republicans as taking care of their insistence on what they term safeguarding of American interests, while at the same time taking the verbal form of reservations which it is hoped President Wilson might regard as representing interpretations rather than nullification, are proceeding in a very conciliatory spirit. Democratic leaders said tonight that they were not seeking to gain any party advantage over the Republicans and were not expecting that Republicans who really wanted action sought party advantage over them.

Senator Hitchcock, who was present at the conference at Senator Owen's apartments, declared his belief that genuine progress had been made with the sinking of partisanship.

Senator Owen, who presided over the Democratic conference, also emphasized the statement that the Democratic leaders were seeking no partisan advantage and had found the Republicans generally disposed to sink partisanship. As ancient maxim of the Senate, said Mr. Owen, is that party lines cease at the

Wilson Issues First Call to League of Nations Council

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Wilson today issued a call for the first meeting of the Council of the League of Nations at the Quai d'Orsay, Paris, at 10:30 o'clock, next Friday morning.

The call is brief. Its text will not be made public until it has been transmitted to the Governments addressed.

In issuing the call the President acted in a Ministerial capacity and not officially for the United States Government, which, not having ratified the treaty, is therefore not entitled to participation in the initial meeting of the council. The United States, pending its ratification of the treaty, is still in the status of an armistice with Germany.

HOOVER SAYS EUROPE NEEDS $150,000,000

That Amount of Credits Will Feed Nations Till Harvest, He Tells House Committee.

URGES USE OF WHEAT FUND

Declares That the Famine Centres in the Large Cities of Austria, Poland and Armenia.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Establishment through the United States Grain Corporation of $150,000,000 in credits would feed Europe until the next harvest without imposing any burden on American taxpayers, Herbert Hoover today told the House Ways and Means Committee, which began consideration of Secretary Glass's request for authority to advance that much for grain corporation's funds. Early payment of the loans made could be counted upon, Mr. Hoover said.

The financial problem of feeding Europe is "getting smaller all the time," Hoover informed the committee, explaining that the need this Winter was centred in ten or twelve large cities in Austria, Poland and Armenia. Most of Europe, he said, was in shape to feed itself, or get its breadstuffs through private financial channels.

Private charities in the United States are sending five or six million dollars worth of food abroad monthly and within a fortnight 3,000,000 American families with relatives in Central and Eastern Europe will be able to buy "food drafts" from banks in the United States. These drafts will be exchangeable abroad for a barrel of flour or other food to supplement that now being rationed by authorities, and will serve as a substitute for cash remittances.

"Remittance of money is the height of folly," Hoover declared, explaining that with food distribution under Government control one might have plenty of cash but still be unable to obtain additional food. Hoover predicted that from five to eight million dollars a month would be spent in this country for "food drafts."

The Children's Fund, an organization that is feeding 2,500,000 children of Europe, is back of the "food draft" plan, Hoover said, adding that it also was aided by banks and other private charities, including the Red Cross, the Committee for Relief in the Near East, and the Jewish Joint Distribution. Foreign Governments, he said, have agreed to the plan, which also has been approved by the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board.

By aiding Poland with food, and helping ten or twelve European cities escape starvation this Winter, Hoover said the United States would "build up security for its $10,000,000,000 lent abroad" as well as perform a humanitarian service.

While the $100,000,000 famine fund provided last year is almost exhausted, approximately $88,000,000 will be repaid "within two or three years," Mr. Hoover said. He declared $12,000,000 had been spent for "sheer charity," in feeding under-nourished children.

"All Europe is on rations, Mr. Hoover continued, but with the Grain Corporation in charge, no new appropriation was necessary. The corporation's $150,000,000 capital is intact and it has profits of $60,000,000.

Discussing specific cases of need, Mr. Hoover remarked that Austria had offered its art galleries as security for food, but he said it was unnecessary for America to go into the "pawnbroking" business.

"Austria is consigned to a perpetual poorhouse," he remarked, manifesting plain disapproval of the peace settlement as to Austrian boundaries. "What was done to Austria was not done at American instigation. If Austria is to be made a constant mendicant, the United States should not be its source of perpetual charity."

ALL OUR FORCES TO QUIT SIBERIA IN A FEW WEEKS

BRITAIN TO CO-OPERATE

JAPAN TO FACE BOLSHEVIKI

Will Have to Guard the Trans-Siberian Railroad and Protect Loyal Russians.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan 12.—Withdrawal at an early date of the American Expeditionary forces in Siberia commanded by Major General William S. Graves, has been definitely determined upon by President Wilson, and official notification of this fact has been communicated to the Japanese Government by Secretary Lansing through the American Ambassador at Tokio.

The notification is to the effect that the troops will be withdrawn as soon as the Czechoslovak contingents and the Stevens Siberian Railway mission have been brought out. Japan will thus be left to protect the Siberian Railroad and the Anti-Red Russians in Eastern Siberia.

Every effort is being made to perfect plans for bringing all of the 62,000 Czechoslovak, Polish, Jugoslav and Rumanian troops out of Siberia in the quickest possible time. The Government of Czechoslovakia has asked the United States Government to take care of the transportation of 32,000 of the 50,000 Czechs. Great Britain will remove the remainder of the foreign troops and the expense of repatriation will be borne by their respective governments.

Secretary Daniels has placed Major Gen. Frank L. Hines, Director of Army Transportation, in charge of the movement, and the America, President Grant and Edelyn, which will accommodate an aggregate of 15,000 men, will leave New York within the next ten days for Vladivostok as the vanguard of the transportation fleet which it is expected will number ten vessels.

Before the end of February the repatriation will be under way, and there is a strong probability that the American Expeditionary Forces will be able to start their withdrawal from Siberia before the middle of March.

The American forces were sent into Siberia for the stated purposes of aiding the Czech forces to make their safe exit out of Sibera at a time when the Bolsheviki were trying to impede their progress eastward more than a year ago, and secondly to assist in keeping open the Trans-Siberian Railroad and to protect certain supplies. The situation has reached a point where, with the repatriation of the Czechs and the withdrawal of the Stevens mission, the purpose for which the expedition was sent into Siberia will have been fulfilled.

It is understood that the notification that has been communicated to the Tokio Government by the American State Department has considerably upset the statesmen of that nation, who had hoped that the American troops might be retained in Siberia until the menace of Bolshevism had been removed, and that some arrangement might be negotiated by which they would be utilized in co-operation with Japanese forces. The Japanese Government is very greatly concerned over the eastward advance of the Bolsheviki following the collapse of the Kolchak Government, and is regarding this advance of the Reds more and more as constituting a threat at the safety of Japan as well as of China. Negotiations have been in progress in an informal way between the Washington and Tokio governments in an effort to perfect plans for dealing with and meeting this menace.

There are approximately 9,000 American regulars in Siberia, all the drafted men having been replaced. They form the following units: The 27th Infantry, the 31st Infantry, General Graves's headquarters, the 4th Ambulance Company; Evacuation Hospital No. 7; Field Hospital No. 4, Service Park Unit No. 332, and Company D of the 854 Telegraph Battalion.

The British Government has two sets of transports, one in the Atlantic, another in the Pacific, which are engaged moving Chinese coolies back from France to the Orient. It is understood that these transports will be used in bringing many of the foreign troops out of Siberia, via the Pacific, Canadian, and Atlantic routes.

The Czech troops to be moved in American transports will be taken to Trieste over two routes. Those vessels which are able to negotiate the Suez

Germans Plot to Scuttle Ships Not Yet Surrendered

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 12.—A plan to scuttle the German warships not yet turned over to the Allies is being considered by officers of the German Navy, according to information received by the Majority Socialist Party leaders.

CAN'T HOLD LIQUOR OUTSIDE RESIDENCE

Owners Have Only Four Days to Save Stocks in Warehouses or Vaults.

HOTELS MUST SELL OUT

Intoxicants Held After Jan. 27 Will Be Seized, Is New Ruling.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Persons who have stored quantities of liquor "for personal use only" in storage warehouses, safe deposit vaults and other convenient places outside of their homes, were hard hit today when the Bureau of Internal Revenue issued an order to the effect that such liquor must be moved to the private residence of the owner not later than January 17.

There is one alternative left open to persons who are unable to move the liquor from storage to their homes by Friday next, and that carries but little consolation. Until January 27 permits may be obtained to sell the liquor which remains in storage after January 17 for non-beverage purposes.

The problem of the man with a small apartment and a large stock of liquor in a storage warehouse presents a situation which has both its humorous and pathetic side, according to the viewpoint taken. At any rate, the regulations issued by Commissioner Roper are final, and the Government intends to declare warehouses in which the liquor is found public nuisances and to seize the liquor if the regulations are violated.

The term "liquor" in this instance covers beers and wines as well as the beverages containing a higher percentage of alcohol. The regulations do not apply, of course, to Government bonded warehouses, over which the Government has supervision.

Seizures are to begin Feb. 1. Persons who are affected by the regulations issued today have but four days in which to act if they intend to save their stocks, laid away in public warehouses, for future use. Persons who haven't room in their apartments or houses to accommodate their stocks apparently are lost beyond hope.

The Regulations in Detail.

Regulations issued today cover a number of points concerning the liquor questions, many of which were treated at some length in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday. Here is the summary of the regulations as issued by the Bureau of Internal Revenue:

"Persons having in storage warehouses, safe deposit vaults, and other places legally acquired intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes must remove such liquors to their private dwellings on or before Jan. 17, 1920, under a ruling issued by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

"'Legally acquired liquor' is liquor bought prior to July 1, 1919.

"If liquors are found in storage warehouses or other places except private dwellings and Government bonded warehouses after Feb. 1, 1920, and report of its possession has not been made to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, such liquors will be subject to seizure and the places where they were stored may be declared a public and common nuisance.

"Proprietors of storage places where liquor is held subject to the orders of owners are required to make report of such liquor on or before Jan. 17, 1920. Failure of the owner himself to report it, nevertheless, will subject such liquor to seizure.

"Hotels holding liquor for service to their guests or for beverage purposes in contemplation of the ban being lifted, cannot possess such liquor on and after Jan. 17, 1920, but may make application and obtain a permit to sell it for non-beverage purposes, in which event a bond must be filed. Report of such liquor must be made on or before Jan. 27, 1920.

"If a person has more than one dwelling he may possess liquor in each home in good faith residences, although occupied at different times.

"If a person changes his dwelling he may remove his liquor under special permit to transport with other household effects to his new residence, providing such transfer is not in conflict with State laws. Residents of apartment houses, hotels or boarding houses

JAPANESE OFFICERS FETED

As the Nation's Guests They and Their Men Had an Unprecedented Ovation.

MEXICANS BETTER ARMED

Special to The New York Times.

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 12.—It became known here today that the Washington Government had received a report that on Christmas Eve there arrived in the harbor of Manzanillo, one of the principal Pacific ports of Mexico, a merchant ship flying the flag of Japan, accompanied into port by a cruiser of the Imperial Japanese Navy and loaded to capacity with arms and ammunition for the Carranza Government.

This report is officially of record in Washington, although up to the present time nothing has been given out for publication regarding the delivery of Japanese-made war materials to the Mexican Government. The cruiser that is said to have accompanied the munitions laden ship into the harbor of Manzanillo is the Yakumo, the officers and crew of which vessel were the recipients of a great ovation in Mexico City last Friday night.

The war materials landed at Manzanillo were obtained in Japan by Colonel Emilio Cirolos, a trusted officer of the Carranzista army, and Manuel Peres Romero, formerly Mexican Minister at Tokio. This is believed to be the first consignment of arms and ammunitions received by Carranza from any source since the American Government's embargo against such shipments into Mexico became effective several months ago.

When the cruiser Yakumo and the ammunition ship arrived at Manzanillo on Dec. 24, the officers of the Yakumo were welcomed by a committee of Carranza officials from Mexico City. The entire officer and enlisted personnel of the Japanese warship were then made the official guests of the Mexican Government and by the committee taken on special trains to Guadalajara and subsequently to the national capital, where they were welcomed by the higher officials of the Government. The Japanese arrived in Mexico City Jan. 3, and concluded their visit last Saturday.

Reports from Mexico City described the demonstration of last Friday as one of the most remarkable in the history of the Mexican capital.

Federal officials in San Antonio this afternoon admitted the correctness of the report from Manzanillo, but refused to make any comment on the incident. The name of the cargo carrier was not contained, the only information to be had regarding it being that it is a "very large transpacific merchantman."

That the Carranza troops have been receiving up-to-date equipment and that they are better armed than has hitherto been the case is also officially known. The Mexicans are now adding machine gun units to their infantry and cavalry commands. Within the past few weeks three new machine gun companies are known to have been organized and equipped in Southern Chihuahua, and it is reported that companies are being organized for service with other foot and mounted units in other parts of the republic.

The new rifles being issued to the Mexican soldiers are the latest type Mausers. There is also in operation a new ammunition factory near Hermosille, Sonora, the first to be started, it is stated, in Western Mexico. Another ammunition plant is near Mexico City and is under the direction of the German Mexican General, Maximilian M. Kloss.

Reports of Mexican efforts to manufacture gas shells and tanks have also reached the border, but these reports lack definite confirmation.

The first border session of the subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs, appointed to investigate the entire Mexican problem, will begin at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Fifty witnesses have been subpoenaed to be on hand, and notice to about 200 others are now going out. Senator Fall, the chairman of the committee, is due in San Antonio tonight.

Not Confirmed at Capital.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—No confirmation from responsible official sources of the reported delivery of a large consignment of Japanese-made war materials on Christmas Eve at Manzanillo was obtainable here tonight.

When the report was brought to the attention of Secretary Lansing he said: "It has never been brought to my attention."

Secretary Baker said:

"I do not care to discuss it at all."

Secretary Daniels had retired when the report reached Washington.

New York Bar Association to Take Up Defense Of Five Socialists Suspended by the Assembly

The resolutions to be presented to the Bar Association tonight condemning the suspension of five Socialist Assemblymen and calling for a committee to go to Albany to defend them, together with the names of those sponsoring the resolutions, follow:

Whereas, This association regards with a deep sense of anxiety the action of the Assembly of this State in suspending from its membership the five members of the Socialist Party who were duly elected members of the Assembly at the last election, and

Whereas, Any attempt by a majority to exclude from the Legislature those who have been duly elected to its membership merely because of their affiliation with a political party is un-American, and, if successful, must destroy the rights of minorities and the very foundations of representative government, and

Whereas, The five members of the Socialist Party now suspended from membership are charged to be unfit for membership in the Legislature because of their membership in the Socialist Party, and not because of any personal unfitness, it is hereby

Resolved, That this association is unalterably opposed to any action by the Assembly excluding from its membership because of affiliation with any political party any person duly elected to its membership, and it is further

Resolved, That the President of this association appoint a Special Committee who shall appear before the Assembly or its Judiciary Committee and take such action as may in their judgment be necessary to safeguard and protect the principles of representative government which are involved in the proceedings now pending.

BISHOP MAY ORDER DR. GRANT TO TRIAL

HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT

Rector of Church of the Ascension Must Be Loyal, Declares Dr. Burch.

Bishop Charles Sumner Burch conferred yesterday with members of the Vestry of the Church of the Ascension over the alleged radical utterances of the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant. He said that he hoped the controversy could be settled satisfactorily, but that he would appoint a commission to try the minister if charges were presented by the Vestry.

"Dr. Grant must be loyal," he said. "He is, generally speaking, at liberty to preach what he likes, so long as it meets the approval of his Church, but he certainly must not preach anything which is subversive of law and order.

"If the situation calls for it, he may be brought to trial on the presentation of formal charges by the Vestry of the church. It would then become my duty to appoint a commission to act on the case, but we hope to effect a settlement without that.

"Personally, I believe absolutely in the deportation of alien anarchists. It has come to my attention that Mr. Grant has been using the church proper for his forum meetings. Under the church canons, if he uses the church itself, the laymen who speak there must have the approval of the Bishop, and he has had people speaking there, radicals among them, without first obtaining the approval of the Bishop."

Vestry May Report Today.

Bishop Burch said last night that he expected to receive by this morning a report from the vestrymen of the Church of the Ascension on their investigation of the utterances of the rector and that his actions would be governed by that report.

"I will take official action then," he said, "if any is necessary. The report may be a statement of facts without recommendations, or with recommendations. The Episcopal Church is a church of law and justice, and any action that may follow from this report will be according to law and justice. If there appears to be necessity for action, my first action will be to see Dr. Grant and hear his side of the case. The fullest consideration will be given to him."

Bishop Burch said that he had called for the report from the vestry several days ago, and that he understood that they were to complete their report sometime yesterday. Four grounds for trial of a minister are recognized in the Episcopal Church, Bishop Burch said. They are: First, conduct unbecoming a clergyman; second, immorality; third, preaching doctrines contrary to the doctrine of the church; fourth, abandoning the ministry.

In reply to a question, Bishop Burch said that he would have power to remove any clergyman convicted on charges before a commission. He said: "If it is necessary, I shall certainly use it."

The possible settlement referred to by Bishop Burch, it was understood, would

BAR ASSOCIATION UPHOLDS SOCIALISTS

Citizens Union and City Club Adopt Resolutions Denouncing Sweet's Action.

Jubilant over countless offers of sympathy and aid from societies and individuals, representative of many activities—notable among them the Bar Association, the Citizens Union, and the City Club—Socialists here are awaiting the arrival today of Morris Hillquit, before deciding finally details of the legal fight tomorrow night in Albany in defense of the five Socialist Assemblymen suspended at the opening session of the Legislature.

Samuel Seabury probably will be associated with Mr. Hillquit as counsel. Socialist leaders admitted yesterday, and two or three other lawyers may appear with them. The question of Charles E. Hughes's participation in the proceedings will be decided today, Jacob Hillquit said yesterday. In addition, a special committee of the Bar Association probably will appear "to take such action as may in their judgment be necessary to safeguard and protect the principles of representative government."

A member of the legal committee of the Socialist Committee of Eight said last night that he did not understand the Bar Association's offer would conflict with the party's plan to carry on its own fight, but that the special committee would really represent the public at the hearing before the Assembly Judiciary Committee tomorrow night. The formation of the committee was suggested yesterday in resolutions made public by Herbert Parsons, which will be voted on tonight at the annual meeting of the Bar Association.

The resolutions were suggested by C. G. Burlingham and were sent yesterday, with the signatures, to all members of the association.

Defense to Be Constitutional.

Morris Hillquit, in spite of his severe illness, will take charge of the defense of the five suspended Socialists. This defense, it was learned yesterday, will be entirely on constitutional grounds. The Socialist leaders are not disposed to heed the suggestions of some of their members to make the hearing a defense of socialism.

The Socialist chiefs feel that their position is strengthened by the fact that they appear as "defenders of the Constitution." Their first step before the Judiciary Committee will be to demand that the rights of the five members be restored to them regardless of the charges against them. The Assembly, they will contend, is the judge of the qualifications of its own members only in so far as the election laws affect those qualifications. Thus, if a member is not 21 years of age, as required, they might refuse to seat him. A member cannot be deprived of his seat, they will argue, until charges against him have been proved.

The second step in the proceeding, which constitutional lawyers said here yesterday would probably be prolonged,

CITY REPUBLICANS AID THEM

TRIAL MAY BEGIN TOMORROW

New Judiciary Committee Has Only One Member Who Opposed Suspending.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 12.—By a vote of 33 to 71, the Assembly tonight refused to adopt a motion of Assemblyman Denenes to reconsider last week's action in suspending five Socialist members from New York City on the ground that their party affiliations brought into doubt their loyalty to the Government and rendered them unfit to sit in the Legislature.

All the up-State Republicans and three Democrats voted against the motion of the Democratic leader.

All the New York City Democrats who were recorded, with the exception of Cuvillier, voted to reconsider the vote by which the Socialists were suspended, and eleven New York City Republicans voted with them.

Easton,

With this action in the Assembly tonight the last obstacle is thought to have been removed for the trial of the suspended Socialist members, as contemplated by the resolution adopted on the opening day.

Whether the trial will be before the Judiciary Committee or before the Assembly, sitting as a Committee of the Whole, is a question that remains in abeyance. Under the rules of the Assembly all hearings to determine the fitness or qualifications of members should come before the Judiciary Committee. But resolutions were offered tonight by two members providing for trial before the Assembly, with the Speaker presiding.

These resolutions were offered by Assemblyman Peter J. Hamill of Manhattan and Joseph V. McKee of the Bronx District. The Hamill resolution provided power for the speaker to appoint every member of the Assembly, including himself, a member of the Judiciary Committee for the period of the trial. The McKee resolution provided for an amendment of the rules with the same effect. Both resolutions were declared out of order by Speaker Sweet.

Assemblyman Steiberg of New York, Republican, had a resolution providing for reinstatement of the Socialists pending trial, but Speaker Sweet would not recognize him and hence the minority leader, Donohue, got the floor first, immediately after committee assignments had been read from the clerk's desk and new business became the order of procedure.

Mr. Donohue offered a resolution, providing for the seating of the five suspended Socialists with full powers pending the hearing before the Judiciary Committee of the Assembly.

"That resolution is out of order," said the Speaker. "The proper way to go about it is to make a motion to reconsider the vote upon which the resolution suspending them was adopted on Wednesday last. I will entertain such a motion."

Mr. Donohue, acting on the Speaker's suggestion, then made his motion.

"I hold no brief for the Socialist Party," said the minority leader, "and I condemn most severely the doctrines they enunciate and the propaganda they are conducting, especially in New York City. I know that this is a situation which calls for heroic treatment. But an impression has gone out, about the State and about the nation, that these men whom we have indicted have been condemned before they were given a hearing, with all that involves. In the interest of justice, and in the interest of representative Government and of American institutions, I think that the manly thing for us to do, if we have acted hastily, is to confess our error and do what we can to make up for it."

The motion was not debatable and roll call followed immediately. When the vote, sustaining Speaker Sweet, was announced, there was some applause.

Assemblyman Steinberg then offered a resolution "directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire whether any member of the Assembly, aside from the Speaker and Simon L. Adler, Majority Leader, had any information Wednesday of the action against the Socialist members, prior to introduction of the resolution suspending them pending trial. This was brought to a vote at once and defeated 90 to 70.

The uneasiness of the Republican members from New York City which was reflected in the vote on the Donohue motion, came to the surface again later in the session when Assemblyman Simpson rose to a question of personal privilege.

"I have voted two ways on the question of suspending the Socialists," said Mr. Simpson. "Last Wednesday when the resolution to suspend them was first presented you ruled that it was not debatable. There was nothing for me to do then but to vote as I did. The question was raised on a point of order and you ruled there could be no debate.

"Tonight was brought before us a resolution to undo what we did on Wednesday. There has been considerable criticism.

At this point, Adler, the majority leader, rose to say that he did not think it was a good plan to reopen the question, but that he personally would not object, unless other members besides Mr. Simpson, who had changed their votes, should rise to make explanations.

The general belief of the capital tonight is that the trial of the five Socialists will begin on Wednesday unless postponed at their request or the request of counsel.

In his appointments Speaker Sweet continued Assemblyman Martin of Oneida, Vice Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, as Chairman of the Assembly Judiciary Committee. The other members of the committee, as announced tonight, are George H. Rowe of Erie, James M. Lown of Yates, Edmund B. Jenks of Broome, Edward A. Everett of St. Lawrence, William W. Pellett of New York, Edward J. Wilson of Westchester, Charles M. Harrington of Clinton, Harold E. Blodgett of Schenectady, and Theodore Stitt of Kings, Republicans, and Louis M. Cuvillier of New York, Maurice Bloch of New York and William S. Evans of the Bronx, Democrats. All the members are lawyers, and all except Evans voted to suspend the five Socialists.

Chairman Martin stated that he would call a meeting of the committee for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when organization will be effected. Mr. Martin said, that subject to approval by the other members, he would notify the five Socialists that the stage had been set and that the committee was prepared to give them a hearing.

Mr. Simpson prepared to resume but was interrupted by Assemblyman Cuvillier, who objected. Assemblyman Rose Cue, another Tammany Democrat, rising to a point of order, said he understood that personal privilege carried with it plenty of latitude, and that he thought Mr. Simpson should be permitted to go on. Cuvillier, however, renewed his objection.

"I'm not particularly desirous of explaining my vote," said Mr. Simpson, "but there has been sharp criticism among my constituents, and I hold that I have the right to set myself right before the people of the State, and do it on the floor of this Assembly."

"You are exceeding your rights under personal privilege," said Speaker Sweet. Then Simpson sat down.

In the Senate there was an echo of the action against the Socialists when Senator Miller of the Seventeenth District offered a resolution urging the Assembly to reconsider its vote and reinstate the Socialist members pending investigation by the Judiciary Committee. President Pro Tem. Walters had consented to withhold a motion to adjourn while the resolution was offered, but when he heard what it was he pressed his motion and deprived Senator Miller of his chance to present it.

DECLARES PARLOR REDS MOST DANGEROUS TYPE

BOSTON, Jan. 12.—Judge George W. Anderson, of the United States District Court, a resident of Boston, told the Harvard Liberal Club tonight that in his opinion "more than 90 per cent. of the pro-German plots never existed" and that he doubted "whether the Red menace has more basis in fact than the pro-German peril."

"There are Reds, probably dangerous Reds," said Judge Anderson. "But they are not half as dangerous as the prating pseuds-patriots who, under the guise of Americanism, are preaching murder and shooting at sunrise, and to whom our church pariors and other public forums have hitherto been open.

"Many, many of the agitators for the suppression of the so-called Red menace are, I observe, the same individuals or class of forces that in 1917 and 1918 were frightening the community to death about pro-German plots. As United States District Attorney I was charged with a large responsibility as to protecting the community from pro-German plots. I assert as my best judgment that more than 90 per cent. of the pro-German plots never existed.

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States Supreme Court, in a letter sent to the meeting, wrote:

"I see no impropriety in suggesting that with effervescing opinions, as with the not yet forgotten champagne, the quickest way to let them get flat is to let them be exposed to the air."

Judge Julian W. Mack of Chicago asserted that the action of the New York Legislature in refusing to seat the five Socialists "opened the eyes of the American people to the dangers to all of us of the state of mind into which we are drifting and wabbling."

REPORT GRAHAM BILL FIXING DEATH FOR REDS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Representative George S. Graham of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, today favorably reported to the House his bill to define sedition more comprehensively and to curb the Red movements in the country. The measure was slightly amended in the Judiciary Committee, but it still carries a death penalty where murder is the result of the unlawful force and violence in an attempt to overthrow the Government.

In his report Mr. Graham says that the bill embodied all the ideas contained in half a dozen measures introduced in the House. Continuing the report says:

"The attack upon the high official of the United States for doing his duty fearlessly; the shooting down on the highway of some of our brave soldiers for their avowed adherence to law and order and the preservation of our Government, Constitution and laws and numerous other instances of outrage by force and violence aimed at the existence of our institutions by aliens and others, including some of our own citizens, convince us all that legislation is needed, and that right speedily."

Hardwick to Aid Martens.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Thomas W. Hardwick, former Senator from Georgia, will act as counsel for Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, the "Soviet Ambassador," when he appears before the sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, Wednesday. Other counsel may be selected later. This afternoon, former Senator Hardwick held a long conference with Martens and mapped out testimony.

BAR ASSOCIATION UPHOLDS SOCIALISTS

would be the hearing of the charges themselves. The Socialists will contest the "indictment" of the party, as distinguished from specific charges against the members individually.

An attempt to inject into the proceedings all sorts of matters not relating directly to the constitutional questions involved might be made by Speaker Sweet or the Attorney General, he was suggested yesterday. One Socialist leader expressed fear that the State officials would try to cloud the real issue by introducing evidence about the Lusk investigation and the Socialist Party. The Socialists' lawyers will be ready to meet this evidence, if it is introduced, it was said.

A Matter of Law.

In their negotiations with constitutional lawyers outside of their own party, the Socialists have met with an insistence that the defense be confined to the legal points involved. Jacob Hilliquit, a member of the legal committee, said that the Assemblymen were willing to leave to their counsel's discretion the entire question of the kind of evidence to be introduced and that he was certain that the primary point would be constitutionality.

Samuel Seabury would not discuss yesterday reports that he had been engaged as counsel. Jacob Hilliquit, however, said that it was generally understood that ex-Judge Seabury would represent them. By virtue of his experience as a Justice of the Supreme Court in this city and later as a Judge of the Court of Appeals and of his prestige as a member of another political party and its former candidate for Governor, the Socialist chiefs regarded ex-Judge Seabury from the first as a good choice for their counsel. They got into touch with him last week, it was learned yesterday.

The Citizens Union joined yesterday in the protest against the suspension of the five Socialists. At a meeting of the Executive Committee these resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, On Jan. 8, 1920, the Assembly of the State of New York, without notice or debate, adopted a resolution suspending five Assemblymen, duly elected from the City of New York; and,

Whereas, Said action tends to substitute the autocracy of mob rule for the orderly processes of representative government. Now be it

Resolved, That the Citizens Union urges the Assembly to reconsider immediately its action and reinstate the suspended members pending the consideration by the Assembly of the charges against them; and be it further

Resolved, That, conceding the right of the Assembly to pass on the qualifications of its own members, the Citizens Union declares the action of the Speaker of the Assembly in rushing the resolution of suspension through the Assembly without debate or deliberation; and the Citizens Union further deplores the suspension of the five members without hearing or the opportunity to present their defense; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this preamble and these resolutions be sent immediately to every Assemblyman from the City of New York and to the public press.

Action by the City Club.

The Board of Trustees of the City Club of New York at a meeting last night issued the following statement:

All thoughtful citizens who value our traditions of free representative government should condemn the precipitate action taken by the New York State Assembly in summarily suspending five duly elected members on the ground of their adherence to a particular political party.

The suspension of these men was not accompanied by any charge that they had either committed or advocated any crime or act of violence against the Government. If any one has such a charge to make it should be presented not only to the Assembly, but to the appropriate Grand Jury.

"At the very basis of our Government is the principle that governmental changes, however sweeping, may be advocated by lawful and constitutional means. The election by ballot of members of the legislative bodies who stand for various political theories is a lawful exercise of this American right.

"The City of New York is entitled to its full quota of representatives in the Legislature and those of its citizens who have elected these members are entitled to be represented by them. The fundamental principle of representative government is assailed by this action of the Legislature. Our Constitution provides that "no member of this State shall be disfranchised or deprived of any of the rights or privileges secured to any citizen thereof unless by the law of the land or the judgment of his peers." A spirit of this provision would manifestly be infringed by the expulsion of any representative upon the ground that he is a member of a political party.

"This country need have no fear of violence to its institutions coming out of the majority rule of the ballot box. Surely no encouragement should be given to extreme radicals for argument that the door for lawful and constitutional changes is closed.

"This arbitrary action can be regarded as nothing less than an assault upon representative government in this city and State and upon the peace and social welfare of this community."

This statement was telegraphed last night to the leaders of the Assembly.

Women Enter Protest.

At a meeting of the Woman's City Club, held yesterday at its headquarters, 22 Park Avenue, resolutions denouncing the Assembly's action were unanimously adopted. In the absence of Miss Mary Garrett Hay, the President, the Vice President, Miss Virginia Potter, presided. The resolution was as follows:

Whereas, The Woman's City Club believes that the course pursued by the State Assembly with regard to the duly elected members of the Socialist Party against whom no charges of personal unfitness have been proven is subversive of the fundamental rights of the political minorities openly exercised and contrary to the established privileges of representative government; be it

Resolved, That the Woman's City Club protests against the action of the New York Assembly in summarily suspending five Socialist members.

MEETING RAISES $27,000.

Labor, Civic, and Social Organizations Protest Assembly's Action.

Pledges of funds amounting to approximately $27,000 were made at a conference of representatives of various labor, civic and social organizations at the People's House, East Fifteenth Street, last night under the auspices of the Socialist Party, to be used as a defense fund in the fight to restore the five Assemblymen excluded last Wednesday.

In addition to the money pledged last night several thousand dollars had been collected at meetings of the Socialist Party. At a mass meeting in the Bronx on Sunday $1,248 was collected for the fund, and $943 was turned over to the Socialist headquarters by M. I. Strusky and M. S. Bearman, which was collected at meetings in Brooklyn. It was reported at the Socialist headquarters that letters containing checks and cash continue to be received as well as personal contributions to the fund.

Resolutions were adopted at the meeting last night denouncing the ejection of the Assemblymen and a committee of seventeen was appointed to co-operate with the original Socialist Committee of Eight to aid in the fight to reinstate the Assemblymen. A demand was made for a mass meeting in Madison Square Garden at the earliest possible date to voice the resentment of the public.

The meeting issued a statement which said:

"We, representatives of the organizations named below, in conference assembled on Jan. 12, 1920, do emphatically protest against the arbitrary and unprecedented act of the State Assembly at Albany in summarily suspending from office five duly elected and qualified Assemblymen on the ground of their membership in the regular organization of the political party by which they were nominated and on whose ticket they were elected.

"In this action of the State Assembly we see a most dangerous assault upon the fundamental principles of representative government, which, if not speedily reversed, will tend to bring law and constitutional rights into contempt and to promote lawlessness and usurpation among the various elements of society. Regardless of political opinion, it is our duty as citizens to unite in condemning the wrong which has been perpetrated upon them; and we urge all citizens to unite with us in maintaining the right of all parties to bring their ideas before the people through the channels of political action, and the right of voters in every district to be represented by the person whom they have chosen at the ballot box."

NEW FEDERAL RAID NETS DOZEN AS REDS

The Department of Justice last night resumed the local quest for radicals, Chief William J. Flynn sending a strong squad out to execute 150 of the original 3,000 deportation warrants remaining unserved. The plan was to avoid Communist headquarters, seek the men at their homes, and take them to the department's headquarters for questioning.

Up to midnight the searching parties had obtained about a dozen prisoners. Among them was John Darkine of 516 East Eightieth Street, described by the agents as a Secretary of one of the Communist Party's New York locals. He was arrested at his home and the agents said that a search failed to produce any "red" literature. It was said he would be sent with the others to Ellis Island today.

Thirty-five Reds from Detroit arrived at Ellis Island, making 564 the total now held there, including twenty-four men who were arrested in the New York district in the November and 505 taken in the last month's roundup. Thirty-two women are being detained. Byron H. Uhl, Acting Commissioner of Immigration, said that sixty cases had been disposed of so far.

The Detroit detachment was composed exclusively of men who had been scheduled for deportation on the transport Buford, now undergoing repairs at Kiel, Germany, but were unable to get here in time. They await only a ship to leave these shores.

A report gained currency that the Government had chosen as the second "Soviet Ark," the army transport Edeilyn, now docked at South Brooklyn. Commissioner Uhl and the Department of Justice denied knowing of any plans to use the Edeilyn.

The bail of $5,000 each in which Peter Bianki, Naum Stepanuk, Michael Kravchuk, Arthur Ketzes and Ethel Bernstein were held on indictments charging criminal anarchy was discharged by Supreme Court Justice Bartow S. Weeks. These five were among those deported on the Buford.

Miss Rose Weiss, attorney, of 47 West Forty-second Street, went again to Ellis Island, taking along $62,000 in cash and Liberty bonds to effect the release of sixty-two radicals. She was informed that the preliminary hearings had not been completed and that bail could not be accepted.

Federal Judge John C. Knox will render a decision this afternoon in the habeas corpus proceedings of Gregory Weinstein, imprisoned counsellor of the Soviet Bureau, 110 West Fortieth Street. If Judge Knox rules Weinstein admissable to $10,000 bail, a rush to free the remainder of the radicals will start at once. If the decision is adverse, deportation proceedings will be jogged.

Charles Recht, attorney for Dr. Michael Mialig, before Supreme Court Justice Edward R. Finch, moved to vacate the order of arrest for Dr. Mialig, signed by Supreme Court Justice Vernon M. Davis, for refusing to answer questions of the Lusk Committee. Recht argued that the Lusk Committee went automatically out of existence on Jan. 1. Justice Finch reserved decision.

On a charge of disorderly conduct in having made alleged seditious remarks reflecting on those who fought for the United States, Albert Barbell of 72 Boerum Place, Brooklyn, was held in $500 for a hearing tomorrow in the Bridge Plaza Court. The complainant was Abraham Goldberg, 870 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn.

GET MORE SUBWAY TRAINS.

Washington Heights Citizens Win Promise of Better Service.

The complaints of the Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association of lack of adequate service in the west side subway won yesterday from George Keegan, assistant to Frank Hedley, President of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, at a hearing before the Public Service Commission, a promise that during the evening rush period three more trains would be added to the local service and that the rush-hour periods of the express service, both in the mornings and evenings, would be extended one hour.

Asked if the company would restore the express service on the third track from Ninety-sixth to 157th Street, Mr. Keegan replied that it would not. This track is used for the storage of cars, and Mr. Keegan explained that reserve cars must always be kept within easy reach in case of emergency.

The association submitted suggestions for improving the service by increasing the length of trains, reducing express service by retursning more Broadway expresses from Dyckman Street instead of sending them through to Van Cortlandt Park, lengthening the platforms, &c. It was stated that express trains could be operated on a headway of one minute and forty-five seconds instead of two minutes, the maximum at present.

be something from the Rev. Dr. Grant in the nature of a disavowal of some of the extreme utterances attributed to him, or a satisfactory explanation of his views. Most of the recent protest against the minister has been based upon his address of Dec. 21 of last year, in which he is said to have drawn a comparison between the forefathers of this country and their voyage on the Mayflower with the expulsion of the Russian anarchists from this country on the Soviet Ark Buford. Dr. Grant, who in past controversies, has steadily adhered to the policy of ignoring his critics, refused to be interviewed or to make any statement yesterday. At his home it was said that he was still suffering from a severe cold.

It was learned that before the action of the vestry had been made known, two clergymen had drafted formal charges against the Rev. Mr. Grant. It requires the signatures of three presbyters to charges of this nature, in order to constrain the Bishop to order a trial, and the two original signers expected to obtain the signature of a third yesterday. This move, however, was dropped from consideration for the present, after it became known that Bishop Burch had taken the initiative and was calling on the vestrymen of the Church of the Ascension for a report of their findings.

The Rev. Dr. George R. Vas de Water, rector of the Church of St. Andrews, who was seen yesterday at a meeting attended by Bishop Burch, said that he did not wish to express an opinion until he had positive knowledge of what Dr. Grant had said the things imputed to him.

"There is no more comparison," he said, "between the Buford and the Mayflower, than there is between the righteous and unrighteous members of a community. He should have a full opportunity to defend himself. If he is found guilty, in my opinion, he should simply receive a warning to cease from such utterances. I do not think any more drastic action should be taken for anything which I have seen imputed to him.

"Dr. Grant formerly had a parish in Fall River, and there he was in close contact with the laboring classes. His experiences at that time, I believe, gave him strong sympathies for all who are oppressed, and developed in him those liberal ideas which have marked his course in the pulpit."

Another Episcopal clergyman at the same meeting said that in his opinion Dr. Grant should be compelled to retract his comparisons between the Pilgrim Fathers and the Russian passengers on the Buford, if it were established that he had definitely made such a comparison. Burton H. White, Treasurer of the Church of the Ascension, said that the proceedings of the vestrymen had been taken in entire friendliness for the rector.

"Our action followed a large volume of complaint against Dr. Grant, which was sent to us and to the Bishop," he said. "We believed this criticism to be based very largely on a misunderstanding of Dr. Grant's utterances and his general course. It was very unpleasant to have such a popular impression about the Church of the Ascension. Our purpose in the conference with the rector was to find some means of effacing this impression and preventing future misconceptions, as we generally regarded them, of his teachings.

"We have not yet found any solution for the problem. It has not even been suggested that Dr. Grant should issue a statement, explaining what his real views were and repudiating mistaken interpretations of them, although this plan may be suggested later.

"I think all of the vestrymen are close personal friends of Dr. Grant. Practically all of us were accepted for office through him. While the congregation nominally elects vestrymen, the practice has always been to ratify the choice of Dr. Grant after it has become known. The most recent new member to the vestry for instance, was Harold A. Content, who was elected by the vestry itself to fill a vacancy, after nomination by Dr. Grant.

"The rector's views, however, are frequently very radically opposed to those of the vestry. I suppose we like him better than any rector. We have become accustomed to complaints and criticisms addressed to us against Dr. Grant. This is due to the fact that he is a big man, with broad sympathies and bold views on many questions, which he is courageous in uttering."

While the National Civic Federation attacked the Rev. Mr. Grant in 1918 for his part in an appeal for $50,000 for the defense of the I. W. W. leaders, charged with sedition, and his economic and radical views have been the object of most criticisms outside of the church, the greatest opposition to him inside the church has been to his preaching in favor of a relaxation of the divorce laws.

Church publications and his colleagues in the pulpit have frequently taken him to task on this score. Dr. W. T. Manning in asserting that his doctrine amounted to "free love."

Harold A. Content, the newly elected vestryman, formerly an Assistant United States District Attorney, who defended the rector on Sunday night, said yesterday:

"I think the whole case is one of making a mountain out of a mole hill. I understand that the vestry was moved to its action by complaints from the outside. Personally I am a warm friend of Dr. Grant, as I think all of us are."

GEN. WOOD RIDICULES STORY OF RESIGNATION

Denies Report in Washington and Tells Baltimore Group There Are Precedents for Stand.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Major Gen. Leonard Wood declared here today that the published statement that he contemplated resigning immediately from the army in order to make an active campaign for the nomination was "neither authorized nor accurate," and that the story was "bunk" and "tommyrot."

General Wood declined to make any further comment except that he had "never heard of it before," when his attention was invited to a story printed in a Washington newspaper this morning to the effect that he would soon resign his commission in the army to "enter more completely into his campaign for the Presidency."

General Wood came to Washington, under orders from the War Department to participate in the conferences between staff officers of the War Department and the various departmental and division commander of the regular army. The conferences opened at the War Department today.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 12.—General Leonard Wood will not resign from the army, if such a step is necessary to be a candidate for President. So he told his host and old friend, Norman James, and gentlemen from Washington and Baltimore invited to meet the General at a private dinner tonight at Mr. James's country home near Baltimore. The General was accompanied by his son, Lieutenant Osborne Wood. At the informal talk after the dinner the General said:

"By profession I am a physician and surgeon. My military career is an afterthought.

"The greatest duty which a man can perform for his fellow man is to live to establish sanitary safeguards against the encroachment of disease. In my military life I have never lost sight of my devotion to my original profession.

"My keenest interest today lies in the noble profession of physician and surgeon, the saving of human lives. However, find myself in the army and to the advancement of the army I shall devote my life and energy.

"I shall not resign from the army if such a step is necessary to be a candidate for President of the United States. Precedents are abundant that my connection with the army does not interfere with any Presidential ambition which my friends are wishing upon me.

"As an officer of the army, I recognize President Wilson as my commander-in-chief, and to him I owe my allegiance."

DR. COPELAND ORDERS A STUDY OF MEASLES

Health Department Alarmed by Unusual Prevalence of the Disease.

Because of the increase in the number of cases of measels in this city Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, sent a letter yesterday to Dr. William H. Park, Director of the Bureau of Laboratories, asking that a serious study of the disease be undertaken at once. Dr. Copeland said the unusual feature was that the appearance of the disease at this time was unexpected, as it is generally at its maximum in May.

In the last ten days 2,221 cases of measels have been reported in the city. "If I am correctly informed no progress has been made in our knowledge of measels for the last thirty-five years," Dr. Copeland wrote Dr. Park. "I hate to think that the child of the present period has no more chance than I had as a boy. Is it not a time for the laboratory of the Health Department to begin a serious study of this particular communicable disease? At the present time we have reported to us 200 to 300 cases a day. Have you any suggestions to make from a bachteriological standpoint regarding the control or management of this disease?

"Please report the feasibility of a careful study of measels with a view of learning the identity of the cause of this disease."

The department's statistics show that in 1916 21,603 cases of measles and 490 deaths were reported. In 1917 there were 27,419 cases and 516 deaths. In 1918, 26,676 cases and 790 deaths, and in 1919 8,194 cases and 218 deaths.

Asks Pension Commissioner to Stay.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Wilson has requested Gayford M. Saltzgaber, Commissioner of Pensions in the Interior Department, to reconsider his resignation. In a letter to Secretary Lane the President said Mr. Saltzberger was a most efficient official and that his services could not well be dispensed with at this time.

TWO CHAIRMANSHIPS FOR NEW YORK CITY

Speaker Sweet Gives Most of the Appointments to Assemblymen from Up State.

FAVORS COUNTRY DISTRICTS

On Ways and Means New York, Which Contributes 70% of State's Revenues, Gets Only Two Places.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Aside from the makeup of the Judiciary Committee, which this year monopolized interest because the trial of the five suspended Socialist members will be had before that body, the notable feature of the committee assignments, made public by Speaker Sweet tonight, was the treatment accorded New York City's lawmakers.

The strong Republican trend manifested in the Assembly elections in New York City last November and the fact that a larger proportion of the Republican majority represents New York City districts this year than at at any other time in the history of the New York Legislature apparently have failed to make an impression on the Speaker. There are thirty-two standing committees in the Assembly. Only two committee Chairmen come from New York City districts, both from Brooklyn. Buffalo has three. Generally speaking, the cities have been discriminated against. Nineteen chairmanships have been awarded to rural districts.

Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who represents the Second Assembly District in Nassau, did not fare better than most first year men. He did not get a place on any committee regarded as very important, but undoubtedly is well pleased with having been assigned to the Committee on Labor and Industries, which will prepare the so-called "social welfare" legislation affecting women in industrial employments, in which Lieut. Col. Roosevelt has manifested a decided interest since his election.

The two committee chairmanships that came to New York City members were those of the Committee on Commerce and Navigation, which was given to James H. Caulfield, Jr., representing the Fifth Assembly District in Brooklyn, and of the Committee on Military Affairs, bestowed on Colonel Frederick A. Wells, representing the Seventeenth Assembly District in Brooklyn.

Although New York City contributes roughly speaking 70 per cent. of the State revenues only two out of fifteen places on the Committee on Ways and Means, which in the Assembly is the all important factor in determining how the State's money shall be spent, were given to New York City members. Peter J. Hamm, who represents "Battery Hill" or Finn's old district and is a Tammany man, and Peter A. Leininger, who represents the Long Island City district in Queens, drew these places. On the Committee on Taxation and Retrenchment, out of thirteen places New York City members drew four, equally divided between the parties.

Speaker Sweet has followed the wellnigh universal practice of the Republicans when in control of the Assembly and bestowed the Chairmanship of the Cities Committee on an up-State Republican, George R. Fearon of Syracuse, who filled that post at last year's session and is regarded as an able legislator. On this committee six places out of thirteen have been awarded to New York City members, which is a very fair proportion.

Here is the proportion of representation given the city on other important committees out of a total membership of thirteen: Judiciary, 5; General Laws, 9; Codes, 7; Railroad, 7; Electricity, Gas and Water, 6; Insurance, 6; Banks, 4; Public Education, 5; Public Health, 6; Canals, 3; Excise, 3; Labor and Industries, 3; Conservation, 0; Commerce and Navigation, 6; Military Affairs, 3; Social Welfare, 7. On the important Committee on Rules, which during the final weeks of the session has sole control of all bills in the Assembly and virtually is the arbiter of legislation pending in both Houses, New York City members were given two places, one of which went to Edward D. Jeffers, minority leader, and the other Frank J. Taylor, a Democrat, who represents the Second Assembly District in Brooklyn.

BIGGS AND PILCHER CONFIRMED

Smith Sends Nominations to Senate —Recess Changes Held Over.

ALBANY, Jan. 12.—The renominations of Dr. Herman M. Biggs as State Health Commissioner and Lewis F. Pilcher as State Architect, submitted to the Senate by Governor Smith tonight, were confirmed immediately.

Several recess appointments were sent to the Senate for confirmation and were referred to the Finance Committee. These included:

BLAME LABOR FOR PRICES.

Pennsylvania Manufacturers See Lack of Production Responsible.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—The present inefficiency of labor is responsible for the high cost of living, according to a resolution adopted today at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association. The resolution reads:

"The cost of living cause by the war shows no signs of abating, and it is our unanimous opinion that the present inefficiency of labor, which has reduced production to less than 50 per cent. of the normal, is the primary cause of high prices, and that relief will be obtained only by increased production."

FEAR SOVIET ARMY WILL UNITE WITH TURKS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Concern is felt in allied diplomatic circles here, especially in British quarters as well as among American officers, over the reported capture by Bolshevist military forces of Krasnovodsk on the eastern shore of the Caspian Sea and the threat of invasion of Northern Persia by the Reds.

The British forces in that region are not considered sufficiently strong to offer effective resistance against an advance by the Reds toward the Persian capital, while Persian troops are not of superior enough grade to be utilized as a dependable force.

It has been the aim of the British Government to prevent direct communication between Persia and both Russia and Turkey, in order to minimize the possibilities of Bolshevist aggression on one hand and Turkish intrigue on the other with the more fanatical elements of the Persian Mohammedans, while at the same time keeping the Turks and Bolsheviki apart in an effort to prevent intrigues by them in conjunction against British interests in Persia and Mesopotamia.

The reverses sustained by General Denikin's army in Southern Russia, amounting to a virtual crumbling of his organized resistance against the advance of the Reds, which have been reported in the vicinity of the Sea of Azov, and the incursion of the Bolsheviki in the trans-Caspian region to Krasnovodsk if fully confirmed would amount to a breaking down of British efforts to isolate Persia from direct communication with Russia. Bolshevist elements, and an advance by the Bolshevist military forces into Northern Persia might in the absence of an effective barrier to the west facilitate a juncture of the Red forces with the Turks.

AMERICANISM REBORN, RABBI TELLS POLICE

Dr. Silverman, at Sergeants' Dinner, Denounces Clergyman Who Criticises Sending Soviet Ark.

Radicalism and Americanism were discussed by prominent speakers last night at the dinner of the Order of the Chevron, the police sergeants' benevolent association, at the Hotel Commodore. Rabbi Joseph Silverman of Temple Emanu-El said that Americanism was born anew in the days of the Pilgrim Fathers and again in 1776 in the American Revolution.

"And Americanism was reborn again this year when we sent the 'Soviet Ark' across the ocean and proclaimed that law and order shall live in our land," he continued amid loud applause from the twelve hundred guests. "When a man of the cloth rises in the pulpit and compares the sending of the 'Ark' and its cargo to that of passengers to the coming of the Mayflower, he deserves the condemnation of every righteous citizen. The sending of the 'Ark' was in reality a re-enactment of the principles for which the Mayflower stood."

Rabbi Silverman said he honored the police for refusing to let the red flag march up Fifth Avenue a few weeks ago. Terming the parlor radicals who were preaching that there was something wrong with America, as pussyfoot reformers, the speaker said that while they were not dangerous they gave encouragement to others who were not as intellectual as themselves.

Bishop Charles Summer Burch, another speaker, declared Americans were not willing to tolerate Bolshevism or other forms of extreme radicalism which uttered doctrines subversive to law and order. He added:

"As one who has been declared in some of the newspapers as lacking in alertness in affairs which concerned loyalty to the Government, let me say that there is no one here who holds in any higher esteem loyalty to our Government than I."

Joe R. Hedges discussed the suspension of the five Socialists by the Assembly and asked why the citizenry of the State did not seemingly possess the mentality or the morality to suspend judgment until the cases were tried on their merits. He asserted the Socialist Assemblymen were not being tried for disloyalty in the Socialist Party, but as individual members of the party who had taken an oath to do something contrary to American principles.

Mayor Hylan spoke in praise of Commissioner Enright's administration and told how glad he was the police got their pay increase. T. H. La Guardia, president of the Board of Aldermen, declared the members of the police force were entitled to a still greater increase and he would vote for them to get it if he had an opportunity. Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo, Commissioner Enright and Borough President Edward Riegelman also spoke. Joseph Courtney, president of the Association, was toastmaster.

QUAKE ENGULFS HOME; MEXICANS LOWER FOOD

Professor's Family Lives a Week in Chasm 140 Feet Deep—New Eruption Subsides.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12.—Reports from the San Miguel district indicate the eruption of the new crater which opened there as a result of the earthquake on the night of Jan. 3 is decreasing in violence.

Unique in the annals of the disaster is the experience of the family of Professor Francisco Riveras of Barranca Nueva. The earthquake opened a great chasm in the earth in which their home was engulfed. For more than a week members of the family have been living in the bottom of this abyss at least 140 feet below the surface of the earth. Neighbors have been lowering them food and water at the imminent risk of dislodging rocks which might fall and crush those beneath. Belief is expressed that rain or new shocks would mean the death of those imprisoned in the gulf.

A telegram received from the Mayor of Chalchicomula, State of Puebla, says that shocks have been numerous there since the first earthquake and that he has received information that the towns of Saltillo, Lafragua and Chichotla, near by, have been entirely destroyed.

FOR 'STATE OF MANHATTAN.'

Two Bills Offered to Make City the Centre of New State.

ALBANY, Jan. 12.—The State of Manhattan, composed of the counties of Suffolk, Nassau, Queens, Kings, Richmond, New York, Bronx and Westchester, would be sanctioned by the Legislature under the provision of a bill introduced tonight by Assemblyman Cuvillier of New York.

As Assemblyman Leininger of Queens also introduced a bill designed to create a State of Greater New York. His scheme includes all the counties in the proposed State of Manhattan, and also the counties of Putnam, Dutchess, Rockland, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan.

Miss Marguerite L. Smith, Republican, introduced a bill to empower the Victory Hall Association to acquire by condemnation proceedings, if necessary, the property bounded by Forty-first and Forty-second Streets and Park and Lexington Avenues, for the erection of a memorial and civic hall and auditorium.

Assemblyman Bloch, of New York, introduced a bill designed to establish a bureau of milk regulation in the State department of Farms and Markets.

A resolution by the minority leader Donohue, memorializing New York Congressman to urge the appropriation of $1,400,000 for the Federal acquisition of the New York quarantine station, was adopted by the Assembly tonight.

A resolution will be introduced at the annual meeting in the Merchants Association rooms, Woolworth Building, today, calling on schools, women's clubs and patriotic organizations to advance the movement of the American Forestry Association to make Oct. 27, the day on which Theodore Roosevelt died, a national day for emphasizing the need of forest conservation in this country, that "we have been indifferent to the

STARVING EUROPE SENDS FOOD HERE

OUR DEALERS DISAPPOINTED

Crammed Storage Warehouses with Food to Send Out, but Find Our Prices Won't Do Over There.

The explanation of the decrease of four or five cents a pound in butter in New York last week was found yesterday in the statement of the arrival last week of 144,480 pounds of butter from Denmark. It was said that another shipment of equal amount would arrive within the next few days. While the actual amount of the shipments is not sufficient to influence the market, the dealers say, the significance lies in the fact that butter coming to our shores from Europe shatters the hopes of the dealers who have placed in cold storage enormous quantities of the commodity to be exported to Europe.

Likewise it has demonstrated to the exporters in eggs that there is not to be any great European demand for the eggs they have in storage. According the Herschell Jones, of the State Bureau of Farms and Markets, on Dec. 1 last, there were in cold storage in this State 41,816,516 pounds of butter, as compared with 12,187,247 a year ago. The reason for the excess was said to be that the dealers had not been able to find the expected market abroad for the butter.

The butter is paid for here in American money and the high prices received for it by Danish manufacturers because of the difference in exchange rates, which are said to average 20 per cent. in their favor, is believed to be responsible for the shipments to the local market. There is a heavy demand for butter and other fats in Central Europe, but the higher prices obtainable in the American market account for the heavy exports to this country.

The same is true of eggs. On Dec. 1 there were in cold storage in this State 20,303,720 dozen eggs, as compared with 11,089,880 dozen a year previous. The result is that storage eggs are selling very low.

Relative to the sugar situation, Earl D. Babst, President of the American Sugar Refining Company, yesterday issued the following statement:

"Five of our six refineries are closed. Cargoes of new raw crop sugars are arriving, and we will gradually resume our normal refining operations on the reliance that it is the purpose of the Government that the refining and sale of sugar shall return to its normal operation.

"Following the custom of the trade in normal times we are accordingly announcing an opening price on bulk granulated sugar refined from new crop raw sugars of 15 cents a pound f. o. b. refinery less 2 per cent. cash discount, based on the present market for new crop raw sugar. This means a net price to the wholesale and manufacturing trade of less than 14¾ cents a pound.

"While we have been offered export business for 1920 delivery in great volume, yet so far we have declined all this foreign business, holding out refining capacity for domestic business until sugar conditions in this country became easier.

"During 1919 we have delivered more s

LEAGUE'S OUTLOOK NOT BRIGHT TO PARIS

Only Early American Participation, It Is Thought, Gives Hope of Vigorous Life.

SHORN OF MANY POWERS

Friday's Opening Session Will See It Less Important Than the Reparation Commission.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—With the entry into force of the Treaty of Versailles interest turns to the League of Nations, and one naturally asks the question: What is the status of this great conception?

The outlook at this time is not encouraging. It is true that the League will be born next Friday, when the Executive Council will hold its first meeting; but the absence of the father at the birth of the child threatens the life of the infant. It promises to be very puny in its first days. For the League of Nations was planned as something infinitely bigger than the Treaty of Versailles, and it appears now as something much smaller. Instead of the Treaty of Versailles being one of many world agreements to rest under the aegis of the League, the League finds itself a mere tool for the enforcement of the treaty with Germany.

While it could not have been foreseen by him when he tied the covenant of the League up to the treaty, President Wilson did something which is responsible for the meeting which will take place in Paris Friday. For there can be little real doubt that if the League and the treaty were not interwined that meeting would not take place. When it does, it will be because the League is needed to get the treaty into effect. It will not be the most important tribunal in that task: it will be, at least as far as one can see today, less powerful than the Reparation Commission; less powerful than the Coordination Commission; less powerful than the Inter-Allied Mission headed by Marshal Foch which enters into power today.

League's Fate Rests With America.

But the league will start Friday. It will start in life without the confidence of those who will sit about the green-covered table at the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs. It will start in life without the confidence of those nations which will not be represented Friday. But the spark of life will be there. Whether it will be fanned into something bigger depends upon one nation—the United States. America made possible the victory of the cause of democracy, and America alone can make possible a real League of Nations. If she comes into the league in a wholehearted way the thing will grow into something worth while. If she deserts the league it will exist in its present form only as an instrument for enforcing the treaty of Versailles.

And there cannot be indefinite delay. In six months it may be too late. Six months may find the allied nations forced by the needs of the hour into new alliances which can but hamper their hearty and impartial participation in the league. To show this drift I quote from the Echo de Paris this morning: "The functions of Marshal Foch as Commander in Chief of the allied armies ceased automatically yesterday, Jan. 10, at the moment of the re-establishment of peace. We are happy to learn that in the morning of the same day the French, English, and Italian Governments decided not only to maintain the military Council of Versailles, of which the great man of war will be President, but also to extend the sphere of activity which had been assigned to him.

"Marshal Foch and his collaborators will not only concern themselves with the application of the treaty, but their advice will be sought on all questions of general interest. While it is true that the only official powers they have are of a consultatory nature, nevertheless the embryo of an interallied military organization has been created, about which we hope will be formed a solid alliance of France, England, Belgium and Italy as a beginning.

"To that end we must work without respite and for the present confine the role of the Executive Council of the League of Nations to one of juridicial representation."

LOWDEN'S BACKERS FIGHT WOOD HERE

Seek to Round Up New York Republican Delegates for Illinois Governor.

USE "GUMSHOE" METHODS

Want Vote of Empire State After a Complimentary Ballot for Nicholas Murray Butler.

Alarmed at the progress in New York City and State of the boom of General Leonard Wood for the Republican nomination for President, friends of Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, who is said to be running General Wood a close race in other parts of the country, have decided to become active here and try to corral the New York State delegation at the National Convention for their candidate. The presence of Governor Lowden in the city yesterday gave rise to the rumor that he is to open headquarters in the city within a short time.

The Lowden workers have maintained a sort of "gumshoe" campaign, using tactics exactly opposite to those of the Wood followers, who have established headquarters on Broadway, and who are working to get the backing of the Republican organization here for the General. Followers of the Governor said yesterday they expected to get the support of the New York delegation for their candidate as New York's second choice. They said they expected the delegation's first vote would be cast for New York's favorite son, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, but when the switch to other candidates would begin Governor Lowden would be found to be New York's real favorite.

In the Wood camp this prophecy was derided. It has all been settled, it was maintained, that the unanimous vote of the New York delegation is to be cast for General Wood after the delegates have switched from Dr. Butler. The Wood adherents go even further. They insist that the delegation will not be for Dr. Butler as a unit on the first ballot, but that a number will vote for General Wood. After that, the Wood men maintain, it will be clear sailing for the General.

The retirement of National Committeeman John T. King of Connecticut as manager of the Wood campaign, it was said yesterday, will have an important effect upon General Wood's chances of getting Republican support in New York, for a number of so-called radicals in the Republican organization who were opposed to Mr. King are now ready to swing over to the Wood camp, as they believe that the General is as popular in New York as Dr. Butler, and they are opposed to the latter as they believe he is tied up to the standpat element in the party.

Political leaders believe all Presidential candidates will begin immediately to pay more attention to New York, and that all headquarters here soon will be booming. Some of these, it is said, have been insisting that General Wood resign from the army so he can devote his entire time to his campaign. As soon as the General resigns and becomes an avowed candidate, these persons say, many prominent New York Republicans will openly declare themselves for him, even to the extent of working against Dr. Butler in the open. As between the President of Columbia University, who is looked upon as the candidate of the Old Guard, and General Wood, it is said, many members of the Republican Party in the State will not hesitate to swing in behind the latter.

At the Wood campaign headquarters it was said that little attention is being paid to the efforts to start a boom for General Pershing. Army men, as well as members of the K. P. of the Wood adherents asserted, are for General Wood and nothing can win them over to the support of General Pershing. George J., Mark W., and Frank H. Woods of Lincoln, Neb., who came to the city on Sunday with the Pershing boom, were sure that with the opening of a Pershing headquarters here nothing could stop his candidacy from sweeping the State. They said yesterday that they were meeting with unexpected encouragement, both in New York and Washington.

Governor Lowden will go to Washington today.

HAYS DENIES CHARGE ON GLASS'S DEMAND

HAD SHARP CONTROVERSY

Secretary and Chairman Exchange Several Telegrams Across the Continent.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury, and Will H. Hays, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, have within the last three days entered into a sharp, telegraphic controversy over a statement Mr. Hays was reported to have made in Denver. The telegraphic correspondence was released today by the Secretary to the newspapers.

Mr. Glass read in the THE NEW YORK TIMES an Associated Press dispatch which quoted Mr. Hays as saying that lists of Liberty Bond buyers had been used for Democratic propaganda purposes, but that Republicans had been denied access to these rolls.

Chairman Hays replied from Salt Lake City, Jan. 10, in part:

"I did not say that you had furnished the names of all buyers of Liberty bonds for the use of the Democratic Committee as a mailing list. What I did say then, and what I now repeat, is that the Democratic Administration sent out thousands of tons of propaganda to Liberty bond buyers, food card signers, war workers, &c., during the paper shortage and while limiting the use of paper by the press, and that the larger part of it was Democratic political propaganda and that all of it was paid for by the taxpayers' money.

"I did say that names were being procured by the Democratic organization by the hundreds of thousands from every available source, and that thousands of letters were being sent out by it daily soliciting money by an office force numbering from 200 to 300, spending hundreds of dollars daily, and that The New York World had published a statement that the Democratic National Committee was proposing to raise a fund of $10,000,000.

"What I did not say then, but to which I now call your attention, is that I am reliably informed that the Democratic Committee has even resorted to drawing drafts on bankers in whose banks Government funds are deposited, wiring such bankers that they had already drawn such drafts. I respectfully recommend that you make an inquiry into this situation."

Mr. Hays adds that there should not be any geography, political or physical, in the patriotism of this country, and calls on Secretary Glass to influence the coming campaign so that it may be a straight-cut contest between the two great parties, which should always be strong and virile for the welfare of the nation.

Secretary Glass replied, under date of Jan. 12, to Chairman Hays, then in San Francisco, calling the "apparent denial" of the statement of which the secretary had complained, adding: "To the extent that your dispatch may fairly be construed as a disavowal of this slander, it relieves you of the odium of having falsely imputed to the Treasury Department the knavery of making partisan merchandise of official records which reflect the patriotic devotion of American people to the Government. Your dispatch omits to make the denial perfectly plain and absolute, you fail to acquit yourself of having wantonly aspersed the honorable conduct of this department.

"I observe that you did say in your speech, and now reassert in your dispatch, that the Treasury sent out thousands of tons of partisan political literature as a part of its propaganda in Liberty Loan campaigns. This charge conveys an implication of gross stupidity, as well as downright dishonesty, upon the part of those managing the Liberty Loan organization. In the name of the many patriotic Republicans having charge of this work, and equally responsible with their patriotic Democratic associates, I resent the imputation as both false and silly. * * *

"I note what you say and the Democratic Committee drawing drafts on bankers whose banks are depositors of national funds and suggest inquiry into the matter by it. I require no inquiry by me to say that I have not one particle of knowledge of the financial activities of either the Democratic National Committee or the Republican National Committee. There can be but one meaning to that part of your dispatch which is contained in the covert intimation that the Treasury has participated directly or indirectly, by sanction or contributory activity, in the financial schemes of the Democratic National Committee. The suggestion is intolerably false."

Secretary Glass agrees that "this is no time for little things, carping criticisms, or the ascription of dishonest motives to opponents, and hopes that Mr. Hays, in future references to the administration of the Treasury, will carefully observe this precept."

The statement from the Associated Press dispatch to which Mr. Glass alluded in his first telegram to Mr. Hays follows:

"He (Mr. Hays) said that the name of every buyer of Liberty bonds in the United States was put on the Democratic mailing list for the forthcoming campaign.

"We were shut out of the war jobs in the main," said Hays, "and now we are excluded from all these records which are available to the opposition." He declared Postmaster General Burleson had ordered a rural free delivery census of all adults, and he predicted that this list would also be used by the Democrats to "flood the country with campaign literature."

FOR WOOD AND HOOVER.

Western Governors Say Republicans Want Former, Democrats Latter.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Four Governors and two Lieutenant Governors of Far Western States, passing through Chicago on their way to Washington, asserted that their section of the country was for Herbert Hoover for the Democratic nomination for President and General Leonard Wood for the Republican nomination.

In the party were Governor Samuel Bamberger, Democrat, of Utah; Governor D. W. Davis, Republican, of Idaho; Governor Thomas E. Campbell, Republican, of Arizona; Governor Octaviano A. Larrabolo, Republican, of New Mexico; Lieut. Gov. George Stehan, Republican, of Colorado; Lieut. Gov. McDowell of Montana; Frank W. Brown, secretary to Governor Davis, and Sims Ely, Secretary of the Arizona Resources Board.

"The Western country is for Hoover for the Democratic nomination, in my opinion," said Governor Bamberger. "Of course, many things may happen between now and convention time, and many men of our party are waiting for an expression from President Wilson. But right now the sentiment is for Hoover.

"I, for one, want to commend the wisdom of the Democratic National Committee in recognizing the West by deciding to hold the National Convention in San Francisco," he went on. "I think it was not only a good political move, but a good idea, to give a lot of people a chance to come out to our country and study its greatness."

Governor Campbell of Arizona voiced the opinions of other Republicans when he said that Wood sentiment was stronger than any other in the Far West.

DANES' KING THANKS WILSON

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Wilson received today a cable dispatch from King Christian X. of Denmark, thanking him for his part in the Slesvig settlement. The dispatch reads: "The President of the United States, White House, Washington:

The Versailles peace having now come into force whereby security has been established that Danish Slesvig will be given an opportunity to be reunited with its old fatherland, the hearts of all Danes are filled with deepest joy and gratitude in recognition of the fact that this accomplishment, so happy for Denmark, has been brought about by the realization of the high ideals of which you, Mr. President, have been the exalted spokesman, and for which the allied and associated powers have sacrificed so much.

I feel impelled to voice to you and through you to the whole of the American nation the expression of the deepest gratitude of the Danish nation.

I beg you, Mr. President, to accept the assurance of my high consideration. CHRISTIAN, R.

SEEK TREATY ACCORD TODAY

ocean. This was forgotten for many weeks, he remarked, during the treaty fight by the Senate. The disposition now is to regard that as a mistake, he asserted, and to return to the tenet that domestic politics should not creep into international affairs.

Agree to Omit Preamble.

Mild reservation Senators today announced that they, Senator Lodge and Democrats of the McKellar-Kendrick group, were virtually in accord upon four items in a proposed treaty compromise. The elimination of these four points, they said, left but two—Article X and the Monroe Doctrine—to be disposed of.

The four points are the preamble of the resolution of ratification, the Shantung reservation, labor, and the Lenroot reservation on voting power.

According to the mild reservationists, Mr. Lodge has agreed that these points are "discussable." He told the reservationists this on Saturday, and they, in conference with Senators McKellar and Kendrick, agreed on all four questions. The Democrats, it was stated, won a concession on the preamble, which is slated for elimination. They in turn yielded on Shantung, labor, and the Lenroot reservation, accepting the Lodge reservations on these points.

Mr. Lodge declined to concede the elimination of the reservations relating to the selection of American delegates to the League of Nations and members of the League commissions and the apportionment of the American share of League expenses. He also refused to discuss any alteration in the Article X. reservation, or to consent to modification of the Monroe Doctrine provision by the elimination of the clause reserving to the United States the sole right to interpret that doctrine.

With the issue on Article X. squarely before them, compromise seekers on both sides said that there had been some progress in that direction also.

The two most important factors, Senators said, in the solution of the Article X. difficulty were Senator Lodge's known position and President Wilson's unknown one.

Mr. Lodge refuses even to discuss the dilution of his reservation on Article X. to any appreciable extent. He and his supporters, who, in this case, include some of the mild reservationists, are adamant against the acceptance by the United States of an obligation, moral or legal, to guarantee the territorial integrity or political independence of any other power.

President Wilson might accept a slight dilution of the original article, or he might not; Senators confess they do not know how far they dare go in that respect, to keep within the limit of Mr. Wilson's interpretative reservations.

Simmons Draft Finds Favor.

Evidences multiply, however, that the Democrats, to quote Senator Hitchcock, their acting leader, are about to "take a chance" on the President's attitude and support a reservation which, in their judgment, neither repudiates the obligation nor fastens it upon the country beyond all hope of evasion. Senator Simmons of North Carolina has drawn a reservation which many Democrats believe can be made the compromise basis. It was discussed at length on Sunday evening at the conference at Senator Owen's home.

The Simmons reservation provides:

"The United States assumes no obligation to employ the military and naval forces of the United States under the provisions of Article X. or any other article of the treaty, to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country, or interfere in controversies between nations—whether members of the League of Nations or not—unless in any particular case the Congress shall by act or joint resolution so provide."

The merit in this proposal, as Democrats see it, lies in the fact that it leaves to Congress in any given case the exact manner of fulfilling the obligation existing under Article X. and at the same time repudiates the interpretation that a military obligation arises out of the article.

No unanimity developed at the Owen conference on Article X. or any other item in a definite program. The Democratic Senators who attended all agreed that there was a chance that President Wilson would accept a compromise tendered him by the Senate, and that so long as that chance existed Democratic Senators ought to try to get that sort of compromise.

Senator Hitchcock, who attended, said today:

"Last night's conference, like, in fact, all the conferences going on, was marked by the absence of any effort to devise ways to gain partisan advantage. Party lines are rapidly being wiped out in the negotiations now proceeding.

"We discussed many phases of the questions involved. Many suggestions have been made for meeting the Article X. difficulty. I think that what we finally agree on will not result from any one of these suggestions, but from all of them. The reservation suggested by Senators McKellar and Kendrick, while it is not to my liking, is better than the Lodge reservation.

"The possibility was discussed that President Wilson might be willing to accept as the final action of the Senate something that he would not accept beforehand. We therefore have to take chances. We don't know just what he will accept.

"He has said that he will take interpretative reservations, and the reservations that we send him have to be that kind, therefore; not slapping the treaty and our allies in the face, not antagonistic, but interpreting what the United States understands the covenant and the treaty to mean."

Mr. Hitchcock added that not all the Democrats were of one mind concerning reservations. "We have to compromise among ourselves," he said.

Senator McNary, mild reservation leader, and Senator Colt, another member of that group, said that they were greatly encouraged by the progress made.

Claim 36 Votes for Kendrick Plan.

The mild reservationists today conveyed to Senator Lodge the reply of the Democrats to the question of how many votes they could get for the McKellar-Kendrick program. The Democrats stated that thirty-five votes were certain, with other Democrats sympathetic. No Senator has been pledged, either orally or in writing.

In some quarters the effort of Democratic Senators to form a coalition with mild reservationists was regarded today as an attempt to put the entire responsibility for the failure of the treaty upon Senator Lodge in a new and more definite way than has yet been possible. The Democrats, some Republicans surmise, are trying to line up the majority of their own forces, and enough Republican reservationists, on some compromise basis, to obtain a majority of the Senate.

Senator Lodge, his friends said today, would not fall into any pitfall. They said he was as honest in his desire for ratification as any man in the Senate and that the only reason he was not working for it more actively was that as Republican leader, he was supposed to represent, and in a measure, to be bound by the views of, all factions in his party. Therefore, it was held, he could not openly flout the irreconcilables by trying to get a compromise on reservations, nor could he, having sponsored reservations that represented the combined thought of all Republicans but the irreconcilables, depart from that basis without formal and specific instructions from his party.

Senators Receive Bryan Telegram.

Democratic Senators today received the telegrams from Mr. Bryan sent last night, expressing the hope that ratification might be effected by Friday, the day set for the first meeting of the League of Nations.

Mr. Bryan will get little credit out of ratification, Democrats declared today. They made it extremely plain that at the Owen conference and every other conference of the many held since the President's letter and Mr. Bryan's speech came out on Jackson Day Democratic Senators have agreed that their course must be support of Mr. Wilson.

Senator Hitchcock, in discussing reports that the Owen conference was to result in a "revolt" from the Wilson leadership, said:

"All talk of revolt is absurd. Senate Democrats interpret President Wilson's letter to mean that he wants the Senate to act, and to act in a way that will show the world that the United States is friendly, not hostile, to the treaty. We all agree with him that this should be done and that no reservations should be adopted that will nullify the treaty. That is exactly his position. How can a revolt be made of that?"

Senator McKellar said that "Bryan Democrats, Hitchcock Democrats, Underwood Democrats and Wilson Democrats are united in this treaty business as never before."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (Associated Press).—A development in the treaty situation today was the designation of Senator Smith, of Georgia, by a group of Democrats to consult Senator Lodge in an attempt to adjust the dispute over Article X of the League of Nations Covenant. Democrats and "mild reservation" Senators expressed the hope that Senator Lodge and his supporters would agree to modification of the Foreign Relations Committee reservation on that article.

GLOOMY OVER PEACE WITH AMERICA OUT

London Press Sees Opportunity Left to Stir International Discord Afresh.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The ratification of the Treaty of Versailles fails to elicit any expressions of joy from the London press. Editorials in this morning's newspapers express, at best, qualified satisfaction, while some journals strike a distinctly doleful note.

"It is no time of triumph or soaring hopes," says The Telegraph, which, giving some reasons for this troubled view, adds:

"The omission of America's signature to the ratifying document stands for the bitter disappointment of the hope that glowed with promise for humanity a year ago. It is true the League of Nations exists by the terms of the treaty, but the world knows that unless and until the United States adheres to the League and participates in its actions not a tithe of the usefulness and moral authority it should possess will belong to it."

The newspaper also cites the absence of Russia from Saturday's ceremony and says:

"Until the sky in that direction grows clearer there can be no world peace nor any hope of it."

Doubts of the reality of peace behind the formal act of ratification are expressed by The Daily News.

"There is not a nation which cannot if it wishes manufacture new grievances out of the settlement to trouble the peace of the world," it says. "Occasions of offense are so numerous they obscure the very fact of peace."

The News notes regretfully that America, "which did so much to make peace," has no part in the final act.

"Are we near peace?" asks The Graphic, which says nobody can answer this question with a hopeful affirmative. The paper cites in proof of this statement the present industrial unrest, the troubled state of India, Egypt, and Ireland and the "Socialist conspiracy to destroy by relentless class warfare the whole existing structure of society."

"Those who want peace must work for it," it concludes.

The Chronicle, deploring the cause of the League of Nations, says it is "much weakened by the action of the American Senate." The newspaper expresses the hope, nevertheless, that the allied Governments will immediately go ahead with the League, but questions whether Great Britain, France, and Italy without the support of America can assume a position to act as dictators to the rest of Europe.

In commenting upon the ratification of the treaty, The Manchester Guardian says:

"So far there is cause for rejoicing; the supreme and overwhelming need of Europe is for peace."

Characterizing the peace as "largely formal and leaving the door wide open for a renewed struggle," the newspaper criticises the enormous indemnities exacted and the provision for handing over men accused of violations of the laws of war as possible sources of trouble. It continues:

"Obviously the peace now entered upon is not a very stable one, and, if now or later, its enemies should seek to destroy it, the thing can be easily done. Happily, other forces than those of international jealousy and hate will now come into play. With the peace with Germany, the League of Nations will be born."

RESUMING DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH BERLIN

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Lord Kilmarnock left London today for Berlin to take up his duties as British Chargé d'Affaires in the German capital. Some time is likely to elapse before the British diplomatic representation in Germany is restored to the grade of an Embassy, as the present intention of the British Government is to maintain only a Legation there until such time as Germany has given proof of good behavior.

The former German Embassy in Carlton House Terrace is still in care of the Swiss Legation. Prince Lichnowsky left many personal belongings there when he departed from London at the outbreak of the war. Germany is not expected to send a diplomatic representative here at once, though there is no valid reason why she should not do so if she desired, now that peace between the two countries has become a fait accompli. The Swiss officials in charge of Prince Lichnowsky's former headquarters, however, have received intimations that they will be requested to "carry on" until spring.

Prince Lichnowsky was at one period spoken of as likely to return to London as German Ambassador; but, though he has many friends here who admire the stand he took in regard to the diplomatic origins of the war, his selection by the present German Government is out of the question.

Another former Ambassador of an enemy power, Count Mensdorff, who represented Austria-Hungary and who was persona gratissima in London, is expected to return to England and settle down as a private individual here. Count Mensdorff is distantly related to the British royal family, and during the war he devoted himself entirely to Red Cross work in Austria and took pains to let his English friends know he was taking no actual part in the fighting for his country.

Though the United States is not yet at peace with the former Central Empires, American commercial agents are stated to have been active there, and France and Italy also have been looking after their trade interests. While many individual Britishers have shown a reluctance to undertake new dealings with German firms, the fact that good business can be done at present rates of exchange is not one to be overlooked, and the regulations announced today under which goods may be exported to or imported from Germany are not designed to hamper the restoration of commercial relations within carefully considered limits.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Lord Kilmarnock left London for Berlin this morning to assume his duties of British diplomatic representative at the German capital. His departure marks an important step in the re-establishment of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Germany, which will be effected almost immediately. Consuls and Consuls General will soon be appointed by the two Governments. Germany will be first represented here by a chargé d'Affaires, but it is believed that the rank will soon be raised to that of Minister, instead of Ambassador, as formerly.

Sir Harold Stuart, former Home Secretary to the Government of India, has been named the British High Commissioner for the Rhineland, under the provisions of the peace settlement creating the Inter-Allied Rhineland Commission. Malcolm Arnold Robertson, for many years in the British diplomatic service, has been appointed Deputy Commissioner. The headquarters of the commission will be in Coblenz.

A Berlin wireless message says that the credentials of Lord Kilmarnock of England, M. Marcilly of France and Count Aldrovandi Maroscotti of Italy, the new Chargés d'Affaires, have already been submitted to the Government.

BRYAN PREDICTS SENATE WILL RATIFY BY FRIDAY

Denies, at Lincoln, Break with Wilson—Suggests Party Platform in Omaha Speech.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 12.—William Jennings Bryan told members of the Lincoln Commercial Club here today that it was infinitely more important that the treaty be ratified before Jan. 16, with concessions by both sides, than to continue a state of war for fourteen months until the people could decide in favor of ratification at the coming elections.

Mr. Bryan expressed the belief that the Senate would ratify the treaty by next Friday, so that the United States could enter the League of Nations at its first session on that day.

He denounced what he said were accusations by Republican newspapers that there had been a split in the Democratic Party over the League covenant. The most important thing, he declared, was to secure the ratification of the treaty, and if compromise efforts to this end between Democratic and Republican Senators failed, the matter could be turned over to the Republicans who would be responsible if it was not settled to the satisfaction of the people.

Mr. Bryan reiterated his denial of a "break" between himself and President Wilson over the treaty. Neither knew what the other was going to say relative to the treaty prior to the Jackson Day banquet recently held at Washington, he said.

Special to The New York Times.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 12.—In an hour's speech, which had been heralded as the opening of the 1920 Presidential campaign, but contained little new, William J. Bryan tonight urged the Democratic Party to go before the people this year advocating Governmental control of railroads, telephones and telegraph, trade commissions to prevent profiteering, and placing the blame for any unsatisfactory amendments to the Peace Treaty on the Republican Party.

He reiterated that he favored a compromise with the treaty's foes, if that were not possible, that the Republicans be allowed to amend the treaty in whatever way they saw fit and then ratify it.

"President Wilson wrote a letter which was read at the Jackson Day dinner," said Mr. Bryan, "I made a speech at the dinner. The President wrote his letter before he heard my speech. I made my speech before I read his letter. He probably would have written his letter if he had heard my speech and I know I would have made my speech even if I had first read his letter.

In outlining a remedy for profiteering Mr. Bryan proposed a commission for every town before which any consumer might hale any merchanat whom he suspected of making too great a profit.

His railroad telephone and telegraph ideas were much the same as Mr. Bryan has advocated for years.

REED POINTS TO STAND OF TAFT, LOWELL, BRYAN

Ridicules Wilson's Position on Article X. and Democratic Senators Who Follow Him.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—Calling attention to recent statements by President Lowell of Harvard, ex-President Taft and William J. Bryan on the League of Nations Covenant, United States Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, in speaking here tonight before a banquet of St. Louis citizens opposed to the League of Nations, said:

"Thus one by one the roses fall. All three of these men have now said that Article X. should not be adopted unamended.

"In view of the fact that the President has declared that Article X is the backbone of the League, it appears that at least Brothers Lowell and Taft think so poorly of the scheme that they are willing to leave it spineless.

"Having been defeated in his attempt to coerce the Senate into meek surrender to his demands, the President is now willing to go to the people.

"A number of Senators, including myself, from the first have insisted that the American people should and must be consulted. Now that the President has perforce approved that contention and, because there is no other way out, agreed to let the people decide, everything ought to be unanimous. For I assume that those Senators who have regularly, each morning, reverently exclaimed 'We pray thee, O Most Wise, tell us what we are to believe today,' will once more recognize their master's voice and obediently 'go to heel.'"

After discussing the Lodge reservations Senator Reed said:

"The tide of public opinion is rapidly rising against the ratification of this league with or without amendments. As evidence of the trend I call attention to the fact that Mr. Lowell, long an advocate of the league, now announces that Article X. ought to be rejected. Mr. Taft has quit denouncing the critics of the League as pigmyminded and has turned to abusing the President because he does not accept all the reservations. And now comes the Great Commoner, who wisely declares that the American people would never surrender their right to fight in their own defense and who at the same time renounces the provisions of Article X.

"A few more weeks of discussion and we may expect these gentlemen to move up to the line where they demand that this un-American and treacherous document shall be utterly and incontinently rejected."

DRY TEST BLOCKED BY SUPREME COURT

JURISDICTION DISCLAIMED

Rhode Island Attorney General Attacks Amendment as Interference with States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Steps to bring test proceedings for determination of the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment to the Federal Constitution received a setback today, when the Supreme Court denied, for lack of jurisdiction, motions filed on behalf of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association of New Jersey seeking permission to institute an original suit for that purpose.

The denial, however, does not terminate the efforts to expedite determination of the question, for motions filed by the State of Rhode Island asking similar permission were argued today and remain to be acted upon. As the Federal amendment becomes effective Friday, action on the Rhode Island motion within the next few days is anticipated.

The order denying permission to bring the New Jersey suit was made orally by Chief Justice White, who held the motion to file the case "rested upon a plain disregard of two principles of jurisdiction that has been settled from the beginning." One, he said, was that a citizen of a State could not bring a suit against the State without its consent, while the other was that the Federal Constitution does not create jurisdiction but only apportions it, and accordingly under the Constitution the Supreme Court had no jurisdiction in such a case as that from New Jersey.

This attitude of the court in general upheld the contentions of Solicitor General King and New Jersey authorities in their arguments made Jan. 5.

In attacking the constitutionality of the amendment today Attorney General Herbert A. Rice of Rhode Island questioned the validity of its ratification as well as of the passage of the resolution by Congress, and asserted the amendment was an interference with State police powers, and was "usurpatory, unconstitutional, and void."

In a brief filed with the court the Rhode Island Attorney General further argued that enforcement of national prohibition would affect injuriously the rights of Rhode Island, and that because the defendants named in the case are outside the boundaries of that State the Supreme Court was the proper tribunal in which to bring the suit.

These contentions were denied by the Government, which asserted that the questions involved were political, and that the court was without jurisdiction to hear the case.

BOSTON, Jan. 12.—Circuit Judge George W. Anderson today formally dismissed the petition of George C. Dempsey, a wholesale liquor dealer, for an injunction to restrain Federal officials from enforcing the Volstead act. The court acted without hearing argument and with the consent of counsel for Dempsey, who agreed that this course was the most expedient for bringing the case to the Supreme Court directly.

The Dempsey petition contends that the Volstead act is unconstitutional on the ground that it has not been ratified by three-fourths of the States. This should have been done, the petition charges, under the terms of Section 2 of the Eighteenth Amendment, which gave the power of adopting an enforcement measure for the amendment concurrently to Congress and the several States.

In Jail for Election Fraud.

Benjamin Harrison of 220 East Eighty-first Street, one of the sixty election inspectors and officers who were convicted for fraud in the returns from the Republican primaries in September, 1919, in the contest for the Mayoralty nomination by Mayor Mitchel and William M. Bennett, was sent to the Tombs yesterday to serve his original sentence of five months.

Would Raise Federal Witness Fees.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—A bill increasing Federal Court witness fees from $1.50 to $3 a day was passed today by the Senate and sent to the House. Senator Nelson, Republican, Minnesota, said a man could not get three square meals and a bed for $1.50.

DRY ENFORCEMENT BILL INTRODUCED AT ALBANY

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 12.—Differing only from the Volstead act in that it does not provide for a prohibition enforcement department, the act furthered by the Anti-Saloon League was introduced in the Legislature tonight by Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara and Assemblyman John W. Slacer of Erie.

William H. Anderson, Superintendent of the league, declared tonight that this omission was made "for the simple reason that an anti-prohibition Governor would seize upon the attempt to perpetuate a Republican excise department in the form of an enforcement department as an excuse for vetoing the entire legislation."

The language of the Volstead act is used in the measure wherever possible. The bill is designed, according to the League, to impose on the State officers, by State authority, the same obligations to enforce the Federal Prohibition amendment as the Volstead law places upon Federal officials, and to enable New York State to concur in the enforcement power.

Like the Volstead act, the bill defines intoxicating liquor as a beverage containing more than one-half of one per cent. of alcohol. It defines a private home as a "room or rooms used and occupied not transiently, but solely as a residence in an apartment house, hotel or boarding house," and it specifies that no search warrant may be issued to search any private dwelling occupied as such, unless it is being used for the unlawful sale of liquor.

The Senate minority leader, Mr. Walker, added to the Prohibition legislation which is expected to flood the Legislature by introducing a resolution designed to carry out Governor Smith's recommendation that the Legislature rescind its action of last year ratifying the National Prohibition Constitutional Amendment and submit the "wet" and "dry" question to the people of the State at the coming general election. The resolution was not debated and was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Assemblyman William B. Amos, Republican, New York, offered a concurrent resolution providing that, whenever an amendment to the United States Constitution shall be proposed by Congress and submitted to the Legislature for ratification, the Legislature shall provide for a referendum putting the matter up to the people for vote on whether the Legislature should ratify.

DRAFT DEFEATS LANDLORD.

Court Decides He Cannot Hold Conscripted Tenant on Lease.

According to a court decision rendered yesterday, a landlord cannot recover from a tenant when the breaking of a lease resulted from the tenant having been drafted into the United States Army.

The question arose in the case of Samuel T. Greenfield, a stock broker, who was sued in two separate actions in the Municipal Court, Ninth District, by his landlord, the State Realty Company, and Walter T. Salmon, horseman.

Greenfield had rented two offices from the plaintiff landlords and in 1918 he was drafted and went to Camp Upton. When he returned from the war Salmon and the realty company sued on the leases, alleging his abandonment of the offices and the breaking of the lease.

Greenfield's defense was that the United States Government had bodily taken him away and prevented him from carrying ot the terms of the lease, and that consequently he was not liable.

The case was tried about eight months ago and decided yesterday by Judge John R. Davies, who wrote an opinion which said in part:

"There has been no decided cases, so far as I can find, growing out of this war upon this point, and the observation is natural that apparently the creditors have recognized the general hardships to those concerned, and have therefore not pressed such claims as these.

"In my opinion, therefore, the sense of the law in a case such as this is to hold that the Government's act in taking defendant into its military services under the demands of war relieved the defendant of his obligations under this contract, and judgment herein will be for the defendant."

may keep legally acquired liquor either in their rooms or in lockers over which they have complete and exclusive control.' Such liquors may not be consumed, however, in the dining room or in any portion of the building except the rooms of the owner. The same allowances and restrictions apply to members of a club whose bona fide private dwelling is within the club.

"Persons possessing legally acquired liquor in their private dwelling for the use of themselves, their families and bona fide guests are not required to report such liquors.

"Owners desiring to dispose of intoxicating liquors which are held in storage warehouses should apply to the Collector of Internal Revenue or the Federal Prohibition Director of the district and State in which the warehouses are located, for permits to sell for non-beverage purposes. Such permits must be obtained on or before Jan. 27, 1920."

The Story of

BRINKLEY PRODUCING & REFINING CO.

Oil Tabloid No. 4

The Brinkley Producing and Refining Co. started operations by purchasing, with the first acquisition of oil lands, well No. 1. Well No. 2 was soon after drilled and producing. By that time shares had gone up fom 75c to par $1.00.

Next well, No. 3, was brought in and shares began to sell at $1.50, the present price. Now well No. 4 is being drilled in and No. 5 is on the sand ready to be drilled in. An even more phenomenal rise is looked for.

Soon we expect to announce that we have 5 wells producing; not only that, but we own our own pipe line 11 miles long and have contracts which will dispose of all the oil we can produce on our Texas holdings. Then there are 6 more wells to be drilled on our 228.7 acres holding adjacent to the famous Kemp-Munger-Allen gusher.

We believe you will agree that few oil companies can point to as successful a career as our own. It certainly merits the investigation of any person.

The story of the Brinkley Producing and Refining Company will be continued. If you cannot wait for succeeding issues of this newspaper, send for literature at once.

ARGUE RIGHT TO KEEP DRINKS ON DEPOSIT

Action to Prevent Seizure of Liquor Premature, Federal Attorney Urges.

Can a man keep a stock of liquor for his own use in storage and transport enough to fill his periodical requirements to his home? This question was placed before Federal Judge John C. Knox yesterday. The case was that of William G. Street, a Director of the Kansas City Southern Railway Company of 12 West Forty-fourth Street, who applied for a temporary injunction restraining Daniel L. Porter, Supervising Revenue Agent, from seizing his collection of choice wines and liquors in the Lincoln Safe Deposit Company, 60 East Forty-second Street.

Samuel Hoff, counsel for the safe deposit company, said the case would affect hundreds of owners of liquor whose property is now stored in warehouses. He pointed out that if it was ruled unlawful for a storage company to retain liquor after Jan. 16, the warehouse might be liable for prosecution as a public nuisance.

Joseph N. Auerbach of Davies, Auerbach & Cornell, on behalf of Mr. Street, asserted that the Volstead Enforcement act prohibited the manufacture, sale, barter and transportation of liquor commercially. So long as Mr. Street did not put the liquor in the channels of trade, he argued, he had a right to drink it where he pleased, store it where he pleased and entertain whom he pleased. He made a plea for a liberal construction of the law.

Earl R. Barnes, Assistant United States Attorney, urged that the application was premature because the Eighteenth Amendment does not go into effect until January 16, and moved that Mr. Street's application be dismissed. He said that Revenue Agent Porter could not seize the liquor until the law went into effect and declared that if the liquor were removed to a United States bonded warehouse Mr. Street might ask permission to remove it from time to time to his home. If such permission were not granted then Mr. Street would have recourse to the courts, he said.

This loophole was closed by Francis G. Caffey, United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, who followed Mr. Barnes. He said flatly that his position was that never again after liquor is placed in a bonded warehouse will it be available for beverage purposes. Whether he was wrong in his opinion, he added, could be tested in court. Mr. Caffey went further for, when asked by Judge Knox whether a man might transport his liquor from one home to another when changing his abode, he intimated that it might not be possible to obtain such a permit. However, that question had not been reached, said the prosecutor.

Charles H. Tuttle, associated with Mr. Auerbach, answering the Government's assertion that the application for the restraining order was premature, maintained that some sections of the Volstead act took effect on its passage last October, and under them Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper had prepared and promulgated regulations for the seizure and forfeiture of liquors found in private warehouses.

The argument, which lasted all day, was opened by Mr. Auerbach, who urged that nothing in the law compelled a man to sign the pledge of prohibition, and that Congress had no roving commission to stop drinking. To say that because Congress legislated against the manufacture and sale of new spirits Mr. Street's liquor could be seized would mean confiscation and theft, he contended. It was a grave question, involving public and private rights, he pointed out, and if the court was in doubt the doubt should be resolved in favor of the continuance of the restraining order.

Mr. Auerbach pleaded for an injunction against "any officious and scandalous interpretation" of the Eighteenth Amendment as would prevent a man filling a flask in his own home and taking the liquor with him on a journey.

Cutler Desks
"They Express Success"

Built with experience

If experience means anything to you in your business, you will appreciate this story of the three generations of experience built into Cutler Desks.

Back in 1824 Abner Cutler founded the Cutler Desk business. He determined to build better desks than had ever been built before. Not desks so expensive that only a few could buy them, but desks into which greater skill was put in designing, greater care in selecting woods and in workmanship. He lived up to that ideal, and so do we today.

Is it any wonder, then, that every desk made in the Cutler factories is a true aristocrat among desks? In your offices Cutler Desks will help you express the success of your business. The Cutler ideal is to build desks so good that men will say of them, "They express success." Write for descriptive literature and name of nearest dealer.

TRACTION INQUIRY WILL OPEN TODAY

BELMONT MAY BE CALLED

Controller Craig Says City Will Ascertain Total Investment of Security Holders.

The investigation which the Board of Estimate is to make into the traction situation will begin at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon with the collection of evidence dealing with the inception of the first Fourth Avenue-Broadway subway, and will follow the work upon this initial subway through all the phases of contract letting and construction. Controller Craig, after an hour's conference yesterday with other members of the board, explained that the idea of starting with rapid transit episodes sixteen years old was for the purpose of making the inquiry thorough and complete.

Among those who helped finance the first subway and who has remained prominent in rapid transit matters as a director of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company is August Belmont. Mr. Craig spoke of issuing subpoenas for those who would be required to testify. Asked if Mr. Belmont would be subpoenaed, he replied, "Very likely."

Among other witnesses will be several engineers who planned the subway, public officials who were active in concluding the contract, contractors and their assistants, and others.

The board will seek details of costs and a schedule of equipment furnished. Mr. Craig said the contract required that this schedule of costs be filed before the road began operating, but that it never was. The board will seek also the names of investors, especially the "outside investors," as distinguished from the financial groups which supplied most of the money.

Mr. Craig said it would not be possible to do much at today's meeting except outline the work. Corporation Counsel William P. Burr will act as counsel.

Mr. Craig explained that the city was going back in its inquiry to the first days of the subway because security holders are asking the city to allow the roads to charge an increased fare and that it was deemed necessary to find how much money these security holders had invested in the property. Without this knowledge, he said, it would be impossible for the board to arrive at any conclusion as to how acute the financial stress of the companies is. He also intimated that the city would find that the rapid transit companies would be able to survive until the increase of traffic and the decrease of costs would yield enough income to make them as prosperous as they were a few years ago.

"We expect to find," said Mr. Craig, "many material facts in the records of the last fifteen or sixteen years. It is not likely that we will begin the examination of witnesses tomorrow. The real work will begin a day or two later. The Board has its regular work to do and so it is not likely that the investigation will go on for more than four days a week. A number of subpoenas will be issued at once."

An effort will be made by the Interborough Brotherhood to learn the attitude of city officials on the request of the brotherhood to the Interborough Company for an increase in pay. A subcommittee of the brotherhood has been conferring almost daily on matters incidental to the increased wage discussion set for Friday. Patrick J. Connolly, President of the brotherhood, was reported yesterday as having said that he had written to Mayor Hylan, asking for an interview, but that the only reply he received was a letter acknowledging the receipt of his communication.

Ask Facts on American Metal Sale.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The Alien Property Custodian was asked in a resolution adopted today by the Senate to submit information regarding the reported sale of voting certificates of the American Metal Company to German interests. The measure was offered by Senator Calder, Republican, New York.

HYPNOTIZED HER VICTIMS.

Mrs. Bennett Says No One Could Refuse Her Money.

Repudiating a previous statement to the effect that the influence of a "divine psychologist" was responsible for her downfall, Mrs. May Jennings Bennett, a widow, who was formerly Secretary of the Women's Foreign Mission Society of the New York Presbytery, who is held in the Tombs for trial on a charge of fraud in a get-rich-quick scheme, said yesterday it was her own hypnotic personality that induced victims to give up their money.

"I have always had the power to obtain money from any person I asked for it," asserted Mrs. Bennett. "I have even obtained money from persons when I knew at the time they had none, but they got the money for me. I am unable to account for this power, but I have never been refused. I was told that when I returned to New York that a man who had exerted an undesirable influence over me and that my actions were due, in a measure, to his teachings. In my disturbed state of mind I lost my head and credited this man with things he had not done. I realize that the power to obtain money is mine, not his.

"I think I am naturally crooked, and I have told my friends so. The only unusual thing is I am willing to admit it, which I am told real criminals never do. However, I may be the exception. Now, I intend to use this power for the right purpose and, if necessary, become a public beggar in order to make restitution."

Mrs. Bennett said her husband was a physician. The technical charges against her were made by Mrs. Josephine B. Condero and her aunt, Mrs. Carmine L. De Marchena, of Mount Vernon, who allege that Mrs. Bennett got $7,000 of their money on a scheme to establish a chain of boarding houses.

DIES AT HUSBAND'S TOMB.

Body of Missing Woman Is Found in Cemetery by Sons.

The body of Mrs. Rose Levy of 309 East Eighty-first Street, Manhattan, was found yesterday in front of a tomb in Maimonides Cemetery, on Jamaica Avenue, East New York, in which repose the bodies of her husband, David, and her daughter, Mrs. Emily Goldsmith. It is believed she had been dead since Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Levy's husband died on Jan. 10, 1914, and her daughter, about three years later. She left her home in Manhattan Sunday afternoon to visit a nephew, Jules Levy, in Richmond Hill, and is believed to have stopped at the cemetery on the way. When she did not return home Sunday night her three sons, Sidney, Charles and Nathan, began a search and yesterday discovered their mother's body just outside the family mausoleum. Mrs. Levy is believed to have collapsed just after emerging from the mausoleum, the door of which was still open. Apoplexy and exposure are believed to have caused her death.

Beatrice Lewis, 22 years old, of 200 West 110th Street, Manhattan, was found in a hysterical condition on her mother's grave in Washington Cemetery, Flatbush, last evening. Beside her was a bottle which had contained poison. She was taken to Coney Island Hospital, where it was said she was in a dangerous condition from mercury poisoning.

FIRE ON BERGDOLL ESTATE.

Draft Evader's Mother Blames Enemies and Asks Police Protection.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—The garage and stable building on the suburban estate of Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, mother of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, alleged draft evader, was damaged by fire today to the extent of several thousand dollars. Mrs. Bergdoll called on the police for protection. She charged that the place had been fired by enemies. The telephone wire had been cut, she alleged.

The woman told the police a man who exhibited a badge abused one of her hired men for working for her. Soon afterward the flames were discovered. An automobile and three cows were rescued.

Amberg

Filing Individualized To Your Business
Gives Instant Reference to Your Records

The Amberg Plan Gives You a Clearing House for Records

WHILE all files are supposed to find, experience and analysis prove that they don't. Because:

—files too complicated, cause misfiling
—files dependent on memory, cause mistakes
—files requiring needless coding, lose time —files run by red tape, cause lost motion.

Many office managers suspect their file service could be improved but fear a change means a revolution of office routine and a sacrifice of present equipment. It doesn't—with the Amberg Plan.

Adaptability of the Amberg Plan

A law of correspondence proved 99⅓% perfect is the basis of the Amberg Plan. This and other basic rules of filing are adapted to your organization. There is no convulsion of your office routine. Your files are just simplified, so that in any emergency, anyone who knows the A, B, C's can find a filed record. The Amberg Plan gives but one logical place to file, therefore but one logical place to look—and find.

How Amberg Discovered The Law of Correspondence

Practically every existing indexing invention, in some form, was tried by the Amberg Company to secure accurate distribution, the vital thing in filing. Inventions failed. Some law of probabilities governing the occurence of names in business had to be found. The Amberg Company found it in the Law of Correspondence.

It is based on a master list of 205,920 business names arrived at after analyzing millions of names to see how often they occurred in correspondence. And also from experience in over 75,000 Amberg installations.

Why The Amberg Plan Will Solve Your Problems

Your business absolutely governs the application of the Amberg Plan. The individualizing factors of your business are the first thing provided for. Your volume of fileable matter resulting from letter writing, your chief accounts, agencies, branches and sources of supply are the clues to the proper application of the law of correspondence to your files.

How to Learn the Value of The Amberg Plan to You

A personal explanation of how the Amberg Plan would solve your filing problems costs you nothing and puts you under no obligation to buy anything or disclose private information. An Amberg representative will be glad of the chance to tell you all you ask to know. Knowledge of how to make files work is the principal commodity of the Amberg Organization.

And putting correct filing principles into practice costs much less than getting along without them. Frequently the only cost is for indexing materials especially where modern furniture is in use. You can adopt the Amberg Plan now with no disturbance of routine.

GOVERNOR ASKS AID FROM REPUBLICANS

INVITES ALL TO SEE HIM

Senator Sage Criticises Governor's Program in Address to Merchants' Association and Legislators.

Governor Alfred E. Smith, speaking at a luncheon of the Merchants' Association at the Hotel Astor, to which all the State Senators and Assemblymen from New York City had been invited, and which 70 per cent. of them attended, defended the proposed State organization plan of the State Reconstruction Commission, and in response to the criticisms offered by Senator Henry M. Sage, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, told the Senator that "it would do no harm to either of the great parties and a great deal of good for the State if I can induce the Republican majority to come in and play with me on my program, with the written promise, if they desire it, that they will get half of all the credit." Senator Sage, who has drawn up the State budgets for six years, was skeptical of any possibility of economy through the reduction of the number of State departments, while the Governor felt strongly that the overhead administrative expenses could be reduced considerably by the avoidance of duplication in these departments. Senator Sage offered figures which, he said, proved that the cost of administering State health insurance as advocated by the Governor would be more than $24,000,000, while the Governor responded that the Workmen's Compensation law, affecting millions of workers, was being administered for an amount which in no way approached the Senator's figure.

Governor Asks More Power.

Besides the State legislators more than 1,000 members of the Merchants' Association listened to the Governor and frequently applauded his pleas to give the Governor power commensurate with his responsibility.

"The great trouble with this State is, as I see it," said Governor Smith, "that we are wedded—absolutely wedded to old-fashioned ideas. We haven't attempted to model this Government in keeping with the growth of the State. What gave rise to all this talk about reorganization was the direct tax on income. In March a great many men are going to begin to say, 'What is this money used for?' when they have to pay it directly out of their own pocket. That made necessary some program of retrenchment in the cost of Government.

"Now, it's idle to say that you cannot run eighteen or twenty departments cheaper than we will, say, even eighty-seven for the sake of argument. If you did not save anything else but traveling expenses in a year, of the representatives of all the different boards and commissions that are constantly traveling through this State, it would in itself be a remarkable item. Why, we are the greatest customer the New York Central Railroad has.

"It is true that a board or a commission is not on salary, but they have to have a secretary, they have to have stenographers, they have to have attendants and they have to have help, and every new commission that you create creates a new expenditure."

Calls Two-Year Term a Joke.

With respect to the recommendation of the Reconstruction Commission that the term of the Governor be extended to four years, Governor Smith said:

"To elect a man Governor of the State for two years is a joke. Unless he spent years in Albany, unless he has been in this business and study of government and study of appropriation bills, he will be in Albany a year before he will know what the thing is all about around him, and it doesn't make any difference how brilliant he is or how clever he is. I am talking about his physical capacity to study it in a year. He would have to stay awake day and night for a solid year to get his hand on it. Then, what happens? In his second year he is either up on top of the Capitol, trying to see if he can see the big dome down in Washington, or he is mending the political fences about the State to be sure that he doesn't have to go out of the mansion on the eve of next New Year's following."

The Reconstruction Commission has recommended that the ballot be shortened so that the Governor shall appoint a Cabinet similar to that of the President. Upon this the Governor said:

"You will not get any place if you are going to continue surrounding your Governors with a number of elected State officials that are just as important in their own way as he is when they get there. And you cannot blame them; they are selected by the people the same as he is. The State Engineer and Surveyor this year asks for more money than was appropriated to him when he had the whole construction of the barge canal under his supervision. Well, he never came over to talk to me about it. A perfectly fine fellow, Frank Williams. I have to send for him and ask him about anything and have him explain it to me. Still I am supposed to be the head of the Government.

Cure for Excessive Expenditures.

Governor Smith emphasized the fact that all State activities were bound to cost more than they had ten years ago, but added that there were remedies for certain excessive expenditures, such as those for highways, the remedy for which would be to place half the cost of maintenance upon the counties. He said he had no particular bill to advocate, that he was "willing to go along with the Legislature."

"Now, we can get out of all this," he continued, "if we will only sit down together, and I am one of the easiest men to sit down with. I was brought up in such a way that I cannot sit way back on the chair. I always lean over when I am talking to anybody. I will do that with the Legislature, and I will do it with the members and those of my numerous friends throughout the State. I am well supplied with good cigars. I will bring them all over to the Capitol and sit down and talk it all out and let us get some place, but, above all things, everybody that can do it ought to make their best possible attempt to crush out the idea that nothing should be done for fear that it may revert to the credit of any individual. That is too small and it does not go."

Senator Sage cited the various tremendous increases in the State expenditures during the last nine years, and added that he thought the State was doing more for its citizens than a State Government ought to do today. He also held that of the 187 departments mentioned by the commission only 56 might really be classified as departments.

First of Lecture Series Under Auspices of Republican Women's State Committee.

The first of a series of Monday afternoon lectures which are to cover the history, principles, and future of the Republican Party was delivered yesterday by ex-Senator Ogden L. Mills before a large gathering of women at the Republican Club, 54 West Fortieth Street. The lecture was held under the direction of the Republican Women's State Executive Committee, of which Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore is Chairman:

"Restore," declared the ex-Senator, "Jefferson must turn in his grave when he views the autocracy which has been established in Washington masquerading under the name 'democracy.'

"Compare the sound and traditional foreign policy of successive Republican Presidents with the wavering, uncertain course that has characterized our relations with other nations since 1913; compare the protection which was afforded our citizens and the respect demanded for our flag by Theodore Roosevelt with the long series of outrages suffered by our citizens in Mexico, with the shameful Vera Cruz incident; compare the demand for 'Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead' to the 'Please, Mr. Carranza' policy, and the ineffective chase after Villa; compare the successful assertion of the sovereignty of the whole people by Theodore Roosevelt with the cowardly surrender of Woodrow Wilson to the challenge of organized labor, a surrender which began with the capitulation to the railroad brotherhoods in 1916; compare all these things and you will know why I am a Republican."

The speaker emphasized the need for a sharper division between the two parties, saying that the platforms of 1916 were almost identical, except on the question of tariff. "There should be a real delineation of issues," he said, "a sharp distinction between the conflicting theories of government and conflicting programs for solving the continuous dreams of original problems coming up for solution in this complex civilization of ours. For otherwise the voter is limited merely to a choice of candidates."

Others who have been invited to speak in the lecture series include Nathan L. Miller, John Lord O'Brian, John H. Iselin, ex-Senator Elon R. Brown, and Senator J. Henry Walters. Mrs. Rosalie Loew Whitney will address next Monday's forum on the fundamental differences of the Republican and Democratic Parties.

Dr. Brunor Sued for Separation.

Dr. Emile Brunor of 44 Edgecombe Avenue, who served as a Captain in the army, was sued for a separation yesterday by Mrs. Estelle Brunor, who alleges that her husband expelled her from his residence on Nov. 30 and refuses to provide for her or to permit her to return. She alleges that Dr. Brunor has property worth more than $100,000 and has an income of $25,000 a year.

WOMAN ATTACKS OFFICER.

Says Levey, Larceny Suspect, Had Her Sent to Institution.

Harry Levey, a police reserve officer attached to the staff of Inspector Calahane, who was arrested last week charged with grand larceny and violation of the Sullivan law, was attacked by an angry woman yesterday as he was leaving the West Side Court, where he had just been held in $3,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. Miss Jennie Stein of 216 West 113th Street got to her feet, cried "That's him!" and punched and slapped the prisoner.

"Judge," said the woman, turning toward Magistrate McQuade, "that man ruined and blackmailed me. He came to my room two years ago and said he had received information that I and a chum were bad women. I laughed at him. He returned with two detectives and I was arrested. I was found guilty on the testimony of this man and sentenced to two years in Inwood Home."

Levey was arrested on a story told by a woman that she had been forced by a "detective" to give up a diamond ring. The question whether a police reserve officer has a right to carry a revolver will be decided in this case.

Nothing Will Give and Preserve Fine Teeth—Except

Good health and dental cleanliness. Therefore a dentifrice, wisely chosen, is of great help. And, in the exercise of wise care, Dr. Lyon's is most widely selected, probably because it has the greatest number of years of safe and efficient service back of it.

It has never pretended to do more than clean the teeth, for with good health "a clean tooth never decays." Beyond meeting the need of cleanliness no dentifrice can assist—only a physician or dentist should be considered.

New York, N.Y.

Dear Sirs:-

The Management and Board of Directors of the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Co. want you to know that we appreciate the assistance which you gave us at the annual meeting of our District Managers.

There is a general feeling with our entire organization that the newspaper and magazine copy for 1920 comes nearer to 100% than any advertising which Kellogg ever had before. Every District Manager present was enthused with the talks which you gave them. You may therefore be assured that every member of the Kellogg selling organization will back up the 1920 advertising to the utmost. It is therefore with optimism and enthusiasm that we look forward to the events of the coming year.

We trust our relations with the W.H. Rankin Company will be as pleasant in the future as they have been during the past year. You not only represent us in an advertising way, but we feel you are part of our organization. Your success is our success and our success is your success. HURRAH FOR 1920! And, as a parting word, we wish every member of the Wm. H. Rankin Co. a Merry Christmas and Prosperity and Happiness for the coming year.

Yours sincerely,

BOARD OF DIRECTORS-
KELLOGG TOASTED CORN FLAKE COMPANY.

We will be glad to discuss advertising problems with a few other concerns requiring the kind of service which prompts such an official message as the above.

We are especially prepared to handle and anxious to secure Food advertising accounts, such as Evaporated Milk, Biscuit, Gelatine, Candy—a high-priced Automobile account, Toilet Preparations, Silk or Women's Wear, Cigar or Cigarette, Typewriter or Piano account.

Our New York organization, after four years of service to our customers, is now ready to take on an increased number of advertising accounts—with full assurance that we can render exceptional service as described in the Kellogg letter.

Managing Director Audit Bureau of Circulations

In contrasting the best farm paper methods of today with the common practice of ten years ago, in his address, "How the Audit Bureau of Circulations Has Helped Farm Papers and Agricultural Advertising,"

Said

THE MOST brilliant men in the universities and especially in the agricultural departments eagerly seek through the farm press a medium for the exploitation of their progressive ideas.

"And it has paid the publishers. As an example, let me cite one case: There is now published in the Central West a farm paper which ten years ago did not, in my opinion and in the opinion of those who are familiar with its history, receive $12.00 a month in subscriptions. * * * * *

"Today this same publication receives $12,000.00 a month in subscriptions—and its circulation has grown from 200,000 to 600,000 copies. Today it is not necessary to give this paper away—it is not necessary to give gold spectacles or jack-knives as inducements. It sells on its merits—the contents of the journal. It delivers the goods—and because of this the subscriber is willing to pay for it.

"Its advertising columns have been disinfected—you no longer see the various offers which nauseated the intelligent reader.

"In their places are full-page advertisements of automobiles—of modern household equipments — of scientific appliances—which increase the productiveness of the farm.

"There is an appeal not only in the editorial columns, but in the advertising columns, to the mother, the father, the son and the daughter.

"It is printed on excellent paper, with covers made by leading artists, and contains excellent illustrations in photographic half-tones, depicting up-to-the-minute happenings in its field. * * * * *

"The owner of the paper, under the old order of things, made no appreciable profit, while the new owner can, in the most conservative language, be said to be modestly wealthy."

29,000 JEWS SLAIN IN UKRAINE POGROMS

FALSE CHARGES BLAMED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Wilson transmitted to the Senate today excerpts from a report regarding pogroms in the Ukraine, made by Brig. Gen. Jadwin, U. S. A., who made a tour of that country in the latter part of September. In his report General Jadwin said that one Jewish committee gave him a list of 10,712 Jews who had been killed and named the towns where the pogroms had occurred, with the dates of these massacres. Some totals supplied put the killed up to Sept. 9 at 29,000.

Another statement made by General Jadwin was that some of the Jews felt that propaganda alleging that Jews predominated in the Bolshevist movement, and the fact that Trotzky and Bela Kun were Jews, had been responsible largely for the pogroms. Such propaganda they denounced as false.

The excerpts from the report were furnished to the President by Secretary of State Lansing, who attached to the report a memorandum of plans for further investigation of conditions by the State Department.

"It may be of interest to the Senate," he said, "to know that the Department of State has recently made a decided effort to obtain further and more recent first-hand information. With this in view it was sent Evan E. Young, an experienced Consul General in the Consular Service, to Odessa, and has obtained from the navy the services of Rear Admiral McCully, who has had a long experience of Russian affairs and is conversant with the Russian language.

"Admiral McCully has been designated as special agent of the Department of State and instructed to proceed to the south of Russia for general purposes of observation. Both he and Mr. Young are now en route; but it is feared that the recent military advances of the Bolshevist may prevent their penetrating into the Ukraine."

"They claim that besides these (the 29,000 reported slain), there were doubtless many others killed of whom they have no record. Most of those killed are reported to have been done away with by bands, but information available was to the effect that bands had also killed about 430 Poles, largely landowners and bourgeoisie.

"When the Russian Army broke up many of the soldiers are said to have taken their weapons home and to have secreted them. In the absence of a general stable Government throughout the country these weapons are brought out at times under different leaders. Those especially mentioned include Petlura, Grigouroff, Struck, Zyiony, and Sokolow. There was nothing to show whether the killings were with the knowledge or connivance of the leaders or had been done independently by some men who at other times were in their bands. Proof was not furnished that the actions were concerted or that any one man was responsible for a large number of the deaths.

"There were about 20,000 Jews from other parts of the country taking refuge in Kiev under the protection of Denikin's volunteer army. Denikin's officers advised that orders against excesses had been issued from General headquarters also that one major general was relieved from his command because he was not considered to have exerted sufficient effort to prevent a pogrom. Several soldiers were sentenced in Kiev to from 10 to 15 years hard labor for attempting to steal from Jews.

"One pogrom happened while we were at Kiev. The Jews alleged that a large number were slaughtered at Fastow. I saw several Russian officers who stated that at the time in question, which was during the big Bolshevist attack on Kiev, the brigade commander stationed at Fastow had sent all his troops except his personal staff, personal guard, and train crew out of Fastow to the front.

"While in this situation the train was suddenly surrounded by a number of townspeople, among whom many Jews were recognized. They were armed with pitchforks, &c. An attempt was made on the life of the engineer of the train, but the brigade commander succeeded in getting the train under way and joined his forces on the front. The town was in the hands of the Bolsheviki for one day. It was the scene of heavy fighting for four days, in the course of which some 400 are understood to have been killed. I noticed in driving through the town of Fastow that many houses had crosses on them, and on inquiry was told these crosses indicated the residences of Christians."

DOUBLE OPERA BILL AT PARK

The new bill of the Society of American Singers, sung last night at the Park Theatre, is "The Secret of Suzanne," Wolf-Ferrari's little one-act opera, and a ringing revival of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore." The first brought forward Marcela Craft and Morton Adkins, with Frank Moulan in a silent but potent part. This opera, which is well known from its Metropolitan Opera productions, is as light as the smoke of Turkish tobacco, which is its plot, and it was sung in that spirit last night, and very effectively.

The new "Pinafore" seemed to be the best that has yet been given by the American company, as William Danforth is by far the funniest Deadeye of this theatrical generation. Miss Irene Williams, a pink and white Josephine of brilliant vocal qualities; Mr. Moulan a stunning Sir Joseph, Miss Sarah Edwards a Buttercup of a new type, Miss Caldwell a beautiful hebe, and Messrs. Peacock, Campbell and Waterous three capable seamen and singers. The large house showed clearly that "Pinafore" is still a favorite of American audiences, and the famous tunes, the breeziest and freshest that Sullivan ever wrote, were never heard to better advantage.

Aurore La Croix, Pianist, Reappears.

Aurore La Croix, pianist, reappeared yesterday afternoon at Aeolian Hall, playing a sonata of Brahms, the Schumann "Carnival," a half-dozen of Chopin's preludes, and Weber's "Rondo Brilliant." She introduced for the first time a piece by Ethel Leginska, "The Gargoyles of Notre Dame," a work short and not sweet, in obvious debt to Ornstein and Debussy. The English pianist, whose public ministrations have been infrequent of late, was a guest in a box to hear her American interpreter, who took an encore.

Flotow's "Marta" Sung Again.

Flotow's "Marta" was repeated at the Metropolitan last evening, with Caruso, Garrison, Perini, DeLuca and Malatesta in the principal rôles. Mr. Bodansky conducted and the audience was a large one.

VANITY FAIR EDITORS OUT.

Robert Benchley Follows Mrs. Parker—Criticisms Under Fire.

Frank Crowninshield, editor of Vanity Fair, is looking about him today for a new staff as a result of a walkout which deprived him yesterday of two-thirds of his assistant editorial personnel. Only last week the monthly and one of its staff of three, Mr. Sherwood, came to a parting of the ways. Yesterday Mrs. Dorothy Parker, who had been with Vanity Fair for four years and who had been concentrating in recent seasons on the theatres, abruptly tendered her resignation. This was no sooner accepted than Robert Benchley, chief wag and managing editor of the publication, served notice that he, too, was leaving, his departure to take effect at the expiration of the sixty days' leeway his contract obliged him to give Mr. Crowninshield.

All these agitating circumstances began, said one of the departing editors last night, when, over a pleasantly decorated tea table at the Plaza, Mr. Crowninshield broke the news to Mrs. Parker that her days as dramatic critic of Vanity Fair were over. She was assured that her work in other ways would still be valued highly by the magazine. Mrs. Parker's reception of this news was complicated by the fact that she was well aware of a recent simultaneous fire of complaint on the part of offended subjects of her criticism.

Both she and Mr. Benchley resigned because they were under the impression that it was these coinciding protests which had led to her removal as dramatic critic.

One Performance to Establish Title.

Practically without scenery, Lionel Barrymore and his company will give a single performance of Eugene Brieux's "The Red Robe" at the Warburton Theatre in Yonkers tomorrow for the purpose of establishing title to the American rights to the play. The rights for this country are owned by Henry Neagle, and under the terms of a contract with Mr. Neagle John D. Williams, the producer of the play, is required to make a production on or about Jan. 1" of this year. This has been construed as meaning within two weeks of the date. The play will be known in this country as "The Letter of the law."

French Act Musical Play and Farce.

"Le Poilu," a musical piece in two acts, and "L'Anglais Tel Qu'on le Parle," a short farce, were played last night by the Theatre Parisien company. Both plays have been acted in this city on previous occasions.

MUSIC NOTES.

Josiah Zuro conducted "Faust" and "Pagliacci" last evening at De Witt Clinton High School, starting a week of opera arranged by Julius Hopp in the public schools.

S. Hurok will present the Russian dancers Michel and Vera Fokine at the Hippodrome next Sunday evening and later in five other cities on tour.

Frances Alda, with the New Symphony Orchestra, will give a benefit today at Carnegie Hall for the New York Probation and Protective Association.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Man and Woman," a play from the Spanish by Benjamin F. Glazer and Carlos Bonhomme, was produced in Harrisburg, Pa., by William A. Brady last night, with Mary Nash and Holbrook Blinn heading the cast. The piece will be brought to New York soon.

Carlotta Monterey has been engaged for "The Ruined Lady," in which Grace George will be seen at the Playhouse next week.

"The Sweetheart Shop," a musical piece by Anna Caldwell and Hugo Feltz, had its first performance last night in Baltimore.

The management of "The Greenwich Village Follies" denies that Bessie McCoy Davis is to leave that attraction.

"The Fool's Game," by Crane Wilbur, will be produced soon by John Cort, with a cast including Maude Fealy, Leonard Willey, Corbet Morris, Edward J. Keegan, Maida Turner, C. Henry Gordon, Virginia Case, Mary Emerson, and Josephine Dupree.

Comstock & Gest will produce "The Light of the World" in London on or about Easter Monday.

Maxine Elliott will make her first appearance in "Trimmed in Scarlet," by William Hurlbut, in Washington next Monday night. The piece has already been acted in London.

Hilda Englund will head a company which will give a performance in Swedish next Saturday night of Gustaf af Geijerstan's "Per Olson and His Wife," at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn.

Clicquot Club GINGER ALE

At Broadway and 55th Street

Strike in anywhere from Forty-Sixth Street to the early Fifties, and your eyes will be dazzled by the great blazing Clicquot sign atop the Hotel Woodward, at Broadway and 55th.

Your little fat friend, the jolly Clicquot Eskimo, is cracking his whip to remind you that there's no safer, healthier, nor altogether more delightful drink made than Clicquot Club Ginger Ale.

And the electric lights that ripple and twinkle up there in the sky are not more glowing and gladdening than pure golden Clicquot, leaping and sparkling in the glass.

What a joy is Clicquot—to refresh you when you reach home after a long, hard day; to give you a hearty appetite for your dinner; to serve on every social occasion; to keep always in the ice-box for yourself and every member of the family.

Clicquot Club Ginger Ale is a genuine ginger drink, made of the purest juices of lemons and limes, the best Jamaica ginger, selected cane sugar, and crystal-clear water that is carbonated to just the right degree.

New York grocers and druggists carry Clicquot Club Ginger Ale. You should buy it by the case—so that you will always have it ready to serve whenever anybody wants a drink.

Every time you see this big sign, sparkling up there so high, remember—it is to remind you that it's time to order Clicquot.

AGREEMENT IN SIGHT.

The men of both parties who are working for a compromise on the Lodge reservations to the Peace Treaty are laboring in accordance with the spirit of the country, which is unmistakably for immediate peace with Germany. No spectacle could be more bizarre than that of the nations still in arms concluding a peace with their defeated enemy, signing it, and putting it into effect, while we, who have withdrawn our soldiers and gotten out of the war, still remain technically at war. The country demands that this impossible state of affairs be ended, and the Senators who are putting forth their energies represent that demand.

Fortunately, the end is in sight. It does not take the optimistic utterances of Senators HITCHCOCK and OWEN to assure us of this. The World prints a series of reservations signed by thirty Democrats which amend the Lodge resolutions in a way to preserve their spirit while striking out or changing such phraseology as might be unacceptable to the other Powers in the League of Nations. Assuming that no more Democrats sign this pledge, thirty-four Republican votes will be needed. More than that number have signified their desire for a peace and a League of Nations.

There is, it is reported, a counter-offer now being framed by the Republicans. It cannot be very far from the offer of the Democrats, at least in spirit. Wording may have to be changed here and there, but neither party can afford to wreck the peace over a question of phraseology, and all the signs now to be seen in Washington indicate that neither has any such desire. Even Mr. LODGE himself has spoken in a different and modified tone lately. There are irreconcilables, it is true, who would object to any compromise from a mere desire to hang up the question so as to make it an issue in the coming Presidential campaign, but the wish of the country is so obviously opposed to them that their number cannot increase and is not now, even should it not decrease, great enough to place any real opposition in the way of that compromise which the great majority of both sides are anxious to reach.

In the Democratic proposal the chief obstacle to ratification, Article X., is made to recognize the power of Congress to use our military and naval forces or withhold them in any case, just as the Lodge reservation proposed. It does, however, contain the absolutely necessary recognition of our duty to take cognizance of any dangerous and unbearable situation in other countries by leaving us free to adopt measures short of war. This is in the real spirit of compromise, and the other reservations are like this crucial one.

Because of the necessity of comparing these reservations with those which the Republicans will have to offer and of reaching an agreement between the two sets, Senator HITCHCOCK is probably right in saying that a result will not be reached before the end of the month. But it will be reached, because the country's demand has risen too high to be ignored. There is no more talk now of taking the Lodge reservations raw or leaving them, nor any similar defiances. The President's Jackson Day letter is entirely compatible with such reservations as the Democrats now propose. He said he would not object to interpretative reservations, and these, with the offensive preamble dropped, are interpretative. So, we doubt not, will be any which the Republicans have to offer, however the wording may differ. Nor will that wording be provocative or offensive.

ETHNOGRAPHY MADE EASY.

Once more D'ANNUNZIO tells the world, as our army would put it, that his cause is great and beautiful and that everything else is "dementia and vileness." Since Providence has implanted in the human breast a desire to be great and beautiful, a reluctance to appear demented or vile, all of us will be eager to associate ourselves with this great cause in which alone, it appears, is to be found anything truly noble. What is the good cause, and how can we join?

At first sight it appears rather difficult. Fiume is being defended because it is "the extreme fortress of Latin culture." So the cause is Latin, and Slavs, Teutons, Anglo-Saxons, and Turanians must remain in bondage to vileness and dementia. But who are the Latins? Ask D'ANNUNZIO: "From the dauntless Sinn "Fein of Ireland to the red banner "which in Egypt unites the Crescent "and the Cross. * * * It extends "from Ireland to Egypt, from Russia "to the United States, from Rumania "to India." What seemed at first sight a narrowly racial gospel has been extended unto the Gentiles; D'ANNUNZIO is a missionary of the type of St. PAUL—and an ethnologist of the type of HOUSTON STEWART CHAMBERLAIN. Just as CHAMBERLAIN contended that every one of whom he approved was a German, so everybody who arouses the admiration of D'ANNUNZIO is a Latin, wherever he lives, and has an interest in Fiume, "the extreme fortress of Latin culture." Professor DE VALERA is Latin, then, as we might infer from his name. The Egyptians are Latin; Indians in revolt are Latin, though Indians who accept British rule are just plain Indian. "From Russia to the United States"—LENIN and TROTZKY are Latins, but DENIKIN is a Slav. President WILSON, who "crucified justice with fourteen pointless nails," could never be Latin; but Mr. WILLIAM HAYWOOD is Latin, and Mr. VICTOR BERGER. Mr. WHITNEY WARREN, apologist of the Fiume adventure, is most Latin; but Mr. NITTI must hide a barbarian and Slavic soul behind his Neapolitan exterior. D'ANNUNZIO has taken to heart the lesson of two years of disturbances over self-determination—that nationality is not a matter of blood or language, but of preference. Whoever agrees with him is great, beautiful, and Latin; whoever differs is demented and vile. There is a simplicity in this criterion which is refreshing after the doubts and uncertainties of recent years, even though Victorian persons may tell us that earlier generations than this have discovered that "orthodoxy is my doxy."

GERMAN WORDS AND DEEDS.

In all the expected sound and fury of German newspaper comment on the signing of the Treaty there is one reasonable voice, that of the Vossische Zeitung. "It is not the written word," says that paper, "but the creative deed, which can remove the "traces of physical and spiritual damage caused by the war. For Germany the first duty is to honor her "pledged word."

But will the Germans do it? That point is in doubt if we are to believe the proclamation of President EBERT to the Germans in the territories which are to be taken away from Germany and annexed to France, Belgium, Denmark, or Poland. It may be that such a defiance of the world seemed desirable from the point of view of domestic politics, but it is hard to think of any gain in party strife that can compensate for the revival of distrust in all German professions which this highest official utterance must produce. EBERT talks of "the "renunciation of German territories "without regard to the principles of "self-determination," when the whole world knows that in Alsace-Lorraine, in Slesvig, in Posen and West Prussia it is not German territory which is being given up, but territory stolen by Germany from other people without regard to the principles of self-determination, and still occupied by an anti-German majority.

This is merely a characteristic misstatement of fact and relates to the past. More serious are the phrases pointing to the future:

> Across all frontier barriers German nationality remains one entity. * * * Whatever is possible for us to do to preserve to you the mother language, the German character, and the inward spiritual union of the homeland will be done.

To be sure, we know how grievously the Germans were mistaken in their estimate of Americans of German blood. Except for a fraction, these Americans showed in the hour of decision that there was no "inward spiritual union with the homeland." But the Germans of Posen, Slesvig, and Alsace-Lorraine—almost all of them in each case immigrants who went in after Germany stole the country, carpet-baggers looking for a fortune among the defeated or the dispossessed—are not three thousand miles away from the homeland; they are just across the frontier. And the President of Germany has said that they are to continue to speak German, to think German. They will remain German outposts ready to do their part in some new struggle for conquest.

If the Germans are correctly represented by their President, the rest of the world must remain on its guard; it is characteristic of the simple-hearted Teuton to say, as President EBERT says, that "we will unceasingly urge "that promises given in the Treaty "shall be kept." You must keep your promises, but we keep no promises; you must be friendly, we remain your foes. Perhaps he does not mean it; perhaps it is only a gesture to catch popular support in the mood of the moment; but taken at the clear meaning of his own words, EBERT presents himself to the world a reduced copy of the Hohenzollern. The signature of republican Germany at Versailles ought to be worth more than the signature of imperial Germany to the treaty that guaranteed the neutrality of Belgium.

Meanwhile, it will be years before coal is taken from the French mines, years before the fruit trees in France and Rumania bear again; years before French and Belgian towns are restored, before domestic animals are anything but a curiosity on the farms of Poland and Rumania. As the Vossische Zeitung says, "only the creative "deed can remove the traces of the "spiritual and physical damage caused "by the war" which was caused by Germany. When will the Germans begin to show us the creative deed?

FOR PRESIDENT OF FRANCE.

The French Senate of 300 members, elected for nine years from citizens not less than 40 years old and renewed in a third of its membership every three years, is chosen by indirect election through an electoral college of the municipal councils of the communes and of the Deputies, Councilors General, and District Councilors. To a great extent it is an assembly of notables. Thus, at Sunday's election President POINCARE, not a candidate, was chosen. So were Mr. BOURGEOIS and Mr. RIBOT, former Premier; Mr. PICHON, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and several other present or recent Ministers. It is interesting to remember that Mr. CLEMENCEAU opposed vigorously forty years ago the creation of a Senate not elected by direct popular vote. He continued to grow more Republican while GAMBETTA was naturally growing more Opportunist.

It is interesting to recall that Mr. PAMS, Minister of the Interior, just elected to the Senate, was Mr. CLEMENCEAU'S candidate for President against Mr. POINCARE. Mr. CLEMENCEAU for once failed to elect his man, though Mr. SADI CARNOT, Mr. LOUBET, and Mr. FALLIERES, as distinctively his candidates, had won easily. For a long time there was ill-feeling between Mr. CLEMENCEAU and Mr. POINCARE, or at least between their suspicious supporters. The sacred union abolished or postponed much of their hostility. Now the old Tiger himself will be elected President by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies in joint session unless he makes an absolute refusal.

Why should he? If the President of the Republic has not so much power as Mr. CLEMENCEAU has loved, if Mr. CLEMENCEAU has preferred to overthrow rather than to select Ministries, yet the post is great and honorable, that of a modest constitutional sovereign. To hold it will be to round out one of the most salient, valiant, and illustrious of careers. The etiquette and the ceremonies will bore Mr. CLEMENCEAU; but surely he cannot think of himself in the matter. Spontaneously the French people have chosen to pay a new honor to the dauntless suppressor of revolutionary intrigue, the dauntless organizer of victory.

As the Senate, full of his old enemies, voted unanimously that he had "well deserved the gratitude of the country," so Senators and Deputies seek to thrust this new reward upon him. He is only 79—not that chronology has much jurisdiction over his impetuous spirit. Regarding his life as a work of art, why should he not decorate it with this last honor?

INVESTIGATING MEXICO AGAIN.

The Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, of which Mr. FALL of New Mexico is Chairman, resumes at San Antonio this morning its inquiry into conditions in Mexico, the chief purpose of which is to recommend what measures shall be taken to solve an irrepressible problem. Shall Mexico be allowed to work out her destiny in her own way, provided that American claims are settled and her ability to protect nationals is demonstrated; or shall the United States take a short cut to reimbursement and satisfaction by intervening, pacifying the country, and instructing the Mexicans in the business of democratic government? Senator FALL will take the chair in the committee room this morning after having failed to bring about a rupture of diplomatic relations with Mexico.

On Dec. 3 Mr. FALL introduced in the Senate a resolution requesting the President to withdraw his recognition of VENUSTIANO CARRANZA as President of Mexico, "and to sever all diplo-"matic relations now existing be-"tween this Government and the "pretended Government of CAR-"RANZA." In speaking to his resolution Senator FALL charged the Mexican Embassy, the Mexican Consul General at New York, and Mexican Consuls on the border with aiding in the dissemination of anti-American, revolutionary, and Bolshevist propaganda in this country, and Mr. FALL declared that "their action is indorsed by VENUSTIANO CARRANZA himself." The accused diplomatic officers emphatically denied the charges. President CARRANZA made no answer.

Senator FALL'S resolution had a brief life as a curiosity in Senatorial strategy. It was killed by a polite letter from President WILSON with a sting in it. The President supposed that "every competent constitutional authority" would support him in the statement that "the initiative in di-"recting relations with foreign Gov-"ernments was assigned to the Execu-"tive alone," and the Fall resolution succumbed with the embarrassed approval of Chairman LODGE of the Foreign Relations Committee.

But Senator FALL holds on. He is going to see the investigation through and help it along, although he added to his first indiscretion by saying in an interview on Dec. 31:

> The United States is drifting inevitably toward war with Mexico because of the unstatesmanlike manner in which this country has handled diplomatic matters with the Southern Republic.

Mr. FALL, however, asserted that he did not want "armed intervention." He will have an opportunity to prove it in his direction of the committee hearings resumed at San Antonio. After listening to 300 witnesses there, the committee will hold sessions at El Paso and in the Big Bend country. Everybody is to be heard, including emissaries from FRANCISCO VILLA and MANUEL PALAEZ, the Tampico district rebel leader. It is bound to be an interesting investigation, but whether the situation will be clarified remains to be seen. Where there are so many witnesses and so many authorities, so many prejudices and so many axes to grind, it may be difficult to get Truth up from the bottom of her well.

NATIONAL BUDGETS.

President NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER takes a ground on budget reform above those who regard it as either a plan for the President to control Congress or to give Congress a club to control the President's use of the funds which Congress votes. The country needs a budget more than any department, or than all departments. The country provides the taxes which Congress votes and which the President spends. A budget is merely a means of providing the funds for necessary uses and of seeing that they are devoted to those uses. It is not a means of spending money provided in excess, as is customary with us. Nor is it a means of saving money necessary to be spent. The providing and the spending are complementary portions of work to be done in the manner best for the country as a whole, and that can only be done by a machine which functions as a unit without superfluous wheels or the omission of necessary wheels. President BUTLER approves something of each of the pending plans, but prefers the McCormick method of establishing the President's responsibility for the budget. The chief difference between the plans is that the Good plan gives the President a budget bureau attached to the executive department, whereas the McCormick plan makes the Treasury the President's agency to the same end.

It is clear from the nature of the Treasury's duties that it must in any case cover most of the ground, and that to create another bureau is to multiply the machinery without increasing efficiency, but increasing the cost and friction. The object should be to get the departments into co-operation, not to create balance between them. That is effete politics, alien to the needs of a country which never felt the need of subordinating Kings to the popular will. The American budget is the budget of the people, not of the President, although he prepares it for them, or rather should do so under budget reform. There is nothing peculiarly British about a budget, and it may be added that the British apology for a budget is a poor affair. The submission of the budget to Parliament is as much a formality as the reading of the speech from the throne, and much more so than the reading of the President's message to Congress. The British budget gives no more information about Treasury expenditures than our Post Office accounts give about its costs. There is a British public accounts committee, supposed to embody Parliament's views of the wisdom and efficiency of the use of the supplies voted by the party in power. That duty is performed with a large measure of public spirit, but it remains a matter of criticism of one party's procedure by its opponent, and oftener than not passes without discussion. We need something different from the British plan, and superior to it, as appears from the fact that the British are now as critical of the defects of their plan as we are of our lack of any plan.

Budgets may be ever so wisely framed, and yet may fall of effect in administration. That is the reason why there should be a "follow up" system, as well as a preparation system. President BUTLER'S proposal is that Congress should prepare the budget as a unit, act upon it as a unit, and criticise the administration of the budget as a unit, not as a matter of parliamentary. For that purpose he would provide Congress with a public audit committee, the minority to supply the Chairman, its duty being to report to Congress upon the efficiency of the execution of the budget. Little is said of that, and yet it is among the chief objects of budget reform. It ought to expose "overlapping and duplication of effort." In differing with President BUTLER on some points, Senator SMOOT said that there are thirty-seven engineer organizations in the Government today, and forty-six public health agencies doing exactly the same work. Secretary GLASS'S statement yesterday furnishes another practical application of President BUTLER'S argument that budgets ought to control the use of funds as well as the supply of them. Secretary GLASS gives timely notice that there may be another Liberty Loan if Congress either makes excessive appropriations or reduces taxation immoderately. He does not consider that expenses may be reduced or that taxes may be made both more productive and less oppressive. It would be the function of a budget to make prudent plans on all such proposals. No budget could propose taxes such as we now suffer under, nor such expenditures as are even now under preparation by our log-rollers. In order that budgets may look forward as well as backward, President BUTLER favors the appearance of heads of departments in Congress, where they could answer questions, and thus give information to guide Congress's action. Our first Secretary of the Treasury did so, and knew what she was talking about. Senator SMOOT said yesterday that in his experience Cabinet officers were less useful as sources of information than their subordinates. If the Secretaries had to appear before Congress, they would generally inform themselves better than now seems necessary when other sorts of politics than budget politics occupy first place in the thoughts of some of them.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Severe Strain on Credulity.

As a method of sending a missile to the highest, and even to the highest, part of the earth's atmospheric envelope, Professor GODDARD'S multiple-charge rocket is a practicable, and therefore promising, device. Such a rocket, too, might carry self-recording instruments, to be released at the limit of its flight, and conceivably parachutes would bring them safely to the ground. It is not obvious, however, that the instruments would return to the point of departure; indeed, it is obvious that they would not, for parachutes drift exactly as balloons do. And the rocket, or what was left of it after the last explosion, would have to be aimed with amazing skill, and in a dead calm, to fall on the spot whence it started.

But that is a slight inconvenience, at least from the scientific standpoint, though it might be serious enough from that of the always innocent bystander a few hundred or thousand yards away from the firing line. It is when one considers the multiple-charge rocket as a traveler to the moon that one begins to doubt and looks again, to see if the dispatch announcing the professor's purposes and hopes says that he is working under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution. It does say so, and therefore the impulse to do more than doubt the practicability of such a device for such a purpose must be—well, controlled. Still, to be filled with uneasy wonder and to express it will be safe enough, for after the rocket quits our air and really starts on its longer journey, its flight would be neither accelerated nor maintained by the explosion of the charges it then might have left. To claim that it would be is to deny a fundamental law of dynamics, and only Dr. EINSTEIN and his chosen dozen, so few and fit, are licensed to do that.

His Plan Is Not Original.

That Professor GODDARD, with his "chair" in Clark College and the countenancing of the Smithsonian Institution, does not know the relation of action to reaction, and of the need to have something better than a vacuum against which to react—to say that would be absurd. Of course he only seems to lack the knowledge ladled out daily in high schools.

But there are such things as intentional mistakes or oversights, and, as it happens, JULES VERNE, who also knew a thing or two in assorted sciences—and had, besides, a surprising amount of prophetic power—deliberately seemed to make the same mistake that Professor GODDARD seems to make. For the Frenchman, having got his travelers to or toward the moon into the desperate fix of riding a tiny satellite of the satellite, saved them from circling it forever by means of an explosion, rocket fashion, where an explosion would not have had in the slightest degree the effect of releasing them from their dreadful slavery. That was one of VERNE'S few scientific slips, or else it was a deliberate step aside from scientific accuracy, pardonable enough in him as a romancer, but its like is not so easily explained when made by a savant who isn't writing a novel of adventure.

All the same, if Professor GODDARD'S rocket attains sufficient speed before it passes out of our atmosphere—which is a thinkable possibility—and if its aiming takes into account all of the many deflective forces that will affect its flight, it may reach the moon. That the rocket could carry enough explosive to make an impact a flash large and bright enough to be seen from the earth by the biggest of our telescopes—that will be believed when it is done.

Our Help Needed in Mexico.

From Cordoba, a town in the Mexican State of Vera Cruz, the Rev. F. J. KELLY has sent to THE TIMES a dispatch which reads: "Your efforts in behalf of the earthquake sufferers would be highly appreciated." This message was forwarded from the City of Vera Cruz by the American Consul there, but that authentication was not needed to prove that help from the United States is needed by the many thousands of people who, escaping death in the terrible seismic disturbances of the last week, now find themselves homeless, destitute, and helpless in a devastated region of wide extent.

The grievances of the American Government against that of Mexico in no degree or way affect the fact that a great need for help has arisen, and if is more than a duty that the help should come from this country, promptly and generously—it is also an opportunity to diminish or remove the distrust of the United States felt by so many Mexicans as a result of the vicious propaganda to which they have been exposed by German agents and their own politicians.

Both the duty and the opportunity come within the sphere of our Red Cross. It has the money and the experience required for meeting the emergency created by the volcanic eruptions, and there is a Mexican Red Cross to co-operate with which it presumably can work effectively. That seems a better plan than an attempt to raise money by popular subscription—a form of activity which has become somewhat wearisome here of late through frequent repetition.

Narrowly Missed Victory.

New Zealand's prohibitionists, having cost a vote of 270,000, as against 240,000 for a continuance of the licensing system now in operation and $2,000 in favor of State purchase and control of the liquor traffic, are not apt to be discouraged by a defeat that came within only a few less than 3,000 of being a victory.

That they did not carry the referendum as it was must be due to some constitutional or statutory requirement of a majority of all the votes cast, instead of a mere plurality. Being obstinate folk—or determined ones, if that word is better liked—the prohibitionists will try again, and the indications are that next time the islands will "go dry"—an alarming or enheartening prospect, according to the point of view.

THE GREATEST NEED.

Ratify the Treaty and Establish the League of Nations.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have just returned from a trip to Europe, where I went to study business conditions.

The most important thing to do to restore international business is to ratify at once the treaty of peace and to establish a modified League of Nations. May I venture to point out that on Oct. 1, 1902, I addressed a letter from Europe to my business organization in which I stated: "One of the handicaps European nations have to meet is the waste of three years of the life of every citizen in the army. European countries will never be on a par with America in the race for commercial supremacy until they reduce their armies. Commercial supremacy means so much that I prophesy this will be done during the lifetime of some of our people. I believe that the countries of the world will form a league. All questions of dispute will be left to arbitration, and the different countries will have a common army and navy to enforce the decisions of arbitration and preserve order. One army of the world will suffice for all countries. It is in the great line of progress—it is bound to come. What a great saving this will be to the world."

A League of Nations would be the cornerstone of peace. The present League is not perfect—nothing human is—but it may be the best we can get now. It is the first time in history that the nations of the world have volunteered to come together. Understandings could be arrived at peaceably which would save millions of lives and billions of dollars. The League gives the best machinery for peace; it is the world's first attempt to outlaw war; it would apply the principles of the Monroe Doctrine to the entire world and strong nations would be pledged to help and protect the weaker nations.

The Western Colleges.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The letter of Henry A. Stimson in your issue of Dec. 10, with the headline "Forgotten Colleges," impels me to call attention to other forgotten colleges, the colleges and universities west of the Mississippi.

We of the West need attention. Our colleges, too, must pay better salaries, must provide modern laboratories, must enlarge libraries, must establish more chairs, more scholarships, and more prizes.

In California alone there are over 100,000 young people today in the high schools of the State, and there are only two universities, California and Stanford, and two colleges, Mills and Pomona, that are of standing recognized by the Association of American Universities. Of these Mills College (Oakland) is the only woman's college in all the territory west of the Mississippi. These institutions, each and every one, have outgrown their buildings and are overworking the teaching staff to an outrageous degree. The earnest young President of Reed College of Portland, Ore., resigned only the other day because of hopelessly inadequate income from endowment.

May I urge that as a nation we sink or swim together; that even so far away there are those on this Pacific Coast who rejoice in a greater Technology, a greater Harvard, a greater Smith, a greater Holyoke, and in notable foundations for music, for art, for medicine? We who read THE TIMES and perhaps are graduates of Eastern colleges are more conscious of these inestimable gifts for the public good. But what of the young people who cannot afford to go more than a short distance from home for a college education, who are crowded out from whatever facilities may be near at hand, who become local-minded, smug individuals, holding back social progress, unable to cope with national problems, unworthy leaders of the coming generations—because ours of the West are forgotten colleges?

A Correction on Suffrage.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will you kindly permit the correction of an error which in some way crept into my letter published in THE TIMES of today? The sentence: "The Federal Suffrage Amendment passed both houses of the Georgia Legislature" should read "failed to pass both houses," as the context plainly shows.

IDA HUSTED HARPER.

THE MIRACLE.

Oh, the daily cost of living
Rises higher, like a flame,
But the little home Love builded
Thrives and prospers just the same!
There is warmth and cheer a-plenty,
There is food upon the shelf,
And a corner by the hearthside
For the God of Love himself.
There he curls, where none may spy him,
And I think he understands
Just how far the two have traveled
Who set out with empty hands.

Ah, at times the way was weary—
'Twas a thorny road and rough,
But what worlds two hearts can conquer,
Given love and faith enough!
In the crib in yonder corner
Love's most precious guerdon lies;
Heavy lids with slumber laden
Hide the laughter in his eyes.
Can the gardens of the wealthy
Show a fairer bloom than this?
Can the heart be starved for flowers
That has rosebud lips to kiss?

Nay, we go not clad in velvet,
And the only gem we own
Is the jewel of contentment—
A right rare and precious stone!
Having books, who yearns for rubies?
Having music, who needs gold?
Youth lacks never food for laughter;
Sorrows shared are soon consoled.
He who counts the cost too often
Plays a cautious, lonely part;
May the little home Love builded
Spur the hesitating heart!

TO FIGHT CLOSED SHOP.

Buffalo Commercial Reduces Price for This Purpose.

BUFFALO, Jan. 12.—The Commercial today announced a reduction to 1 cent for papers sold by newsboys and newsdealers. The Commercial is the oldest newspaper in Buffalo, and always has sold for 2 cents or more, the price having been 2 cents for more than thirty years.

No change in price will be made for the present where delivery is made out of town or to the home, because of distribution costs, it was stated.

The announcement added: "This reduction is offered in response to the suggestion of many representative citizens who, recognizing the Americanizing of our open-shop campaign, want its educational value placed within the reach of even the most humble workmen. Read the truth about the non-working agitators who have conscripted or intend to conscript you into their lawless system of industrial slavery by means of the closed shop."

INDUSTRIAL BOARD MEETS.

Commission for Labor Peace Will Summon Economic Experts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Wilson's Industrial Relations Commission returned today the sessions which it adjourned on completing and giving to the public a preliminary report on its program for bringing about industrial peace in the United States.

A mass of material, comment and criticism on the preliminary report was laid before members when they convened, and after adjournment it was announced that the commission planned to summon to Washington a considerable number of industrial and labor leaders, students of economics and others, to explain in person their comments and suggestions upon its program.

Secretary of Labor Wilson, Chairman, and Herbert Hoover, Vice Chairman of the commission, were present today, and there was a full attendance of other members.

Wall, made by Stevenson, went to W. W. Seaman, agent, for $560, and to the same buyer went a second octagonal platter, 16¼ inches by 12¼, in dark blue, "View of the Esplanade and Castle Garden, New York," with floral border, made by Stevenson, for $800, the highest price of the sale.

BARRETT ACCUSES ALLIES.

Says They Are Trying to Take Away South American Trade.

John Barrett, Director General of the Pan American Union, speaking last night at the City Club, 55 West Forty-fourth Street, asserted that the commercial relations between the United States and the Latin American countries had reached a critical phase for several reasons. He said that there was being circulated in these countries a subtle anti-United States propaganda which could be traced not to German sources, but rather to "our former Allies."

Moreover, he said that we had not provided the shipping facilities needed by those countries, and also that we were not loaning them the money which European countries would probably loan to them after it first had been borrowed from us.

Mr. Barrett said he wished to "smash the bogey of German trade supremacy in Latin America." He quoted figures which showed that just before the war the total exports and imports to and from Latin America were for Germany $300,000,000, for Great Britain $600,000,000, and for the United States $800,000,000, while during the last year it had passed the $2,000,000,000 mark for the United States.

The Director General said that Mexico was the sore in the body of Pan Americanism and that he hoped leadership would be given this country and Mexico to solve the problem, as the two countries should be allied as much as Canada and the United States.

GOLD STOCKS HERE DROP.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Reserve stocks of precious metals in this country were reduced more than $441,000,000 in the calendar year 1919, according to a statement today by the Federal Reserve Board.

Gold exports amounted to $288,144,648, of which $94,116,189 went to Japan, $60,000,000 to Argentina, $40,045,260 to Hong Kong, $30,100,700 to China, $24,800,000 to British India, and $20,776,000 to Spain. Imports totaled $16,544,086, most of it coming from Canada and Hong Kong.

Silver exports were valued at $239,001,051. British India taking $109,180,718, China $77,583,407, and Hong Kong $10,225,351 for coinage purposes. The growing European demand for silver for currency was shown in $18,691,384 exports of silver to England, $6,584,197 to France, and $2,094,564 to the Netherlands.

Imports of silver were $89,339,886, of which $63,363,437 came from Mexico.

Supreme Court Finds 1907 Order to Fix Average Weight Is Valid.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Validity of the order issued by the Postmaster General in 1907 establishing a division of seven days instead of six for determining the daily average weight of mails carried during test weeks by the railroads as a basis for fixing their annual compensation was upheld today by the Supreme Court. Upon the decision rested the disposition of $35,000,000 in claims of about 200 carriers.

The railroads contended that the seven-day method was unfair and reduced their compensation as well as upset a practice of thirty-four years' duration. Railroads attacking the order included the Northern Pacific, Seaboard Air Line, New York Central and Kansas City, Mexico & Orient.

MEADOW TO REPLACE OLD PARK RESERVOIR

SPEEDWAY TO BE PAVED

Francis D. Gallatin, Commissioner of Parks, yesterday outlined plans for improving the parks and parkways of the city. The Commissioner said that, notwithstanding the recent agitation for a stadium in the abandoned receiving reservoir in Central Park, he believed the project had been given up and that he was in favor of having the old reservoir leveled and a meadow laid out. His proposals call for the following:

Repaving Riverside Drive extension.

Constructing a monumental water gate on the Hudson River to be used as a landing place for the reception of distinguished visitors.

Creating one or more large parks on Staten Island.

Revitalizing the trees and meadows of the parks.

Placing artistic benches in Fifth Avenue.

Contracts for resurfacing the West Drive and repaving the East Drive in Central Park, and for repaving the Riverside Drive extension from the northerly end of the viaduct at 129th Street to 157th Street have been let and work will begin as soon as weather permits. Recently, the Commissioner said, there had been considerable criticism from individuals and in the press of the driveways in Central Park and of Riverside Drive, much of which, he said, was well merited.

"The condition of some of the driveways," he said, "is deplorable, and no one knows that better than I do. We have been doing everything in our power to improve their condition, but have been unable to accomplish much until now for lack of money. However, we have obtained an appropriation for these improvements, and now, that the contracts have been let, it will be only a few months until these roadways are just as good as those of lower Riverside Drive, which are the finest in the country."

With the opening of the Speedway to automobiles, it has become necessary to provide a permanent roadbed, the Commissioner said. This will cost about $1,500,000, according to an estimate of Park Department engineers, and will require also the construction of a bulkhead. With the abandonment of the Speedway as a driving track, the need for a new track has appeared, the Commissioner said. A delegation from the Road Drivers' Association called on the Commissioner yesterday and advocated a half-mile track either in Manhattan or the Bronx.

Regarding the plan to make a meadow on the site of the old reservoir in Central Park, Commissioner Gallatin pointed out that the ground set aside for extensions to the Museum of Art would make it desirable to preserve the park's vistas by turning the land now occupied by the reservoir into a meadow. Another urgent need in the opinion of the Park Commissioner is a monumental water gate where distinguished visitors may make their entry into the city with proper ceremony. In its present condition, he said, the use of the Battery is wholly unsuitable, while the use of a private yacht club landing is equally undesirable. To obviate this condition and at the same time add to the beauty of the city, the Commissioner proposes that the city erect a monumental water gate somewhere between Eightieth and Ninetieth Streets where there is considerable vacant, filled-in land.

It is also desirable, the Commissioner believes, to erect a recreation centre and canteen in the same locality. The present canteen must be removed and Secretary of War Baker has written the Commissioner, telling him of the great service it has done. Since this locality has become the landing place of North American soldiers from foreign ships, some building should be erected, the Commissioner said, in which they might assemble when on shore.

On Staten Island, the Commissioner pointed out, there are miles and miles of beautiful country admirably suited for park purposes. He has had experts from his department look over the ground and take photographs. The places proposed for parks are Egbertville, Beech Forests, Clove Lake, Richmond Lake, and land in the vicinity of the Asters Home.

With the advent of Spring work looking to revitalising the city's trees, especially those in Central Park, will be begun, said the Commissioner. Foresters are now at work on the job, which calls for the trimming of the branches and the building of irrigation systems to save the present trees, rather than to plant new ones.

The beautifying of Park Avenue will be started this Spring also, the Commissioner said. The purpose is to plant pyramidal cedars along the parkway in the centre of the street. These, being formal in appearance, he believes will harmonize with the surroundings, and the smoke holes, now surrounded with railings, will be decorated with symmetrical vases for approximately two miles.

The city is much in need of a municipal nursery and sod farm, the Commissioner said, and he proposes to apply to the proper authorities for the use of one of the new islands in the Sound now being filled in. Fifth Avenue, from Fifty-ninth to 110th Street, along the Park side, is to be provided with artistic concrete benches, with tops of green wood. These will be rooted in the ground.

The Commissioner is having an investigation made of the recreational facilities of the city with a view to determining what is needed to accommodate the ever-increasing numbers of children who find themselves forced into the streets for lack of playgrounds.

Commissioner Gallatin also announced that on Friday, Jan. 23, he would offer by public auction the lease of the Claremont Restaurant, at Riverside Drive and 126th Street. The place is at present under lease to Ralph A. Gushee, who

E. H. Hunter and Emerson McMillin, 3d, In Prominent Roles at Benefit for Grosvenor House.

The old-time popular musical comedy, "The Runaway Girl," was revived last night by society amateurs at a performance given at the Plaza for the benefit of the Grosvenor Neighborhood House. An appreciative assembly greeted the comedy, the tinkling musical numbers of Lionel Monckton and Ivan Caryll coming as the scent of lavender to those present who remembered its first presentation, while the younger set acclaimed the appearance of their friends in the cast. The performance will be repeated tonight.

Miss Julia Shanley had the rôle of Winifred Grey, the orphan child, and Miss Emily Burchell, that of Fifi. Both were well received, and Miss Caramai Carroll made a hit as Carmenita, one of the band of wandering minstrels, singing the well-remembered airs of "Barcelona" and "Carnival," with Pietro, the chief of the band, played by F. Hayward Hunter, also "Society."

Miss Shanley sang "The Boy Guessed Right," and of course there was Flipper, the race track "bookie," played by Emerson McMillin, 3d, who led Lord and Lady Goodle, the Cook's tourists, played respectively by Mr. and Mrs. Reginald T. Townsend, and others, in that merry ditty, "Follow the Man from Cook's," which led at the finale over and around everything in the hotel courtyard at Ajaccio, Corsica.

Guy Stanley, who was John W. Warburton in real life, sang "Not the Sort of Girl I Care About," while Miss Olive T. Foster, as Dorothy, his sister, a Cook's tourist, headed the dashing military song and ensemble of "The Soldiers in the Park."

Others in the cast who appeared to advantage were Miss Katherine D. Exton, as Alice, Lady Goodle's maid, who, with Flipper, headed "The Pickaninnies"; Gerald Reynolds and Arthur H. Hunter, two of the minstrel band, and Wallace Codu, as the Hon. Bobby Barclay. The production was staged by Miss Grace R. Henry.

There was a chorus of pretty girls, including the Misses Emily F. Burchell, Dorothy Clarke, Florence Clendenin, Josephine Flood, Grace Hendricks, Helen Johnson, Marie Lamarche, Edyth McCoon, Genevieve Mangam, Isabel McMillin, Elsie Morrill, Helen Schneiwind, Katherine Sharpe, Virginia Sterry, Marie Thayer, Margaret Wallace, and Margaret Warren.

The chorus men, made up as peasants and tourists included Kenneth Lyle, Charles Blount, Jr., James M. Fox, Field Griffin, Jack Snowden, R. E. Bellinger, and William Glennon.

As a sideline there was a supper counter, presided over by the Misses Polly Dairnroach, Helen James, Katherine Bulkley, Myra Fraser, Elizabeth Griggs, and Louise Dixon. The programs, with an attractive black and blue silhouette cover, by Betty Thompson, were sold by a bevy of society girls, the Misses Helen Cameron, Renee Carhart, Mary Hurd, Martha Keep, Clara Lee, Margaret Monell, Helen Lee, Betty Remsen, and Lillian Remsen.

Mitchell-Walsh Wedding Jan. 20.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Rosetta Lecellia Walsh and Walter B. J. Mitchell, which is to take place on Thursday evening, Jan. 29, at 6 o'clock, in St. Mary's Church, Yonkers.

Miss Walsh is the daughter of State Tax Commissioner and former Mayor Michael J. Walsh and Mrs. Walsh. Mr. Mitchell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Mitchell, and is a lawyer. He was appointed as Public Safety Commissioner in January, 1918. During the war he enlisted in the naval reserve as chief boatswain's mate, and received a commission as Ensign.

John Dodge Now Gravely Ill.

John Dodge, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, who has been suffering since Wednesday last with an attack of the grip in his apartment at the Ritz-Carlton, was reported last night by his physician, Dr. Ira L. Hill, to be in a grave condition, the disease having developed into pneumonia. His brother, Horace Dodge, who recently passed successfully the crisis of a pneumonia attack, was said to be recovering. The two brothers are living together at the hotel, having come here ten days ago for the automobile show.

Dr. Britton D. Evans Seriously Ill.

MORRIS PLAINS, N. J., Jan. 12.—Dr. Britton D. Evans, Superintendent of the State Hospital, one of the best known alienists in the country, is seriously ill. Dr. Evans came into national prominence as one of the experts at the first trial of Harry K. Thaw, and advanced the theory that Thaw was suffering from a "brain storm" at the time he killed Stanford White. Dr. Evans has testified in many other noted murder trials. He is 61 years old, and suffering from a complication of diseases.

DEPOSITS

This bank seeks accounts primarily on the basis of safety and service, but it also pays conservative interest on balances of $1000 and over.

Our policy in this respect is upheld by the Federal Reserve Board, which is now discouraging competition for deposits on the basis of interest paid. Our judgment is further confirmed by a Washington conference of bankers representing clearing house associations, which has just passed a resolution,

"That payment of high rates of interest on bank or commercial balances is unsound and is bad banking, and that every effort should be made to avoid such practice."

GARMENT WAGES UP, PRODUCTION LESS

Manufacturer Says That Employes Slowed Up After Their Wages Were Increased.

Garment manufacturers testified to the increased cost of garments by reason of the increased pay to the workers during the last few months at the hearing yesterday before the Governor's Special Board, headed by Chairman Edward F. Boyle, of the State Industrial Commission, appointed to settle the wage dispute between employers and employes in the garment industry in New York City.

Meyer London, counsel for the union, said his clients charged the employers with profiteering and he urged that the Board bring out the cost of labor as applied to the cost to the consumer.

Harry P. Belsinger, of 90 Madison Avenue, testified that his shop was one of the first that was compelled to change from piece work to the week wage basis. He said that comparing the pay of men from the Spring of 1917 up to date, using the slowest workmen as a basis, the wages had gone from $20 in 1917 to $40 in August, 1919, for an ordinary tailor, and that the wages on the best of the group of $26.45 to $40 for more productive operators from $35.50 to $55.50, and of the most productive, $43.50 to $75. About two weeks ago, he said, the shop committee asked for about 30 per cent. increase in wages. When he refused they stopped work, but returned when the Governor's Board took up the controversy.

Mr. Belinger told the board that he employed ten or twelve old men, who by reason of their age cannot earn to exceed $15 a week, but he testified the union compelled him to keep them on at $40 a week, which was more than the minimum scale fixed in the June contract. If he dismissed these men, he said, the others would quit work.

Evidence of a similar nature was given by M. Levy of Levy & Friedman, 40 West Twenty-fifth Street, and S. L. Silver of 9 West Thirty-second Street.

Payrolls of 185 of the concerns in the association were then offered by Mr. Klein, who said that those of the remainder would be offered later.

Abe Millman Says

"Did you ever see my Joan of Arc Smocks? They are the very symbol of style! Such models, rich in variety of design and materials, strike you as having just left the highly artistic interior of some Oriental studio—all shaped by masterful hands!"

Joan of Arc SMOCK

Today's Special Offering

I am especially proud of the numbers that comprise my $36.00 line of smocks. It is a wonderful example of what I mean by real seemingly impossible values.

To see this number in its remarkable variety of unique styles, its appealingly charming array of beautifully colored fabrics, with pretty little hand-embroidered motifs on the collars and sleeves and pockets—you would admit that I am a wonder!

Materials are of Pickwick Linen and Lin Flax—in sizes from 8 to 20, and 34 to 44. Some of the following shades were especially blended for me. They are certainly beautiful!

IVORY	FLESH
BISQUE	BLUE DAWN
LEAGUE GOLD	PEACH BLOOM
ADRIATIC	APRICOT
ORCHID	BERMUDA
SILVER GRAY	COPEN

To illustrate the garments featured would subject them to imitation. I, therefore, will show from day to day only the original sources from which they were designed.

36.00 PER DOZ.

SPECIAL ASSORTMENTS

Order by wire or mail our special assortments in $300 and $500 lots. Newspaper cuts and advertising matter go free of charge.
Due to the unstable manufacturing conditions, and also the novelties these assortments comprise, samples cannot be sent out.
This line can be seen in our showrooms or in your city when our salesman calls.

Radiaknit
Banner SILK JERSEY CLOTHS
STRENGTH of fabric and durability in wear-performance are outstanding characteristics of Radiaknit. Its unusual lasting brilliancy has its source deep beneath the surface of the cloth itself.
Radiaknit does not sag, lies flat when slit by cutter up (it will not curl) and keeps its beauty till the last. Its application is universal.

COMMERCIAL PAPER.
Yesterday ....6 per cent. for the best names.
Saturday .....6 per cents for the best names.
The quotations are for six months' paper.

Against Allotments.

A few of the manufacturers of women's garments, who have had an opportunity to see the dress goods for next Fall before they are formally opened to the trade, are far from pleased with the allotment system that will be followed in the marketing of goods for the next season. One of them expressed himself yesterday as unable to do business on the small amount of goods permitted him by the mills. It will be necessary for him, he said, to obtain a large additional supply from other sources at much higher prices than the mills made.

Not Much Variety Offered.

The new lines for Fall, 1920, in woolens, it is said, show very little change from the standpoint of variety. The so-called staple goods, such as serges, from all accounts will not be offered in abundant quantities. At the same time prices are expected to show as much as a 20 per cent. advance. While the quantity of goods is limited, dress goods buyers do not profess to see any possibility of a downward revision of values, and the lack of variety is also serving to keep the demand so concentrated that there seems no prospect of a surplus developing.

Still More Gray Goods Records.

Prices continued to advance merrily in the local market for gray goods yesterday, although the volume of business transacted was only fairly large. Among the new printcloth records established during the day were 33 cents for April-June deliveries of 39-inch 80 squares and 33¼ cents for Eastern January-February 38½-inch 64-60s. Southern makes of the latter construction brought 33 cents for the same deliveries. What spot lots of the 80 squares would be worth, could they be had, could only be conjectured. January shipments of 56-60, four-yard sheetings brought 36 cents, with 17½ cents paid by buyers for January-March lots of 5.50 sheetings.

Burlap Prices Were Stronger.

Prices were somewhat firmer in the local market for burlaps yesterday, and the trade throughout took on a firmer tone. Inquiries were more numerous than for quite a while and, although the amount of business actually transacted could easily have been larger, leading factors in the trade expressed the opinion that a more active market was at hand. The greater strength of local prices, which were quoted on the basis of 12 cents for 8-ounce and 16.35 cents for 10½-ounce 40-inch goods, was attributed largely to the improved situation at Calcutta, where higher levels have recently been reached. Another bullish factor is the situation at Dundee, which not only has prices high and well sustained, but which is very largely sold up on goods wanted for delivery this side of July 1.

Fashion is to Blame for It.

Fashion was accused again yesterday of being largely responsible for the high cost of living, so far as wearing apparel is concerned, but this time the charge differed from those ordinarily made. Usually it is said that Fashion demands all kinds of expensive trimmings, thus boosting the price of a garment without adding anything to its wearing qualities. Yesterday it was contended that Fashion makes life expensive by concentrating demand on a few things, thus putting into fullest effect the law of supply and demand and forcing up the prices of the favored merchandise. Let the favored article be a kind of silk, it was asserted, and the woman who wants that kind of silk and no other. The same is true of furs and of materials for shoes. Women object to wearing uniforms now that the vogue for them supplied by the war is passed, and yet it is contended that in nothing do they follow greater uniformity than in their demands for "fashionable" things.

Will Henna Come Back?

One of the many mental speculations in regard to women's wear for the coming Spring season, and by no means the least important, is as to whether the shade known as henna will come back or not. This color was strongly supported by the leading French fashion makers a few seasons ago and had a pretty fair measure of success on this side of the Atlantic. Now it appears to be growing in favor again with buyers of women's outer garments, more particularly with buyers of dresses. Due to this fact, predictions are being made here that it will be one of the leading millinery colors also.

MASONS PENALIZED FOR USE OF GERMAN

NEW APPEAL TO THE COURTS

Master Will Seek Restoration of Rights—Two Hundred Members Are Affected.

Because the use of the German language in its ritual was persisted in, despite the ban of the Grand Lodge, the charter of Schiller Lodge, F. and A. M., in Newark was "arrested" yesterday. The effect of this action is to deprive the two hundred members of the organization from further Masonic activities until the case of their lodge is disposed of by the Grand Lodge when it meets next May.

An effort is to be made, however, through the courts to compel restoration of the charter before that time, according to Otto A. Stiefel, counsel for John Piemenik, master of Schiller Lodge. Stiefel said yesterday that he would move this week to amend a petition he filed in the Court of Chancery in the Fall when the controversy was at an earlier stage, so as to bring about a court review of the latest step by the Grand Lodge.

The original petition was filed after Piemenik had been removed as master because the lodge persisted in using German after a resolution of the State Grand Lodge forbidding the employment of any language but English in the Masonic ritual. This petition prayed that the resolution be made nonactive, but owing to Piemenik having been re-elected promptly after he was removed the court action was allowed to languish.

REPORT MISS DE KAY "ALIVE AND WELL"

Untraced Telephone Message to Chicago Police Claims Reward for Her Recovery.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Jeanne Anna De Kay, protegé of Jane Addams, who has been missing from Hull House for fourteen days, is "alive and well," according to an untraced telephone message which was given to the police early today. A woman's voice gave the information to the authorities, and the police said she also put in a claim for the reward offered in the case.

The search has extended to New York and Providence, R. I.

Local searchers have lost touch also with Dadie Salter, a young Rumanian woman, who came to America on the same steamer with Miss De Kay, and her brother. She is supposed to have brought here a "priceless" Rembrandt painting, which is said to have been pronounced spurious.

John W. De Kay, Jr., who was reported to have left Chicago last Thursday on his way to this city and Providence, R. I., to search for his missing sister, Jeanne Anna De Kay, was not at any of the larger hotels in this city yesterday. He was to have conferred in Providence with his father's lawyer, Thomas Z. Lee, upon the search for his sister, who disappeared from Hull House in Chicago on Dec. 20.

Although the police here have unofficial knowledge of the disappearance of Miss De Kay none of the special bureaus has undertaken a search for her and none of the members of the De Kay family or their counsel has requested assistance from the police. It was reported unofficially to the police that a Harlem furrier thought he recognized Miss De Kay in a young woman who offered to sell him a fur coat on the excuse that she wished to get the money to go to Charleston, S. C.

The missing girl arrived from Europe several weeks ago and it was reported that on the steamship she became acquainted with Miss Dadie Salter, a Rumanian girl, who lived at the Hotel Theresa at 125th Street and Seventh Avenue. Miss Salter left the Harlem hotel last Friday, but she failed to take up reservations she had made previously at the Hotel Manhattan.

The Rumanian girl furnishes one of the elements of mystery in the disappearance, because she is reported to have written a letter of warning that nothing should be said about "pictures." No art dealer could be found here yesterday who knew anything about Miss Salter, and the agents of the Department of Justice do not know anything about the reported connection of any such person with a foreign Government.

Miss De Kay is the daughter of John Wesley De Kay, who was arrested in London in 1915 on the charge of the French Government that he had aided a Frenchman in defrauding the Belgian Government in a munitions deal. It was reported at various times that he had acted as a purchasing agent for the Mexican Government and he organized the Mexican National Packing Company. He is also a playwright. His home is now at Lucerne, Switzerland.

ESSEX MOTOR CARS

No Large Money Outlay Required. Make Your Choice Now. We Will Store It For You and Insure You Against Disappointment

In the light of the year just closed, it is not conjecture to assert that a shortage of Hudson and Essex cars is sure to recur this Spring.

More than 22,000 Essex cars were sold in the past twelve months. The factory capacity was increased time after time. Beginning with a daily production of 30 cars, it reached 125 cars daily. Yet we were never able to overtake advance orders.

A similar condition was true with respect to Hudson.

Settle the Delivery Worry Now

You remember how scores waited in vain for delivery. Perhaps you were among those disappointed. Practically our entire quota of both Hudson and Essex cars were sold weeks ahead. Few were able to get delivery who had not placed their orders ahead.

This year we have arranged a plan by which we can guarantee you delivery, at any time in the season you name.

You can place your order now, with no large outlay for a deposit. Thirty days before the delivery date specified you will be shown your car, given the number, and we will store it for you without extra charge.

This Plan Safeguards You

Thus you dispose of all concern about getting your Hudson or Essex when you want it. You will be insured against having to accept some less wanted car, when the active buying season crowds the market with more customers than we can supply.

It is by no means too early to consider the car you will want next spring. Take steps now to secure your car when you want it.

Note the Quality of the Essex

If speed is your requirement see if Essex will not meet it. Where luxury and finish are demanded compare the Essex with any car. And with all its quality and performance the Essex also offers economy of operation and moderate cost, which are exclusive light car advantages.

It represents a new, unexpected value. It brings to the light car field such quality and fine performance as was hitherto found only among large costly cars.

And Hudson's Exclusive Motor

It is needless to speak of the Hudson. All know what it has done. Its records, which prove supremacy throughout the range of performance, are confirmed by the satisfaction that more than 80,000 owners know in their Super-Sixes.

That is why the Hudson is the largest selling fine car in the world, above the Essex price.

Its type gives it every advantage. The Super-Six motor through its exclusive, patented principle, delivers 76 horsepower from the same size motor that in standard types delivers 42 horsepower at the utmost limit.

Thus it is the swiftest, the most enduring, the quickest in acceleration and the most dependable hill-climber in the world.

The supply of Hudsons and of Essex has never been sufficient for the demand.

You can only insure yourself against disappointment in getting either of these popular cars, by placing your order under the convenient plan we have set forth above.

MINE OWNERS ASK FACTS ON INQUIRY

SUBMIT TEN QUESTIONS

LEWIS ACCEPTS FOR MINERS

Wilson Commission Explains Proposed Procedure and Policy at Its First Formal Session.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Wilson's Coal Commission struck something of a snag today when the operators of the Central Competitive Field asked for further information concerning the scope of the proposed inquiry before committing themselves in advance to accept as binding the decisions the commission might make as to wages, working conditions and coal prices. John L. Lewis, Acting President of the United Mine Workers of America, had previously announced that the miners were prepared to accept the decisions of the commission without reservations.

The operators, speaking through T. T. Brewster, Chairman of the Sales Committee of the Central Field, declared that it was their desire to aid the commission in every way, but that they had little or no knowledge of the nature of the proposed proceedings and therefore hesitated about blindly binding themselves. They have taken the position that they were ignored in the consultations between Attorney General Palmer and President Lewis of the miners, and are unwilling to accept the moral obligation until they have more information as to what they might be asked to do.

Operators Ask Ten Questions.

Mr. Brewster submitted a list of ten questions which the operators ask the commission to answer before pressing them to make a decision as to their future course. The questions follow:

First—Is it the intention of the commission to investigate and act upon matters in the Central Competitive Fields only?

Second—Will the award of the commission be final and constitute a contract binding upon both parties?

Third—Will the commission in its award provide a method by which the contract entered into may be enforced?

Fourth—Will the commission investigate and act upon matters brought before it by either party, including the check-off system now in effect?

Fifth—Will the commission fix the basic principles upon which evidence is to be submitted, particularly with regard to wages?

Sixth—Does the commission understand that it has the authority, should the facts warrant such findings, to adjust wages, either upward or downward?

Seventh—Does the commission consider it practicable to make a retroactive award, either as to wages or selling price of coal?

Eighth—Will the commission immediately determine the cost of coal during the year 1919, and the present cost based upon the 14 per cent. advance granted the miners, to determine fair selling prices, to be effective at once, having in mind the fair and reasonable profit provided by law?

Ninth—Will the commission's awards as to the selling price of coal be made to expire simultaneously at the expiration of the Lever law?

Tenth—Will the commission provide in its award for the introduction of modern devices, which may serve to reduce the cost of coal, and consequently the cost to the public?

Henry M. Robinson, Chairman of the Coal Commission, replied that the questions would be considered, and that answers might be made later. Asked pointblank if the promise of the operators to accept the decisions of the commission would be dependent upon the nature of the replies, Mr. Brewster said that he would prefer not to reply until he had an opportunity to consult his associates.

Want to Know Conditions Arbitrated.

Mr. Brewster suggested that questions in dispute be submitted by stipulation.

"If I may be permitted to state it in my own way," he said, "the miners are asking for more wages, claiming that the present wage scale and working conditions are not fair, and are not amply compensatory. It seems to us that is the principal question, and I will take the responsibility of saying on behalf of my associates that we are ready to co-operate with the commission, furnishing the fullest possible information bearing upon that point. If the commission, after investigation, should determine that the men are entitled to more money, I feel that we would be bound by the decree of the commission and if they did, that might open other questions as to how that money was to be paid."

Mr. Brewster also suggested that a clear memorandum be made of the matters to be submitted to arbitration. "Mr. Brewster, if the form of the agreement might narrow or might expand the authority given the commission by the President," said Chairman Robinson, "and is it not wiser to consider his letter of instructions definite enough to warrant going ahead and accepting the award if it can be assumed that the men who are on the commission will do as good a piece of work as they can?"

"We assume that the commission will, but you have asked us to define our position," replied Mr. Brewster. "Now, that decision must be with reference to something. It is a relative position and we do not know exactly in regard to what we are asked to submit our position or to explain our position. We do not know. We are more or less in the dark, and it was for the purpose of getting light on the subject that we formulated these questions."

Miners Accept Arbitration.

The request made upon miners and operators as to their willingness to accept as final the decisions of the commission was previously made by Chairman Robinson:

"I would like to ask for this commission," he said, "if you can speak for the United Mine Workers in this, are they here to assist in this investigation, and are they willing to submit to the award which the commission will finally make?"

"I am advised," replied Acting President Lewis of the miners, "that the United Mine Workers are here to assist the bituminous coal commission in every proper and practical way to arrive at their conclusions, and to co-operate in every manner, and we submit our interests to the commission without reservations and shall abide by the judgment of the commission."

It is understood that representatives of operators and miners of the various districts in the central competitive fields will be given a hearing before the commission. In opening today's session Chairman Robinson made an extended statement, in the course of which he said:

"While we will start the hearing with the central competitive field, we do not mean by that that it will preclude in any sense the investigation of the other districts, but rather that if we can agree upon a basis that should apply in the central competitors' field it would at least form something from which we could work out the problems that may be involved in the other districts."

ALLIES UNLIKELY TO EVICT SULTAN

HIS SOVEREIGNTY TO STAY

But He Will Be Compelled to Effect Administrative Reforms—Adriatic Conference Continues.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—In the settlement of the Turkish problem by the three allied Premiers, it has been already decided that the Turks will be left in Constantinople, probably with full sovereignty, but after important concessions have been made in the way of administrative reforms, according to the opinion of persons in close touch with the conference now in session here.

Premiers Clemenceau, Lloyd George, and Nitti met again today in continuance of their conference on both the Adriatic and Turkish questions, and the latter is supposed to have been uppermost in their deliberations of this morning. Their meeting, however, was surrounded by an almost impenetrable veil of secrecy.

The situation in the Mussulman world has been strongly represented as requiring moderation in dealing with Oriental questions. One result appears to have been a curious shifting of positions by France and Great Britain. The French originally were represented as desiring to maintain the Turks in Constantinople, but afterward came around to the British view in favor of their complete expulsion. As the result of representations by Edwin S. Montagu, the Secretary for India, however, the British are said in turn to have shifted their position and now hold the view originally taken by the French.

Greece, while preferring to see the Turks entirely ousted from Europe, appears to be concentrating her efforts to secure Eastern Thrace as far as the Enos-Midia line.

Four members of the German delegation yesterday met General Gassouin and the members of the French War Prisoners Repatriation Commission to discuss the question of the return of German prisoners. Six lines of railway will be used, as also will ships from Havre, St. Nazaire, Bordeaux, and La Rochelle. The repatriation will begin twenty-four hours after Germany, in accordance with the treaty, has sent rolling stock into France to transport the men. The estimate still is that between 6,000 and 7,000 Germans will leave France daily.

The Temps de Paris quotes the Military Director of Transport as stating that repatriation of the 350,000 German war prisoners in France will be accomplished in six weeks.

REVOLUTIONARY STRIKE IN BULGARIA FAILS

Government Retains Control by Militarizing the Public Services —Order in the Provinces.

SOFIA, Jan. 11.—Reports published abroad that serious demonstrations had occurred in Sofia and that the Government had been overthrown are taken cognizance of in a semi-official note issued by the Government today giving denial to the exaggerated rumors. It is explained that the railroad and telegraph employes struck on the pretext of the high cost of living, though really in an attempt to upset the Government, but that the Government militarized the services, finding a new personnel to operate them, and that the strike is proving a failure, its end being expected soon.

The note reports order reigning in the provinces, where there had been some attempts to resort to force in industrial centres. The strikers were dispersed without bloodshed when faced by troops.

Anti-dynastic demonstrations in Sofia were reported in a Geneva dispatch of Jan. 5, based on advices from Belgrade. Large crowds of manifestants assembled before the palace, crying "Long live the Republic!" "Down with the King!" and attempted to rush the building, it was declared. In the fighting which followed more than 100 persons were reported to have been killed or wounded. The message also reported increasing unrest throughout Bulgaria. A Saloniki dispatch also states that Bulgarian Socialists are organizing demonstrations with a view to effecting a change in the Government.

CHINESE BANDITS HOLD AMERICAN MISSIONARY

Dr. Shelton's Case Resembles That of Jenkins in Mexico— State Department Acts.

PEKING, Jan. 7 (Associated Press).—Dr. R. A. Shelton, a Christian missionary, was captured by bandits at Laoyakuan, near Yunnan-fu, on Saturday, Jan. 3, and is being held for ransom, according to reports received here.

The wife and two daughters of the missionary have arrived at Yunnan-fu, the former declaring that the kidnappers acted under orders of Yang Tien-fu, a notorious outlaw, who has been operating, with 5,000 followers, in the Kochin Mountains. It is said that the object of his lawless act has been to discredit the local Governor for the latter's refusal to accept the terms of surrender laid down by the band. The brigands said that they would treat their prisoner as a guest unless the military was employed to effect his release.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The American Legation at Peking has been directed by the State Department to request the co-operation of the French Consul at Yunnan-fu in efforts to obtain the release of the Rev. Dr. Shelton. It was explained at the department today that this action was taken because there was no American Consul nearer than Canton.

The legation has also been instructed to take up the matter directly with the Governor of the Province of Yunnan, in which the Rev. Dr. Shelton is held.

MODERATES TO RULE NEW FRENCH SENATE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The Bloc National, the grouping of anti-Socialist parties which swept France in the election of Deputies Nov. 16, repeated its success in the Senatorial elections yesterday. It will control about three-fourths of the votes in the new Senate. Premier Clemenceau may have the Presidency of the French Republic by a practically unanimous vote if he wants it. The election of a President will take place at Versailles Saturday, and, although the "Tiger" has not made any public announcement of his candidacy, he does not have to do so to be elected. Only his prior refusal can prevent his election, for his friends intend to place him as a candidate before the joint parliamentary session, and there will be no other candidate worth considering.

A dramatic feature of yesterday's election was the naming of President Poincaré as Senator by the voters of the Meuse Department. M. Poincaré was not a candidate. The election of a President of France to the Senate is without precedent. Its meaning, of course, is that the voters wish President Poincaré, who will leave office Feb. 18, to remain a factor in French national politics, and, inasmuch as Ministers are with rare exceptions members of the Chamber or Senate, they have placed him where he will be available as Cabinet material.

It is reported that M. Clemenceau as President will name M. Poincaré as Premier in place of Alexandre Millerand, who had been talked of as the "Tiger's" choice.

The homage paid to M. Poincaré is in line with the manifestation of the wishes of French electors in both the recent elections. They do not believe that this is any time for trying radical experiments in government, and, because the Unified Socialists espoused Bolshevism, the electors have taken away from Longuet and his followers all real power in the management of the Government.

M. Poincaré in his personality and career is an epitome of anti-radicalism. He is conservatism itself, and it is because he is just that that Frenchmen want him to remain in the Government. Poincaré and Clemenceau have worked well together in stormy days. It has been noticeable that Clemenceau has been the dominant mind of the two, and that they should change official positions does not seem to offer sufficient assurance that they will change mental relations. The "Tiger" will probably remain master.

And what is Clemenceau's dream? It is to make France the big power of Continental Europe and the nemesis of Bolshevism.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The results of the election held yesterday indicate that the new Senate will be in the same political alignment as the old one, changes made in the personnel of the Chamber being those involving individuals and not principles. Most of the outgoing Senators who were candidates were re-elected, one outstanding exception being Charles Humbert, who was acquitted last May by a court-martial of charges of having had dealings with the enemy. M. Humbert withdrew on the second ballot and asked his supporters to throw their strength to President Poincaré.

Baron d'Estournelles de Constant was re-elected Senator from the Department of Sarthe, while Caesar Collin, a newspaper proprietor, and General Hirschauer were elected on the first ballot as Senators from Lorraine.

For the first time in the history of France the Premier is a member of neither the Senate nor the Chamber of Deputies. This was a result of M. Clemenceau's refusal to be a candidate in the Var constituency. René Renoult being elected to fill the Premier's place in the Upper House of Parliament. M. Clemenceau will thus be unable to take part in the election of the President of the republic.

TO HOLD WARWICK CASTLE.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The report that Warwick Castle is in the market was revived again today, but is emphatically denied by Lady Warwick.

"The idea of Warwick Castle being sold is quite absurd," she said, "because in the first place the property is entailed, and even if we wished to dispose of it we could not do so. Besides, I should be quite horrified at the thought of the castle being sold."

Lady Warwick intimated that as a Socialist and a member of the Labor Party she had the greatest respect for the ancient and historical architectural monuments of England.

"If it was a question as to whether the State, through responsible government, was going to take it over for the benefit of the public," continued the Countess, "the matter would assume a different complexion, but that is not a thing which we could do if it were desirable. We have leased the castle now for some years during the Summer season to American friends, because it is much to big for us to live there all the year around, and the proposal was made to us that we should lease it again this next Summer season, so that its accommodation would give facilities for a lot of American visitors we know are coming to England." But so far we have not yet made any reply.

Lady Warwick received an invitation to stand for East Walthamstow as a Labor candidate, but has not made up her mind.

"It would be premature to announce that I am going to stand," she said, "although I have been strongly urged. I have to make up my mind very quickly, because the Executive Committee meets next week. My policy and point of view tre already well known."

Discussing the question of women in Parliament, Lady Warwick said she believed there would be a great many women in the next Parliament and that their numbers would increase as time went on.

"They have a great work before them," she said, "and I believe that the trade unions of this country will put many forward.

"What is really troubling me about entering Parliament is Anno Domini," she said, laughing. "I think I am getting too old, and should leave this matter to younger women."

FRENCH AND SYRIANS FIGHT.

Numerous Conflicts Reported from the Franco-Arabian Frontier.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—A dispatch to The Exchange Telegraph from Cairo, dated Jan. 8, says:

"There has been serious fighting between French and Syrian volunteers at Margyun, where there were many casualties on both sides, and at Talkhalakh, where the French suffered severely, and also fighting at Alexandretta and other places on the demarkation lines in the French zone in Damascus.

"The National Defense Committee is enforcing compulsion of the military services, and has issued a manifesto and declarations against foreign interference in any form. Travelers returning to Cairo from the Damascus region say the outbreak was not unexpected, but that the force of the movement was surprising. They add that the rival political and religious organizations are getting together."

Swiss Mountain Falling Into Rhone Valley; Fatal Avalanches Throughout the Alps

GENEVA, Jan. 12.—The western side of the rocky snow-clad mountain above Louèche, in the Rhone Valley, has begun to move toward the valley, threatening the electric railway line below. About 3,000 cubic meters of rock are now descending, and it is believed that the whole mountain side will collapse. Federal engineers have been sent to the spot and are preparing to blow up a portion of the mountain with dynamite.

In the meantime, the electric overhead lines have been removed, and trains are under orders to limit their speed to ten miles an hour, and the motormen have been cautioned to use the utmost vigilance. Many travelers, however, refuse to take the risk, and trains have been deserted between Salquenen and Louèche.

Avalanches on both side of the Simplon Tunnel have again interrupted the movement of the Orient Express, while Zermatt and Saas-Fee are isolated by the deep snow. Numerous avalanches are reported along the Swiss-Italian frontier, especially in the Bernina and Spluigen Passes.

There has been small loss of life, but great damage to the forests and to other property.

BERNE, Jan. 11.—Porrachia, a village in the Italian Alps, has been buried by an avalanche, and many persons are reported to have been killed.

Five children of Joseph Walter were killed at midnight in their home, which was buried by another avalanche, near Galtuer, in the Vorarlberg Mountains. The rest of the family, although injured, were rescued by neighbors.

Heavy snowstorms in the Alps have blocked railroads and highways, many villages being isolated.

RAILWAY TROUBLES MULTIPLY IN EUROPE

GERMAN SITUATION WORSE

Strikers Gain Reinforcements—Berlin Suspends Guarantees in Troubled Areas.

MADRID, Jan. 12.—Official notice of a general strike of the railwaymen, in Spain, to be effective Jan. 20, was issued by the committee of the National Federation of Railwaymen here today.

With the notice of the proposed strike the committee included a document explaining the reasons which it said compelled it to declare for a general cessation of train service.

Dispatches from all parts of the provinces report local strikes of the railway men.

At Gijon all the municipal employes, including the police, struck today. The strike was followed by disturbances in which one person is reported to have been wounded. Several arrests were made.

BERLIN, Jan. 12 (via London)—The Government has issued a manifesto urgently calling upon the striking railwaymen to resume work immediately, pointing out, among other things, the consequences of the strike on 400,000 war prisoners "whom your action on the threshold of the homeland is shutting out from wives and families."

The manifesto concludes with the announcement that special regulations will be proclaimed, if necessary, to cope with the situation. It is announced that the freedom of the press, the right of assembly and the right to strike have been suspended by order of the President in districts where the railway strike is in progress.

Meanwhile, the railwaymen of Beuthen, Ratibor and other Upper Silesian towns have gone on strike. The strike is actively in progress in the entire Rhenish Westphalian region. The telegraph employes are on strike in the Düsseldorf, Dortmund and Munster districts.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Sir Eric Geddes, the Minister of Transportation, and Sir Robert Horne, Minister of Labor, returned here tonight from Paris, where they conferred with Premier Lloyd George on the situation created by the railway employes' rejection of the British Government's wage proposals.

Delegates representing the Railway Employes' Union at a meeting today decided by a large majority to accept the Government's proposal for representation of the men on the Railway Advisory Committee.

J. H. Thomas, the railwaymen's leader, declared this morning: "There will be every effort to avoid a rupture."

The railway employes in Italy have rejected concessions made to them by the Italian Government over the wage controversy, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received today. Telegraph and telephone operators were said to have adhered to the decision of the railway workers.

Advices from Rome Sunday night said the Italian Government had decided that the railway men should be represented by three members in the Administrative Council of State railways which would deal with all questions relating to terms and service of the railway workers. It was also said that the Government had agreed to distribute 100,000,000 lire among the employes pending the settlement of the wage issue.

The Tribuna on Friday said a general railway strike was threatened for Jan. 15, and that the Government was planning the mobilization of the railway employes to head off the movement.

WANT AMERICAN AS KING.

Hungarian Royalists Plan Offer to Some Multi-Millionaire.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, Jan. 12.—According to news from Budapest in today's Swiss press the Monarchist Party in Hungary is determined to have a king again. After failing to obtain one in Europe they think the best solution would be to induce an American multimillionaire who would pay their debts to wear the Hungarian Crown.

A deputation of Hungarian monarchists is said to be considering going to the United States to negotiate for a king.

Out of 400 Hapsburg Princes, Archdukes and Archduchesses none is rich enough to ascend the Hungarian throne, while ex-Prince Otto, Charles's seventeen-year-old son is not merely poor but too young to be of any use.

SOCIALISTS COME TO EX-KAISER'S AID

PAN GERMANS EXULTANT

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—The campaign against the extradition and trial of the ex-Kaiser and other war criminals has been reopened here with particular vigor, both in origin and character.

This re-opened campaign is peculiar and significant. The reactionaries have been lying low for some time, and now it is the orthodox Social Democrats who have taken the field. The new movement is started by a prominently displayed article in Vorwärts from the pen of Otto Landsberg, one of the best known Socialists outside of the Government. He was Minister of Justice in the first constitutional Government after the revolution.

"To bring the ex-Kaiser to trial, he declares, would be to make him a martyr and consequently to play into the reactionaries' hands. The result, he goes on, would drive "considerable elements in a broken people like the Germans to turn to what they would then come to regard as the golden days. Neither France nor England would have occasion to show contempt for such a romantic tendency, for the restoration of the Stuarts and Bourbons proves that there were times when the mass of the French and English peoples had but little understanding of the freedom and won during the revolutions of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries."

It is clearly not a mere coincidence that on a day on which this article appeared a meeting of the "New Fatherland Society" was held for the discussion of this question. This society represents the Majority Socialists and other radical elements. It passed a resolution declaring that no opposition should be made to the trial of the ex-Kaiser, recommending a court of neutral judges.

This morning several Pan-German journals comment in an "I-told-you-so" vein on the Socialists' intervention in this question. The Deutsche Zeitung rejoices, saying that it is now clear how much the Socialist fear the awakening of national spirit as a result of the extradition dispute. The Deutsche Tageszeitung represents the extradition of the ex-Kaiser as only one more humiliation to which the German people is to be subjected in consequence of being ruled by a Government which has deprived Germany of its honor and means of defense."

The Rote Fahne, the Communist organ, comments sarcastically on this harmony between Socialists and Pan-Germans and seizes the occasion to attack the Government as a body "humiliated by the victors and despised by the workers of the whole world."

It is becoming increasingly evident that the extradition question will play a great rôle in the coming general election as a weapon for the parties opposed to the present Government.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The surrender of the former German Emperor will be requested of Holland in the near future, the Matin says today. On this point the allied Premiers are in complete agreement, the newspaper adds.

INSISTS LLOYD GEORGE PLANS A NEW PARTY

Northcliffe Paper Doubts Coalition Liberals or Labor Members Would Join.

LONDON, Tuesday, Jan. 13.—The Daily Mail today repeats its allegation of last week that Premier Lloyd George was attempting to secure his political future by forming a new Centre Party, of which he would assume the leadership.

The newspaper connects with its statement the article of Lord Chancellor Birkenhead in The Weekly Dispatch of Sunday, who suggested the formation of a national party, including Unionists and Liberals, to present an effective front to the Laborites. The Daily Mail asserts that this article "has revealed clearly the great fight which is destined to be the chief political issue for many weeks and to determine the future of the political parties."

Describing the alleged move as a "plot," The Daily Mail continues:

"Realizing that the coalition as it exists is doomed to an early end, the Premier seeks to establish himself at the head of the Unionist Party and to capture the Unionist Party machine."

ASKS EUROPE TO QUIT ABUSING AMERICA

URGES COMPROMISE HERE

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—In a leading article the Journal des Débats advises Europe to cease throwing stones at President Wilson on the one hand and Republican Senators on the other. This important newspapers observes that, if Europe wants American partnership in the management of world affairs, abusing America is a very poor way to obtain that partnership. It remarks that President Wilson has done a great deal for France and for Europe, and that the Republican Senate majority is in a position to do a great deal more. Therefore, it urges, Europe should replace its feeling of resentment with one of hopeful patience.

"For the greater part of the European public, developments in America with regard to the Peace Treaty are as difficult to follow and understand as affairs in Russia. At the moment when the Treaty of Versailles comes into force it is indispensable that we try to get an intelligent idea of the dispute which is going on in the United States and which is fraught with such great importance for us."

He then gives an excellent exposition of the situation, in which he says:

"The fact which dominates the whole situation is this: The Senate, whose accord is necessary to give legal force to the treaty, is composed in its majority of opponents to Mr. Wilson. That is not all. If this majority were strong enough to make its will prevail it would ratify the treaty with certain reservations. Good, bad or mediocre, this would be a solution. But the Constitution provides that a majority of two-thirds is necessary. Because of this, advocates of the treaty in turn are able to check the will of the Republicans. To get out of this situation it is necessary that each side make concessions so that a compromise may be reached. Efforts have been made in this direction, says by Mr. Hitchcock, some by Mr. Underwood more or less rival Democratic leaders. They have not succeeded, because, on the one hand, of the stubbornness of certain Republicans, and on the other hand of the unyielding attitude of Mr. Wilson."

Raps Wilson's Attitude.

The Journal goes on to say that the bad health of Mr. Wilson has complicated matters, and says: "Shut up in the White House, it appears he has neither the means to conquer or the disposition to compromise." The editor then regrets that Wilson did not bring Root or Taft to Paris, and that he regarded himself as all-powerful in America. He adds: "Mr. Wilson was not the only statesman who at the peace conference manifested dictatorial disposition and little taste for counsel and advice. All the chiefs of the great powers showed themselves afflicted with this vertigo of omnipotence."

He then observes: "We must not then throw too many stones at the President of the United States. Assuredly, taking the situation as it is, we can regret that he does not show himself willing to make a compromise. Some reservations voted by the Senate are not offensive. In accepting them Mr. Wilson would oblige his political opponents to behave themselves. But we must not forget that, even if the tactics he now pursues do not seem very opportune to us, nevertheless, in several important points he is defending our cause and our interests against certain Republicans who wish to make a separate peace with Germany, and that his opponents show themselves more indifferent to the fate of Europe than he does."

Prefers Wilson to Win.

The Journal then says it is foolish to believe that the success of Mr. Wilson's opponents will give France a treaty of protection, for if the doctrine of isolation prevails there will be no hope for such a treaty.

In concluding his article the editor says: "We have no business taking sides between the President and the Republican majority of the Senate. Neither have we the right to split the Democrats, who more than ever are divided since the last declaration of Mr. Wilson, who spoke of a referendum on the treaty. It would be indiscreet for us to mix up in internal American affairs. But what we have a right to say is that we deeply desire that the Treaty of Versailles with the covenant of the League of Nations and the treaty signed with France be ratified even with reservations provided they do not contradict the essential provisions. It would be unjust for us to lose sight of all that Mr. Wilson has done for the common cause and we permit ourselves the hope that he will not be stubborn on secondary matters. Our prayer is that our American friends in their own interests and in the interest of all humanity compose their differences. What would seem to us most lamentable would be the triumph of those who wish to make a separate peace with Germany. We fought and conquered together. We fought together to make peace and reform the world of tomorrow.

"We would like also to enlighten Americans somewhat on European affairs. They are blaming us in France for making no financial effort, whereas having lost one and a half million men and having had our richest districts ravaged by war, we have already doubled our taxes and we are preparing to raise the budget three or four times as great as it was before the war. Whatever our losses, whatever our difficulties, we address ourselves to the problems of tomorrow determined to enforce the Peace Treaty and to adhere to the League of Nations. We conserve the hope that the United States, after having accomplished such a great work of war, will not refuse to join in the work of peace."

REPORT LINER LOST IN BAY OF BISCAY

Only Two Boatloads of 575 Persons Aboard the Afrique Are Picked Up, Says Message.

OTHERS MAY BE ON RAFTS

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The French steamer Afrique, bound from Bordeaux to Dakar, sank in the Bay of Biscay about 3 o'clock this morning after a struggle to keep afloat since last Saturday, when she sprang a leak during a storm, news dispatches here today said. The steamer Ceylan, standing nearby, picked up two of the Afrique's boats, with their occupants. Some rafts with survivors were also seen after the Afrique went down, it was reported by wireless.

The Afrique sprang a leak on Saturday and summoned by wireless the steamer Ceylan, bound from Bordeaux to Buenos Aires, which hurried to the scene. Two ocean-going tugs from Rochefort stood by for several hours last night and attempted to take the sinking steamer into l'Appallice Roads against a driving hurricane and with a terrific sea running.

A wireless dispatch received this morning stated the Captain had decided to abandon the ship, and that the crews of the Ceylan and the Afrique were working to save the passengers on the disabled steamer. The tempest was abating this morning, but the sea was still running high.

At 10 o'clock last night the Afrique sent a wireless message saying: "Have touched Roche Bonne," (a shoal in the Bay of Biscay, forty miles off Pointe de l'Aiguille). A few minutes later came another message reading: "Send a tug; urgently fear cannot hold out till morning."

Besides the Ceylan, the steamers Belgian and Anversville went to the assistance of the Afrique.

Some of the boats from the Afrique are reported within the triangle formed by Roche Bonne, Barges, and Baleines.

It was not believed that any American, either from the United States or South America, were on the steamer.

The Afrique carried 465 passengers, including 192 colored French Colonials, with a crew of about 100. Twenty-six survivors were in the two lifeboats picked up by the Ceylan. The heavy list of the Afrique made the launching of lifeboats and rafts most difficult, and the sea was so rough that the Ceylan was unable to pass a line to the steamer.

CHICAGO'S CRIME RAIDS TO CONTINUE WEEKLY

Thuggery Has Decreased Appreciably Since 600 Suspects Were Captured Last Week-End.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—The drive on criminals of last Saturday and Sunday by the Chicago police is to be made a weekly affair, and a continuous one if necessary, according to a statement today by John H. Alcock, First Deputy Superintendent of Police.

"The drives netted 412 arrests," he said. "Saturday we picked up 232 suspects and on Sunday 180." The Bureau of Identification was busy for thirty hours and found records for 155 of the prisoners. Twelve of the men were wanted for robbery and two for burglary.

For the first time in many weeks not a holdup was reported from noon Sunday until midnight, and only five automobiles were stolen. The average had been above twenty-five street robberies and from ten to forty-five motor cars stolen.

The police, dressed in civilian clothes, today continued the work of gathering in suspects. "We are going to show the crooks they cannot live in Chicago," said the Deputy Superintendent.

Two suspects were killed while resisting arrest, and two others were wounded. On the whole little resistance was offered, however, to the policemen's searches of saloons, hotels, gambling houses, cabarets, and poolrooms.

SAN FRANCISCO MOVES TO GUARD CONVENTION

Police Orders Issued to Arrest All Radicals and the Radically Inclined.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—In preparation for the meeting here of the Democratic National Convention, the police today issued orders for the arrest of all radicals and others who tend to "Red" beliefs.

The police neutrality squad was ordered revived "to rid city and country of criminal radicals."

ROB CLAREMONT THEATRE.

Thieves, After Guard Is Withdrawn, Get $1,500 from Safe.

Burglars, who apparently had watched for the withdrawal of an armed guard in the Claremont Theatre at 135th Street and Broadway, stole $1,500 from the safe there between Saturday night and yesterday morning. They ripped open the safe after breaking into the theatre building through a window.

Thinking that an attempt might be made to blow the safe open during the so-called "crime wave" the manager of the theatre hired a watchman about Christmas and the guard was not withdrawn until Friday night. Patrolman Patrick Bulger discovered the burglary yesterday when he investigated upon seeing a cellar window open.

Two men who were arrested near the theatre, were held in the Washington Heights Court in $1,000 bail each for further examination. They said they were William McCarthy of 2,030 Amsterdam Avenue, and John J. Naughton of 1,422 Amsterdam Avenue.

REFUSES TO DISMISS NEWBERRY CHARGES

TRIAL NOW SET FOR JAN. 27

LIMITS SENATOR TO $3,750

Holds Mail Fraud Laws Apply to the Case If Those Sections of the Criminal Code Were Violated.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 12.—The authority of Congress to regulate not only the election of its members, but their nomination as well, was upheld by Federal Judge C. W. Sessions here today in dismissing a general demurrer to indictments against Truman H. Newberry, United States Senator from Michigan, and 134 others, charged with violation of the election laws. As a result of the decision the trial will commence on Jan. 27 as scheduled.

In arguing for dismissal of the indictments counsel for the defendants attacked the constitutionality of the general election laws and the application to the present case of the mail fraud section of the United States Criminal Code.

Judge Sessions passed over the counts charging violation of the postal laws with the statement that any fraud, no matter what its nature, if the mails are used in its furtherance comes within the meaning of that section of the criminal code. The attack upon the first four counts of the indictments the Court said were the important issues raised in the demurrer. These counts, however, were based upon the admitted authority of Congress to enact legislation governing election and nomination of its members, the court ruled.

Considering the Federal election laws in conjunction with the State statute Judge Sessions declared "it is clear if they are valid that the respondent Truman H. Newberry could not lawfully give or cause to be given any sum in excess of $3,750, one-half of the annual salary of a member of Congress, in procuring his nomination and election and such sum could be expended for no other purposes than those enumerated in the statutes of Michigan."

The indictment charged that between $500,000 and $1,000,000 was expended on behalf of Senator Newberry during the 1918 campaign.

Says Money Would Become the Issue.

If Congress is impotent to prevent lavish expenditure of money in gaining the nomination and election to a seat in that body, Judge Sessions asserted, then "money rather than fitness becomes the controlling political force and the very life of the nation is endangered." A seat in Congress obtained by that method, the court held, is none the less purchased than if the money had been paid directly to the voters.

"If such conditions are to be endured," the opinion continued, "the hopes and aspirations of every man for political preferment must be measured by the size of his pocketbook."

Replying to the argument that whatever may be the right of Congress to control elections it cannot regulate State primaries, Judge Sessions said:

"It cannot be ignored that in a majority of States under normal conditions the nomination for the office of United States Senator by the dominant party is in fact the election, and that the subsequent ratification at the polls is little if any more than a formality."

The defense asked that the case be dismissed, on the following grounds:

That the Elections act is in no sense a regulation of the election of members of Congress, but is an ineffectual attempt to control the conduct of the candidate as an individual.

That neither the Federal nor the State Legislature has power to place a limitation upon the amount of money which a candidate may contribute, use or expend for purposes which in, of and by themselves may be legitimate and lawful.

Denies Control of Primaries.

That even if it be assumed that Congress may thus regulate general elections at which its members finally are selected and chosen, its powers or regulation do not extend to nominating conventions or primary elections, because the nomination of party candidates for those offices lies wholly within the domain of State sovereignty and entirely outside the realm of national control. These contentions are so blended, interwoven and interdependent as to make their separate discussion confusingly repetitious, if not practically impossible.

Answering these contentions, the court, in part, said:

"To deny the Government the right to protect itself from such evils is to deny its right to exist. Can it be possible that Congress can protect the political stream from pollution in its lower reaches, but is helpless to prevent the dumping of filth and poison into the spring at its source?

"It has been definitely settled that Congress may reach back of the general election to the registration of voters, but the registration of voters is not as essential to the election as the candidate. An election may be held without registration, but not without candidates.

"The Constitution grants Congress, in express terms, power to regulate the manner of holding elections for its own members and also grants to the same branch of the Government, in like express terms, the power to make all laws necessary and proper for carrying into execution the first named power, nominations.

"It (the primary), when employed, is a necessary step in the process of the election that cannot successfully be denied.

"It is no answer to say that the regulation of the primary election has never been attempted by Congress. The law is progressive. New developments create new conditions and necessitate new laws."

Arguments on the demurrer were heard last Monday.

HORSEMEN DECIDE TO FORM NEW ORGANIZATION FOR THE CONTROL OF ALL HARNESS RACING

FORM NEW HARNESS RACING ASSOCIATION

MAY ELECT NEW YORKER

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 12.—After sitting in secret session for twelve hours on Sunday and five hours today, David M. Look of New York, Charles W. Leonard of Boston, A. H. Cosden of New York, Edward A. Tipton of Lexington, Ky.; Horace White of Syracuse, and J. J. Mooney of Toledo, six of the most prominent horsemen of the country, issued a statement announcing that it had been decided to form a new harness horse racing organization which will have charge of all harness racing in the country.

The name of the new body has not been chosen, but it will be at an open session tomorrow morning at the Onondaga Hotel. At the same time officers will be elected for the ensuing year, and everything tonight points to David M. Look, a wealthy New York sportsman, being named President of the new organization.

The meeting of the horsemen was called because of a rule called the "unshackling rule," which was passed recently by the National Trotting Association, which permitted horses which have not lowered their records in two years to be placed in 1920 in the 2:12 class over the mile tracks.

Rule Causes Rupture.

When this rule was passed it set many of the breeders of the country up in arms, and there was a loud yell. It was claimed that it would kill off the breeding of horses. Nearly all the horsemen gathered here for the annual meeting of the stewards of the Grand Circuit declared tonight that the formation of the new organization was the best thing that had been done in years, and are of the belief that the sport will benefit by this new organization.

The statement given out tonight by the committee forming the new association follows:

"We believe that the welfare, the very existence, of the sport of light-harness horse racing and the rights of associations, breeders, owners, trainers and drivers throughout the country require a new, a different, conduct of such racing—a just, efficient, progressive management.

"We have for years labored to accomplish the reforms we seek through existing agencies, but without practical or satisfactory results.

Co-operation Invited.

"We therefore declare our purpose to organize a new association, and we invite the co-operation of all organizations and individuals seeking these ends."

The announcement of the forming of the new organization was not the only bit of news, as the Schedule Committee, composed of J. J. Mooney of Toledo, Edward A. Tipton of Lexington and E. W. Swisher of Columbus, had its meeting and adopted a tentative schedule, which is to be submitted to the Grand Circuit Stewards for ratification tomorrow afternoon. According to the tentative plans, the season of racing on the big line will open on July 12 at North Randall and will close with the Atlanta meeting, which is to start on Oct. 18. Toledo and Syracuse asked for meetings of two weeks, but there seems little likelihood that either will be granted more than one week.

North Randall, July 12 to 17; Kalamazoo, July 19 to 24; Toledo, July 26 to 31; Columbus, Aug. 2 to 7; North Randall, Aug. 9 to 14; Philadelphia, Aug. 16 to 21; Poughkeepsie, Aug. 23 to 28; Readville, Aug. 30 to Sept. 4; Hartford, Sept. 6 to 11; Syracuse, Sept. 13 to 18; Columbus, Sept. 20 to Oct. 2; Lexington, Oct. 4 to 10; Atlanta, Oct. 18 to 26.

ASK VAN CORTLANDT SITE.

Followers of Harness Racing Want to Install a Half-Mile Track.

A committee of eighteen local exponents of harness racing called on Park Commissioner Gallatin of Manhattan at his office yesterday morning for the purpose of interesting the Commissioner in a plan to install a half-mile circular track in Van Cortlandt Park, to replace the Harlem Speedway track, which for more than a month has been opened to automobile traffic to the exclusion of trotters and pacers. Alderman John McCort introduced the committee, which was referred to Commissioner John Hennessy of the Bronx for action on the project.

Alderman McCort, who has interested himself in the plan, declared, after the conference with Commissioner Gallatin, that he would communicate with Commissioner Hennessy and arrange an appointment for the committee with the Bronx Park Commissioner. An effort will be made to hold the latter meeting during the current week.

Members of the committee visited Commissioner Gallatin armed with tentative plans for their proposed track and its inclusion in the prospective stadium, which it is planned to install in Van Cortlandt Park. Pictures were shown of the Weequahic Park, Newark, N. J., plant, where trotting and pacing races are held regularly over an ideal track by members of the New Jersey Road Drivers' Association. Eugene W. Carpenter exhibited a petition signed by 15,000 admirers of harness racing, requesting the installation of a track at Van Cortlandt Park.

VICTORY FOR WHITE OWLS.

By the margin of half a point—7½ to 7—the White Owls defeated the Outcasts last night at Durland's Riding Academy in the second polo game played in the January tournament for the S. Frank Cup, to be awarded to the team scoring the most points during the month.

The Outcasts received a two-point handicap, and those were the only points registered in their favor when the first period came to an end. In the meantime the White Owls had tallied five counters. Play in the second period was more even, the Outcasts adding five to their score, while their opponents were increasing their total by two and a half points.

The White Owls' score would undoubtedly have been considerably larger but for expert guarding by Henley, who took the place of Blackwell in the Outcasts' lineup. The play was so fast throughout the match that the White Owls gave evidence of tiring toward the end. Winn played stellar polo for the victors and Coleman also was dependable on the attack, both scoring three goals.

The lineup:

WHITE OWLS (7½).		OUTCASTS (7).
W. Loeb.	1	M. Karminski.
C. Coleman.	2	E. Carr.
H. Winn.	Back	J. Henley.

Referee—M. Goodman. Time of periods—Ten minutes.

The schedule consists of eight games and will be played in the Yale Bowl, except the Princeton contest. The schedule:

ARMY INTERESTED IN HUNTS MEETING

Officers Attend National Association Session—Steps Taken to Revive the Sport.

That the Government is ready to lend active support to the improvement of the horse was evidenced yesterday when four army officers were assigned by the General Staff at Washington as a delegation to the meeting called by the committee of the National Steeplechase and Hunts Association at the Commodore Hotel. The purpose of the meeting was to formulate plans for a revival of interest in both the amateur and the professional branches of steeplechasing and it was attended by more than a hundred enthusiasts who are prominently associated with the sport.

As a result of the meeting the first definite step toward the purposed revival was taken in the form of a resolution empowering A. Henry Higginson, Chairman of the Hunts Committee and Chairman of the meeting, to appoint a committee of three to make practical plans from the numerous suggestions which were made during the course of the day. It is the intention to place the report of this committee before the various racing associations for definite action.

Major Guy V. Henry, of the General Staff, said that the Government had plans for the development of the horse and was actively interested in the improvement of the breed of horses, and therefore interested in the action taken by various associations. It is hoped that through the action of the Government a number of gentlemen riders will be developed and brought into the amateur sport. However, the army delegation was not able to promise much for the coming season. Most of the aid from the Government is expected through the remount service, and it was brought out by other speakers that this branch is handicapped by certain legislation and regulations.

Handicapped by Regulation.

One of these is a regulation against the payment of transportation for horses, which would naturally prevent many officers from competing in meetings. Walter J. Salmon, who has a stable of racers in New York, proposed that the associations find means for defraying such expenses in order to encourage more competition.

Steeplechasing suffered more from the war than any other branch of racing, and its present condition is due largely to a lack of horses and riders. Many new horses are being prepared for the pumps, but there is still a dearth of riders. The amateur sport appears to be suffering more in the vicinity of New York than elsewhere. It was pointed out by Frank J. Bryan, Secretary of the United Hunts Association, that the lack of open dates was largely responsible for this. The amateur meetings held on Long Island are always in conflict with the professional racing, and a suggestion to secure open dates was embodied in the resolution of the meeting.

In other sections the amateur sport is thriving better. Five meetings are planned in Maryland and Pennsylvania for the coming season and, as they will have the advantage of open dates they are expected to meet with the usual success. However, if there is to be any lasting success it was pointed out that the amateur associations must interest the farmers and thus encourage breeding and competition, this interest to be gained by generous purses which would attract the younger element of the farming communities. Steeplechasing gained its growth through the interest of the farmers, it was declared, and it is necessary to once more get the farmer into the sport.

Professionals Active.

That the professional end of the sport will show an improvement this year is quite certain because of the interest already taken by those who race professionally, but some minor changes are sought. E. M. Weld, owner of the jumper Weldship and others, declared that the fences on some of the New York courses were entirely too low and that no proper schooling ground or courses were provided for owners of young jumpers. He urged some action in both these matters.

Among those who attended the meeting were: Colonel C. P. George, Major Guy V. Henry, Colonel Koch, and Major Leonard, all assigned to the meeting from the General Staff at Washington; Henry G. Vaughn, Boston; A. C. Burrage, Boston; J. J. Flanagan, Jr., Boston; John R. Valentine, Bryn Mawr, Pa.; Walter J. Salmon, Spalding E. Jenkins, A. Henry Higginson, Harry S. Page, F. S. von Stade, F. N. Y. AGGIES WIN, 39 TO 13.

The New York Aggies won their opening basket ball game of the season last night on their home court at Farmingdale, L. I., from St. Francis College of Brooklyn by the one-sided score of 39 to 13. The Aggies showed good team work for their first start, but the most conspicuous factor in their victory was the brilliant play of Nichols, who scored 29 of his team's total of 39 points. Nichols, who was the star half back of the football team last Fall, and who is also a shining light as a pitcher, tallied thirteen goals from the floor and three from foul.

The lineup:

N. Y. AGGIES (39).		ST. FRANCIS (13).
Nichols	R. F.	McNamara
Donnelly	L. F.	Maguire
Wenger	C.	Lynch
Winchester	R. G.	Morgan
Powers	L. G.	Quirk

WHITNEY'S COLORS TWICE TO THE FORE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12.—The colors of Harry Payne Whitney were strongly in evidence at the Fair Grounds today and were twice carried to victory. His Damask, which was highly promising as a two-year-old last season, captured the feature of the day, the Morello Handicap, from a field of good three-year-olds, and Loyal Sweeper, one of the juveniles of the Whitney Stable, avenged the defeat suffered in his first start here, by winning the three-furlong dash for maiden two-year-olds, which opened the day's sport. The New York sportsman was also represented in the fifth race by the filly Stickling, but it was asking too much to expect him to win three races in a day, and Stickling had to be content with third place.

The racing was generally interesting today, but the hopes of an improved track condition were dashed by the time the first race started. The track had dried out somewhat, under the influence of a warm sun over Sunday, but just as the racing began rain started to fall again, and the already heavy course was no better than when the horses plowed through it last week.

The Morello Handicap was a test at a mile for the newly turned three-year-olds and attracted six of the best of this class training here. It proved to be an easy victory for Damask, and Jockey Ambrose was able to ease up his mount near the finish and still beat Bone Dry by two lengths, with Simpleton third, six lengths back of the second horse. Damask seemed to outclass his field and drew away easily when Ambrose was ready to make a run at the field.

The Whitney colt was a 7 to 5 favorite despite the top weight of 118 pounds. Anticipate was first away from the barrier and set the pace to the back stretch, but Damask kept moving up and was sent into the lead at the half-mile pole. Making the turn Ambrose gave the colt his head and Damask opened up a gap of five lengths. Anticipate tired badly and dropped out of the contest, but Bone Dry and Simpleton came with a rush in the stretch. Damask had such a lead by this time that Ambrose was safe, and when he saw he had the race won easily he eased up. Bone Dry disposed of Simpleton in the stretch. St. Germain, which won handily here last week, made a bid in the stretch, but weakened and Simpleton took third easily.

The victory of Loyal Sweeper in the first race probably gave the Whitney followers more satisfaction than did the victory of Damask. This son of Whisk Broom II. had run an impressive race in his initial start last week only to be defeated by Charles A. Byrne. On that occasion Loyal Sweeper ran very greenly, went wide at the turn and then swerved in the stretch, losing ground all the way, and yet finishing with such determination that those who watched him knew he was the best in the race.

Loyal Sweeper took command today, but had no easy task, as he met with interference at the very start. Ambrose was forced to take up and then go wide in order to get clear, and it appeared that the colt would again be defeated. But Loyal Sweeper appears to be thoroughly game, and once clear he moved up fast and caught Silver Springs, the leader, in the stretch just in time to gain the verdict by a nose. Silver Springs also met with ill-luck, for that matter, which about evened things up on the race. The latter horse swerved in the soft going in the stretch, enabling the Whitney colt to get up. Joe Mancini was third, while the others in the field of seven were strung out at the end.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—Purse $700; for two-year-olds; maiden colts and geldings; three furlongs. Loyal Sweeper, 118 pounds (Ambrose), 9 to 5, 7 to 10, and 1 to 4, first; Silver Spring, 118 (Simpson), 8 to 5, 2 to 5, and 1 to 4, second; Joe Mancini, 118 (Buston), 7 to 2, 7 to 5, and 1 to 2, third. SHIELDS AND BECKER WIN.

Newell Shields, who enjoyed a handicap of 65 yards, was the winner of the Class A one-mile skating race at the 181st Street Ice Skating Palace last night. Shields went to the front in the sixteenth lap of the nineteen-lap course when Albert Bach, who had been leading, was the victim of a fall. A field of eleven skaters answered the starting signal, the scratch men being William Murphy and Bobby Hearn of the Ice Palace Skating Club and Leslie Boyd of the Tremont S. C. Boyd fell, and the other scratch men were not able to make up the handicaps which extended up to 80 yards.

In the one-mile race for Class B skaters, Raymond Becker of the Tremont S. C. was the winner, leading Edward Ahrens of the Brooklyn Ice Palace over the line by a margin of eight yards. Becker's sprint in the last two laps carried him to victory. Twenty-one skaters were entered in this event. Ahrens and Buddy McGrath being the scratch men. The latter failed to qualify for a place in the final.

The summaries:

One-mile Handicap, Class A—Won by Newell Shields, unattached (55 yards); Ray Bequet, Riverside Skating Club (80 yards), second; John Houseworth, Tremont Skating Club (70 yards), third. Time—3:20 3-5.

One-mile Handicap, Class B—Won by Raymond Becker, Tremont Skating Club (20 yards); Edward Ahrens, Brooklyn Ice Palace (scratch), second; Edward Kosnik, unattached (45 yards), third. Time—3:30.

BRUSSEL DEFEATS JOHANN WITH CUE

CLASS C BILLIARD STANDING.
National Championship.

Player.	W.	L.	H.R.	R.A.
L. A. Servatius	3	1	26	3 30-40
S. Brussel	3	1	26	6 12-28
J. Langdon	2	1	31	2 30-40
J. Neustadt	2	1	20	5
F. W. Boyd	1	2	24	3 25-31
J. Johann	1	2	24	4 17-28
C. Steinbugler	1	4	23	3 30-40

Sidney Brussel advanced to a tie for first place in the Class C 18.2 balkline tournament for the national championship of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players at Lawler Brothers' Academy in Brooklyn last night when he defeated J. R. Johann by a score of 150 to 115. The winner averaged 4 29-31 and made a high run of 20. Johann averaged 3 22-31, with a high run of 24. In another game, Joseph Neustadt, the present champion, defeated Charley Steinbugler, 150 to 140, and tied James Langdon for third place in the standing.

Brussel played a strong, steady game. His execution was better than Johann's and his judgment of speed in nursing the balls saved him from getting the lineups that so materially hindered the progress of his opponent. However, Johann had some bad luck. At times the balls rolled badly for him and, this coupled with a tendency to be erratic, cost him the match. Brussel took the lead early in the game and, while Johann pressed him closely on several occasions, there never seemed to be any serious doubt as to the ultimate outcome.

The averages tell the story of what a really tight battle it was. Neustadt's average was 3 30-40 and Steinbugler's 3 20-40. That the winner was somewhat more consistent in his playing is shown by the fact that, while his best run was only 14, he still maintained a better average than Steinbugler, whose high run was 23.

JACK FROST NEAR RECORD.

Special to The New York Times.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Jan. 12.—Captain James O'Brien's old-time favorite, Jack Frost, came near establishing a new record today for the Shallow Point course of the Long Branch Iceboat and Yacht Club.

The race was for the Price Patterson Trophy, and the Jack Frost, sailed by Captains Buxton and Duryea, covered the fifteen miles in 26:40, with ex-Commodore Gibbon's Ingenue, second, and Captain Hugh N. West's Hazel, third.

While the defenders for the third class pennant have not yet been selected by the club, it is almost assured that the Jack Frost will be one of the two yachts to sail against the North Shrewsbury Club boats.

Robert Morrison jumped into a fair lead in the English billiard tournament for the national championship of the American Amateur Billiard Association at John Doyle's Academy last night. He defeated Fred Pye, 250 to 220, in twenty-two innings. It was Morrison's second victory in as many matches, and it was Pye's second defeat in as many starts. Pye is last in the standing. The fact that Morrison still has to play John O'Neil, who, in spite of his one defeat, is conceded to be as strong a player at this style of game as there is in this country, makes the tournament a very open one.

That both players were in good stroke is attested to by the fact that, besides his best break of 55, Morrison made 35, 29 and 20, while Pye made 38, 28, 22 and 20. Four players are now tied for second place in the tourney. They are John O'Neil, Jackson Wood, William Waldron and Edward Cahill. O'Neil and Waldron will play tonight.

BOXING AT ST. ANSELM'S.

Cohen and De Vito Easy Victors in Tournament for Amateurs.

Some of the cleverest boxing of a long card at the St. Anselm's A. C. amateur boxing tournament last night was contributed by M. Cohen of St. Christopher's and A. J. De Vito of the Paulist A. C., both of whom fought in the 110-pound class. Both won their preliminary matches in decisive fashion, and will meet in the final bout in this class on Thursday.

Cohen fought two bouts in the course of the evening, gaining the judges' verdict over H. Schoen of the Pastime A. C. in the third round, and obtaining so decisive a lead over J. Marks of the same club in the second round of their encounter that the referee stopped the fray. De Vito won the decision over H. Small of the Rutgers Gym in the first round. The summaries:

110-Pound Class—M. Cohen, St. Christopher's A. C., defeated H. Schoen, Pastime A. C., third round, referee's decision; A. J. De Vito, Paulist A. C., defeated H. Small, Rutgers Gymnasium, first round, (stopped by referee).

SAYS NEW JERSEY BOUT IS UNLIKELY

Developments in the negotiations for the proposed world's heavyweight boxing championship contest between Jack Dempsey, title-holder, and Georges Carpentier, European champion, were further complicated yesterday, when Charles B. Cochran, English promoter, who is bidding for the attraction, issued a statement in which he gave it as his opinion that the bout was not likely to be held in New Jersey. The English promoter gave expression to this view because of his belief that an eight-round bout in the State across the Hudson could not draw nearly as much money as a bout in London, Eng., where twenty-round matches are permitted by law.

This statement followed publication of the admission made Sunday night by Promoter Cochran that he was considering an offer to enter into partnership with an unidentified American promoter with the ultimate purpose of promoting the match in New Jersey. In his short statement details of a positive character are conspicuous by their absence, but, nevertheless, Promoter Cochran admits having been approached by an American promoter and admits further that he has the proposition for a New Jersey bout still under consideration.

The English promoter in his statement declaring the holding of the match in New Jersey as unlikely gave particular emphasis to the fact that he is prepared to give Dempsey more money to box in England over a distance of twenty rounds, than for eight rounds in the State across the Hudson. He refrained, however, from positively dismissing the prospects.

In concluding his statement the English promoter declares that he has received a direct cable from François Descamps, Carpentier's manager, that Descamps is entirely at the disposition of Promoter Cochran as regards prospects for a bout, and that the French idol's manager denies receipt of any serious offer from a source other than Promoter Cochran.

The text of Promoter Cochran's statement follows:

"I do not think it at all likely that any world's championship will be staged in New Jersey.

"It is true that I have been approached by an American promoter to join him in bringing the bout off on Labor Day in that State.

"While giving it consideration, I do not believe that it would draw nearly as much money in New Jersey, where the bout must be limited to eight rounds, as in London, where the men can box twenty rounds.

"I should be prepared to give Dempsey more to box twenty rounds in England than eight rounds in New Jersey.

"Descamps has cabled me that he holds himself, as per contract, entirely at my disposition, and, moreover, he states that he has received no serious offer from any other promoter to date."

Efforts to ascertain the identity of the unnamed American promoter who is negotiating with the prospect of entering into partnership with Cochran were unsuccessful yesterday. It was intimated from a thoroughly reliable source, however, that Jack Curley, who promoted the championship match between Jess Willard and Jack Johnson at Havana in 1915, was the promoter in question. Tex Rickard, promoter of the Willard-Dempsey bout at Toledo, declared emphatically that he was not concerned in the transactions, but was merely following the progress of the negotiations.

TIA JUANA IS ELIMINATED.

London or Paris Will Get Big Bout, Says Dempsey's Manager.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 12.—Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, sees little chance for holding the Dempsey-Carpentier fight at Tia Juana, Mexico. He believes it must go abroad.

"I can't see a chance in the world of holding the fight at Tia Juana," said Kearns. "Until I went to San Diego last week I thought there was a possibility of holding the bout there, but after going over the ground personally I came to the conclusion that Lower California is not the proper site.

"In the first place, Tia Juana is beyond the extreme southwestern boundary of the United States. It is fifteen miles from San Diego, and transportation facilities are sadly lacking. Then there is not a large enough local population to draw from.

"Jim Coffroth told me that he had never stated definitely that he planned to stage the fight at Tia Juana. His chief aim is to be the promoter, whether in Mexico, the United States, England or France he doesn't appear to care. It seems to me that all this Tia Juana talk has been to boost another enterprise promoted by Coffroth and operating there.

"As far as I can see now, there doesn't appear to be much chance of holding the fight in the United States at all. Judging from the present outlook, London or Paris will land it. In the meantime, neither Dempsey nor myself is worrying."

MORAN DECISIVELY BEATEN BY FULTON

PITTSBURGHER IS GAME

Gets Better of One Round, Breaks Even in Another, and Is Badly Punished Rest of the Way.

Fred Fulton, Minnesota giant, last night outpointed Frank Moran, the blond Pittsburgh heavyweight, in their eight-round bout at the Newark Sportsmen's Club, before a crowd of about 8,000, which taxed the capacity of the First Regiment Armory, Newark, N. J., where the match was held. The big Minnesota plasterer failed in the result he had set his heart on, the duplication of the knockout victory which he registered about two years ago at New Orleans. Moran, battered, groggy, and arm weary, a gory spectacle, with his face dripping blood, was still on his feet, striving vaguely to return the attack, as the bell clanged the finish at the end of the eighth round. Undying courage, bulldog tenacity and remarkable ability to assimilate punishment were what kept Moran on his feet, despite the fact that he was battered from pillar to post for the major portion of the eight rounds.

Even in defeat Moran was successful to the extent of a moral victory over his ponderous opponent. All indications led to the belief that Fulton would again send the blond Pittsburgher to dreamland, and this with dispatch. Instead, Moran, with surprising strength and ability, kept his feet despite the terrific battering to which he was subjected, and smiled grimly through his blood-smeared face as Fulton tried desperately but ineffectually to topple him. Moran was outclassed, physically and scientifically, for Fulton appeared in better condition and showed a greater knowledge of boxing.

These handicaps, however, didn't feaze Moran, who lunged after his rival with determination in the early part of the bout, and, his efforts and the blows he received tiring him as the match progressed, withstood a remarkable amount of punishment in the closing rounds, while Fulton plied him with vicious rights and lefts to the face and body alternately, always seeking to crash home the blow which would give him a decisive victory. Fulton tired from his own exertions toward the end, while Moran's smashes to the stomach and face were a contributory cause to the plasterer's weariness, so that in the final round it appeared that Fulton, though showing to advantage, found it an effort to lift his arms.

Moran's best work was accomplished in the first and third rounds. The Pittsburgher carried the opening session and gained an even break in the third. In the second and fourth rounds, with flurries which had Fulton considerably worried, Moran thrilled the large crowd and apparently had his opponent in difficulties by the force of his attack, but the cleaner blows landed by the Minnesota heavyweight and the rapidity with which he smashed the counters home earned Fulton these rounds, as well as the remaining sessions, in which Moran was groggy and unable either to protect himself effectively or to attempt a return.

Moran brought the crowd to its feet with a determined rush, opening the bout, and met Fulton before the latter had a chance to get really out of his corner. Coming to close quarters, Moran worked his arms with rapidity to stomach and face alternately, smothering Fulton's attempts at a return. After Referee Slim Brennan had parted the combatants Moran again hurled himself to close quarters, evidently intent on roughing with the plasterer, who sought to employ his left and right in uppercuts. After breaking, another short clinch followed, and then Moran shot out with his "Mary Ann," a sweeping right overhand blow which sailed harmlessly about Fulton's neck, while the latter laughed.

At Close Quarters.

Fulton started the third round at long range, leading with his tapering left and upsetting Moran's attack. A left under the eye drew the blood from Moran's left optic and a right cross shook the Pittsburgh blond, but Moran doggedly bounded back to the attack and crowded Fulton to the bell.

Moran Grows Weary.

Moran's work thereafter was unimpressive. He wearied of his task and was unable to ward off Fulton's vicious left-hand hooks, jabs and drives and was a mark for a right cross whenever Fulton chose to send the blow over. Several times in the fifth session Moran essayed to land his "Mary Ann," but the blow never found a resting place where it could do any damage. A succession of lefts and rights to the face had Moran plainly shaken up before the bell ended the round.

The sixth, seventh and eighth rounds were repetitions. Fulton lashed out savagely, forcing his rival before him in a shower of blows to the face and body, but, try as he might, Fulton could not topple his sturdy foe to the canvas. Moran was shaken, groggy and weary from the continual battering, but he courageously kept his feet and smiled through the onslaught. When Moran did attempt a return he was invariably wild or his blows lacked power.

MILWAUKEE CLUB SOLD.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 12.—The Milwaukee American Association Baseball Club has been sold by Clarence Rowland and Hugh Brennan to a local syndicate at a figure said to approximate $100,000. William H. Park, formerly a Milwaukee newspaper publisher, is said to be among those acquiring the property.

Besides Park, those interested in the purchase of the Milwaukee club are Joseph D. O'Brien, Secretary of the New York Giants; Otto Borchert, head of a local boxing club; W. F. Kinsella, a local business man, and a number of other well-known Milwaukeeans.

Otto Borchert was this afternoon elected President of the club. Other officers are: Vice President, Joseph D. O'Brien; Treasurer, William H. Park; Secretary, William F. Kinsella.

O'Brien will continue to act as Secretary of the Giants.

This is the first time in the history of Milwaukee that the interests of the Milwaukee ball team are in the hands of native born Milwaukee men, Mr. O'Brien said prior to his departure for New York upon completion of the transfer. Clarence Rowland, retiring head of the club, has no plans for the immediate future, he said.

The connection of Secretary Joseph O'Brien of the Giants with the new ownership of the Milwaukee club is taken as an indication that Manager McGraw will use the Brewers as a baseball farm for the New York Club. Some time ago the Giants made on offer for the Rochester club but negotiations for this club were blocked because the New York club did not want to purchase the park in Rochester with the franchise. Milwaukee will probably get much of the Giants' excess playing talent at the close of the Spring training season. Secretary O'Brien is expected back to his office here today.

RICKEY TO MANAGE CARDS.

Will Be Succeeded as President of Club my Samuel Breadom.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 12.—Samuel Breadom, an automobile dealer of this city, will in all probability be the next President of the St. Louis National League Baseball Club, according to an announcement made today by President-Manager Branch Rickey. Manager Rickey announced today that he would resign as President tomorrow when he signs as Manager for the coming season, and at that time he would recommend that Breadom be chosen President. The majority of the Board of Directors have previously stated that they would vote for Rickey's choice for President.

PENN LOSES GRIDIRON MEN.

Ray Miller and Brunner Quit College—Other Stars Ineligible.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—Some excitement was caused in University of Pennsylvania athletic circles today when a report was widely circulated that six members of last year's football team had left college and that three others were about to leave. Investigation showed that, of the nine men mentioned, seven were not eligible to play next Fall, having played their allotted number of seasons under the university's eligibility rules. These were Hobey Light, fullback; Ben Der, halfback; Heinie Miller, end; Walter Pearce, substitute quarterback; former captain Bert Bell, quarterback; Lou Little, tackle, and Lud Wray, centre. Some of the seven have already quit college and the remainder are expectd to leave soon to enter business, it was said.

Phil Douglas Is Reinstated.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 12.—Pitcher Phil Douglas of the New York Nationals was reinstated by the National Baseball Commission today. The commission granted his application, with a warning that if he again leaves his club without the management's consent he will be subjected to a heavy fine.

CHANGE DATES FOR GAMES AT ANTWERP

Many Shifts Are Made in the Schedule for Olympic Meet Received Here.

The threatened necessity of sending the track and field athletes and swimmers of America to the Olympic Games at different times next Summer has been obviated, according to a list of dates for the various sports, purporting to be official, received here yesterday. In the latest dates for the athletic competitions swimming is scheduled for Aug. 22 to 29, a month earlier than was provided for in the tentative list received here some time ago. Under the original plan it was provided that the swimming competitions be held Sept. 22 to 29, which would have necessitated that Uncle Sam's representatives in aquatics make the trip alone instead of with the track and field performers as has been the custom in previous years.

The latest dates were announced by L. J. Garcey, Honorable Agent for Belgium, who has just been made General Agent in the United States for the Belgian State Railways. Mr. Garcey's compilation of dates has been made according to official information he has received. Frederick W. Rubien, Secretary of the American Olympic Committee, declared last night that he has received a short official letter from Belgian officials, in which it was stated that a change had been made in the tentative dates for the swimming events, which would result in the water sports being held at a time more favorable to this country. This information, Mr. Rubien said, came here several weeks ago, but he withheld divulging it in the expectation of receiving further official advice from Lieut. Col. Leon J. Osterrieth of the Belgian Olympic Committee, to whose attention the unfavorable tentative dates were brought. Word from Lieut. Col. Osterrieth is expected daily.

It is probable an official program of the Olympic Games will be received here within a short time. The American Committee, which has been occupied in arranging the preliminaries for Uncle Sam's part in the Seventh Olympiad, will then be in a position to disclose some of its plans of preparing for the coming games.

Ice hockey and ice skating, April 20-30; yachting, July 7-10; shooting (army weapons), July 24-31; shooting (sporting weapons), July 22-31; polo, July 24, 28, 31; archery, Aug. 2-9; cycling, Aug. 9-13; athletics, Aug. 15-22; tennis, Aug. 15-22; fencing, Aug. 15-28; wrestling, Aug. 15-29; boxing, Aug. 15-29; gymnastics, Aug. 22-30; modern Pentathlon, Aug. 24-27; weights and dumbbells, Aug. 26-28; swimming, Aug. 22-29; rowing, Aug. 22-29; archery, Aug. 29-30; association football, Aug. 29-Sept. 5; rugby football, Aug. 30-Sept. 5; lawn hockey, Sept. 1-5; equestrian games, Sept. 6-12.

BROWN IS GOLF MEDALIST.

Leads Advertising Men in Their Annual Tourney at Pinehurst.

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 12.—T. Russell Brown of Scarsdale won the qualifying medal in the annual tournament of the Winter Golf League, representing advertising interests today, leading the field of 123 contestants by a margin of 5 strokes, with a round of 39-38-77, over the championship course.

Lou Hamilton of Garden City won the second gross score prize with 82. The big field qualified in four classes or divisions of thirty-two players each.

The women's qualifying round was played over the difficult No. 3 course and was won by Mrs. J. F. Duryea of Springfield, Mass., with a remarkably good 46 for the nine-hole round.

APAWAMIS FAVORED FOR GOLF TOURNEY

Local golfers whose rather liberal handicaps exclude them from a chance at the national amateur crown are getting somewhat impatient for the coming of Spring. They want a try at the Metropolitan amateur championship tournament, which throughout the East ranks next in importance to the national event, and they want to know where the fixture will be contested. The M. G. A. sidestepped the award of local championships when it met early in December, leaving the work to the Executive Committee, which in turn awaited the annual meeting of the U. S. G. A. last week before making its selections.

With these preliminaries over, the course is clear for action, and the decisions will be made tomorrow at a special meeting for the purpose. Golf officials are uniformly close-mouthed about awarding their tournament plums, yet the news has seeped out that the Apawamis Club at Rye, N. Y., is likely to be chosen, and the players hereabouts will receive the definite announcement with complete satisfaction.

There is less handwriting on the golfing wall regarding the placing of the Metropolitan open. It is confidently expected that Walter Hagen, the national open champion, will defend his title even though he plans to go to England early in May and enter the British open championship. Hagen will, naturally, return in time for the national open, the date of which will be set so as not to conflict with the big British fixture, and the Metropolitan open in all probability will be scheduled later in July than it was last season.

More than a dozen nearby clubs entered more or less formal invitations for one of the Metropolitan championships, and the choice is a toss-up. If the M. G. A. committee adopts a geographical reason, it would seem that a New Jersey course should be selected. No open title has been won on a Jersey course since 1911, when Gil Nicholls captured the honor at Englewood. The six tournaments since then have been divided between Long Island and Westchester County, with the exception of the 1915 tournament at Fox Hills, Staten Island.

RUNNER MAKES NEW RECORD

Frenchman Covers Eight Miles in 39 Minutes 29 4-5 Seconds.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—A French distance runner named Guillemot yesterday ran eight miles in the fast time of 39 minutes 29 and 4-5 seconds, which is a record for France. The course was laid out from Versailles Common to Pré Catalan in the Bois de Boulogne.

Guillemot, who is at the Joinville School, is training for the 10,000 meter race in the Antwerp Olympic games.

The eight-mile world's running record is held by Alfred Shrubb, who made it in England in November, 1904. Shrubb's time was 40 minutes 16 seconds. This time was made in a ten-mile run by Shrubb, who lowered all records from six to ten miles, finishing the run in 50 minutes 40 and 2-5 seconds.

Unless the course was accurately measured and the time kept by accredited timers it is unlikely this performance will be accepted as a record.

Captain X at the Front

The Tommy on his tea.

But the Doughboy had to have his cigarette.

What he wanted was smoke, and plenty of it, and that's what the round, loosely rolled, canteen cigarettes gave him. Their round shape meant a free and easy draught.

Captain X had taken with him a liberal supply of his favorite PALL MALL, plain ends, but found he could not replenish his supply at the front, so he began smoking the popular, round cigarettes. Their shape gave him an idea.

Back in America once more, the Captain came and gave us his idea—a big idea. He suggested that we make PALL MALL cigarettes round in shape, loosely rolled,—a cigarette that does not have to be tapped, squeezed or loosened, a cigarette with a free and easy draught.

A cigarette made from the famous PALL MALL blend of forty-two Turkish tobaccos, chosen for richness and delicacy of flavor.

An early demonstration of strength in parts of the industrial stock list yesterday proved to be short lived and of slight effect in stimulating speculative sentiment when it became clear that the credit market was unfavorable. Opening at 7 per cent., the call loan rate rose rather sharply in the afternoon to 18 per cent., the highest figure reached since the end of December. While the stiff trend of credit cost was recognized as a natural product of last week's statements by the Federal Reserve Bank and the Clearing House institutions, traders appeared to be disconcerted and the liquidation of long stock was reported a real factor in the day's selling. Some high-priced issues, notably petroleum and automobile shares, were under heavy pressure in the later dealings. Numerous declines of 2 to 5 points were recorded at the close in the industrial share roster. Railroad stocks were inactive, but inclined to heaviness. In the bond market business was light and price changes were of an indifferent sort.

In the first fortnight of the New Year there has been no easing of money rates such as other seasons were wont to bring, and this fact had influence yesterday upon the feelings and calculations of traders. Comment of the Street has indicated since the meeting of bankers with Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board in Washington a week ago a growing impression that the sponsors of credit mean to see bank resources become considerably stronger before allotting substantially increased amounts of credit to stock market use. The length of time the process will require and the extent to which reserves will be reinforced may not be guessed, but the mood of commission houses for several days has disclosed the thought that call and time money will be relatively scarce for a while. The Federal Reserve system last week scored a point in the task of increasing the ratio of cash to note and deposit liabilities, although the New York bank proved more of a handicap than a hindrance in the operation. For the entire system the ratio rose from 43⅜ to 45⅝ per cent., aided by a heavy reduction of deposits and through the retirement of about $84,000,000 circulation. Because of an unusually large gold loss the New York bank saw its reserve ratio go lower than the week before. The improvement in reserve which several of the interior Reserve banks scored, one or two being large enough to be impressive, aroused the belief that concerted efforts were being made to have member banks pay off loans, a development which might have a secondary effect in lessened speculation in commodities.

Persistent bidding for silver in London the last few days worked to lift the price here to the extent of 2 cents per ounce, the open market quotation being $1.37. The cable brought news that the London quotation was 82½d per ounce, compared with 79½d on Saturday, which was so extraordinary a movement from one business day to another that supplies of the metal were thought to have dwindled rapidly under buying for Continental and Far Eastern account. Sterling exchange moved sluggishly, showing a fractional gain at the end of the day. The other exchanges were irregular.

IRVING NATIONAL TO JOIN IRVING TRUST

$300,000,000 IN RESOURCES

Explained That There Will Be No Change in Directorates of Either Institution.

The consolidation of the Irving National Bank and the Irving Trust Company is now being considered by the Directors of the two institutions, and the merger is expected to be consummated within the next six weeks or two months. The consolidated institution will be a national bank of approximately $300,000,000 resources and with a capital and undivided profits of about $19,000,000. The gross deposits will probably exceed $200,000,000.

The first step toward merging the two banks was taken several days ago, when the Irving Trust Company applied for a charter as a national bank under the title National Irving Bank. When this charter is granted the way will be opened for further steps necessary to complete the consolidation.

The merging of these two banking institutions is expected to be simplified through the fact that holders of each share of Irving National Bank stock also own one-half share of Irving Trust Company stock. This obviates the necessity for arriving at a basis of exchange of shares.

President Frederic G. Lee of the Irving Trust Company said yesterday that the merger had been decided upon in order to increase the facilities for attending to customers' needs, and explained that because national banks are now allowed to perform the functions of trust companies there no longer existed a reason for keeping the two institutions separate. As the interests which control both companies are identical, it has been decided that greater service and efficiency will be possible with them operating as a unit rather than as two banks.

Both the Irving National Bank and the Irving Trust Company have expanded considerably within the last year. At the beginning of last year the bank had a capital of $4,500,000 and the trust company $1,500,000. Both increased during the year to 6,000,000 and 3,000,000, respectively. At the date of the last report the bank had undivided profits of $3,017,100 and the trust company of $1,686,000. In last week's Clearing House statement the bank reported total loans and discounts of $149,871,000, while the trust company reported a total of $62,105,000.

The trust company purchased on May 24 last the Sherman National Bank, and on July 14 the National City Bank of Brooklyn. Both of these banks were converted into branches, and are being operated as such at the present time.

It was said yesterday that there would be no change in the personnel of the Directorates of either institution, and the officers and clerical staffs of both will be retained as at present.

TO DEVELOP ORE BODIES.

Mesabi Iron Co. Organized to Mine Low-Grade Iron.

Hayden, Stone & Co. and others who have been interested for two years in developing low-grade iron deposits in the eastern part of the Mesabi Range have formed the Mesabi Iron Company to carry on the work. The capital consists of $3,000,000 8 per cent. cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value, and 150,000 common shares of no par.

The securities will be held by the original syndicate members and their associates. No public offering of flotation is contemplated until such time as the commercial plant which is now being built is in actual operation in the production and sale of a commercial product.

The Directors and officers are: Charles Hayden, Chairman of the Board; Daniel C. Jackling, President; John D. Ryan, W. E. Corey, Percy A. Rockefeller, C. M. MacNeill, Sherwood Aldrich, W. Hinkle Smith, Alva C. Dinkley, Seeley W. Mudd, Horace D. Winchell, K. R. Babbitt, W. G. Swart and J. C. Agnew.

Buy Interest in Canada Car Co.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—New York interests have brought substantial holdings in the Canada Car & Foundry Co. with a view to greater development of its export business, it was reported here today. At the annual meeting of the company on Thursday it is expected that at least two of the present directors will retire in favor of representatives of the new interests, but the company will continue to be controled by Canadians, it was said.

A. Barton Hepburn Re-elected.

A. Barton Hepburn, Chairman of the Advisory Board of the Chase National Bank, was re-elected to represent the New York Federal Reserve district on the Federal Advisory Council by the Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank yesterday. Mr. Hepburn succeeded J. P. Morgan as the New York district's member of the Advisory Council.

SALT WATER FOUND IN LOUISIANA OIL

PUMPING NOW NECESSARY

Representative of Company with Large Holdings Says He Is Puzzled by Conditions.

Some of the big oil gushers in the Homer field of North Louisiana are showing a high percentage of salt water, according to word received here yesterday. This is the most recently developed oil field in the country, and held high promise because of 20,000-barrel producers. The presence of salt water so early is causing consternation among oil men. At the offices of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey it was said that reports had been received several days ago of the presence of salt water in the Northern Louisiana wells.

One prominent oil man, whose company has large holdings in Louisiana, said salt water necessarily would not ruin the pool, but that its presence always was followed by wells ceasing to exist as gushers. Oil, he said, still could be got out, but it had to be accomplished by the substitution of artificial pressure or by pumping, but if the well were dead not more than 100 barrels a day of liquid could be pumped. In addition to the increased cost of such operations, he said, the emulsion would have to be treated to separate the oil from the water, but in the case of a light oil he did not think this would prove a heavy tax, perhaps not more than a few cents a barrel.

The representative of one large company in Homer, who was in New York a few days ago, said conditions puzzled him. He could not determine to his own satisfaction whether the salt water was the result of seepage from broken casings or whether it came from the oil strata.

Salt water has been the bane of oil men ever since drilling for oil began in this country. It is looked upon as a danger signal, but not always as a sign that the wells have ceased to be of commercial advantage, in this wise differing from the Mexican wells. There are times, it is said, when the presence of salt water has been overcome.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Pessimistic, but Not Blue.

According to a member of the Stock Exchange, his fellows who trade on the floor for their own account are pessimistic, but not blue. This may sound like a strange contradiction of terms, but the broker says it is not, and offers to prove his point, thus: The members who trade for themselves are pessimists on the general situation, but they are not blue for the good and sufficient reason that they are playing the short side of the market and making a fairly profitable go of it.

Deficits and Money.

A deficit at the Clearing House may have lost its terrors, now that the real index of the banking situation is to be found in the return of the Federal Reserve Bank. Yet the deficit of Saturday was followed by a 7 per cent. renewal rate yesterday and by an 18 per cent. late afternoon rate. Of course, the Federal Reserve statement was far from good, on general results, and there were reasons quite apart from the Clearing House deficit to account for the high rates. All of which prompted the belief in some quarters that the deficit at the Clearing House, instead of being cause, as it formerly was, is now effect.

New York and the Country.

Last week the local Reserve Bank lost $52,300,000, net, in its various gold accounts, while all the Reserve banks, as shown in the consolidated statement, lost only $21,244,000. The local bank lost most heavily in the settlement fund, the loss being roughly $30,000,000, while in the consolidated statement there was a gain in this account of $16,540,000, which shows that New York's loss, in this item, was mainly the rest of the system's gain. Gold held abroad for the general account declined $8,000,000, of which New York's share was $5,075,000, which is about the right proportion. These figures have given rise to a theory that when gold exports are arranged on this side the burden falls almost entirely on New York, while when they are provided for out of gold held by the Reserve system abroad, the depletion is allocated among all the banks. This, according to brokers, is not quite correct, in actual practice, for while the local banks may arrange the exports of the actual metal from this side, the loss is unofficially allocated either by having the member bank handling the operation make charges against participant banks elsewhere, or through the sale of acceptances by the local Reserve bank to other Reserve banks, which are paid for through the settlement fund.

Mr. Glass's Statement.

Mr. Glass's statement, in which he declared there could be no reduction in taxes, and his threat of another Liberty Loan flotation if Congress did not watch its expenditures carefully, had little influence on either the stock or the bond market yesterday. In his annual report of a month ago the Secretary recognized the desirability of reducing surtaxes on both the income and profits schedules, but at that time all he could offer was a readjustment and not a reduction in volume. In this respect his latest utterance does not contradict this. As for another Liberty Loan, most bankers, including some of those who took active parts in the other campaigns, believe it would be impossible to float another big issue now, unless the terms and conditions were so ultra-favorable that there would be a severe back-fire against Liberty bonds now in the market, and all other bonds, too, for that matter.

Annual Bank Meetings.

Today is the date of the annual meetings of stockholders of the national banks, and most of the State banks and trust companies here also will hold their annual meetings. Usually on such occasions the Street is full of rumors of changes both in the personnel of directorates and among the higher officers. This year there have been few rumors, but none of them have been taken with especial seriousness.

Baseball Prices.

A broker given to statistics figures that the New York Yankees really got a cheap ball player when they purchased the celebrated Babe Ruth for $125,000. Figuring the depreciation in the dollar, as compared with past years, when less amounts were paid for stars of the diamond, this Wall Street fan halves the price at the start and then, considering the excess profits taxes and the alleged huge earnings of ball clubs last year, he proceeds to cut many thousands more off the price. "It is just like any other highly affluent corporation spending money recklessly these days," he says. "If they do not spend it the tax collector gets it."

Rails Ease Off.

In the declining market it was not surprising that the railroad shares as a group were apparently under greater pressure than for some days. It had been the general belief at the turn of the year that the great bulk of liquidation in these shares had been accomplished and that the market for them would be more or less dull until there was some definite news from Washington regarding the remedial legislation which is being framed there. In the first full week of business on the Stock Exchange this prediction was fairly well borne out, the rails moving slowly and price changes being comparatively slight. In the case of the rails which were affected by the adverse ruling of the United States Supreme Court on the question of payment for transporting the mails the declines were attributable to that cause, but the easier tendency throughout the group was analysed as sympathetic.

A Welcome Announcement.

The report from Washington that the Senate Committee on Commerce will begin its hearings on new shipping legislation on Jan. 19 was received with approval in shipping circles yesterday. Local shipping men have waited patiently since the signing of the armistice for some definite indication that corrective legislation in this field would be considered.

The Freight Rate Increase.

What the freight rate increase should be to enable the transportation system of the country, when it is returned to private operation, to continue the present standard of service is a question receiving the close attention of corporate managers, the Joint Conference of the Senate and the House and the Railroad Administration. So far no specified rate has been agreed upon, although 25 per cent. has been mentioned in some quarters and as low as 15 per cent. in others. The probable increase necessary will be in the neighborhood of 22 or 23 per cent., according to conservative estimates.

'Quake Rumors Hit Oil Shares.

Heavy selling of Mexican Petroleum and Pan American Petroleum yesterday was predicated on rumors that an official of the Mexican Government had said that recent earthquakes in that country had damaged oil properties in the district around Vera Cruz. There was no immediate denial of this early yesterday, and much of the selling, which was apparently from out of town, was not checked to any appreciable extent when banking interests affiliated with the companies stated that there had been no confirmation of the rumors. In the late afternoon there was some recovery in each issue from the low prices for the day, but this was slight in each instance. It was said in some quarters that the rumors had been utilized by the professionals for a successful bear raid on the shares, although the slight recoveries near the close failed to indicate that there had been any extensive short-covering operations.

MORE INVESTORS IN STEEL COMMON

DROP IN FOREIGN LANDS

Public Takes 94,889 Shares Out of Commission Merchants' Hands Since Sept. 30.

A decrease in brokerage holdings of common shares of United States Steel Corporation stock during the last quarter of 1919 is shown in figures announced yesterday. On Sept. 30 2,110,514 shares, or 41.32 per cent. of the total issue, were in commission houses, whereas on Dec. 31 there were only 2,015,625 shares, or 39.46 per cent. of the total issue in brokerage hands. The total number of shares held by individual investors on Dec. 31 amounted to 3,067,400, as against 2,972,511 on Sept. 30. On the basis of these figures it is held that investors gradually were accumulating the junior Steel issues during the latter part of 1919.

On Dec. 31, 1916, the brokerage holdings amounted to 2,950,436 shares, so that from that time to Dec. 31 of last year there was a decrease of 934,811 shares, or 18.39 per cent. of the total issue. The preferred shares on Dec. 31, 1919, showed 3,304,065, or 91.71 per cent. in the hands of investors as compared with 3,296,576, or 91.52 per cent. on Sept. 30. The high record of investment holdings of Steel common was made on March 31, 1919, when the total standing in the name of individuals was 3,105,059, or 61.09 per cent.

Drop in Foreign Countries.

The total of common and preferred holdings of United States Steel in foreign countries shows another drop during the last quarter of 1919. Of the junior issue 366,895 shares were held abroad on Dec. 31, 1919, and there were 138,566 shares of preferred held outside of this country. On Sept. 30, 1919, the foreign holdings of Steel common amounted to 304,543 shares, and of the preferred 143,840 shares. At the close of 1917 the common shares held abroad amounted to 484,190 and the preferred to 140,077 shares.

The following table shows the principal foreign holdings, the totals given being the totals for all foreign countries in addition to those mentioned:

England Largest Foreign Holder.

England continues to be the largest foreign holder of Steel securities. A decline in progress is shown by the fact that the common shares held there on Dec. 31, 1919, totaled 166,287, whereas on Dec. 31, 1917, there were 173,074 shares. Liquidation of holdings in Holland is shown to a more marked degree, the Dec. 31 figures of last year being 124,559 common shares, as compared with 229,185 at the end of 1917.

Holdings of preferred and common shares are recorded in thirty-eight countries outside of the United States.

In this country, New York State is the largest holder, with 2,785,918 shares, Pennsylvania follows with 531,059 shares. In the latter case there is a gain of some 20,000 shares over the Sept. 30 figures, while the New York holdings show a decrease of about 38,000 shares.

INCOME TAX FACTS FOR CORPORATIONS

EXEMPTIONS ARE DEFINED

Concerns Doing Brokerage Business Must, When Required, Give Names of Customers.

Corporation taxes and exemptions and the meaning of "personal service corporations" are discussed in the ninth of the series of "Income Tax Facts You Should Know," made public yesterday by the Federal Bureau of Internal Revenue. It follows:

A flat rate of 10 per cent. is imposed on the net income of corporations for the year 1919. For the year 1918 the rate was 12 per cent. Certain corporations, such as labor and agricultural organizations, mutual savings banks not having a capital stock represented by shares, fraternal beneficiary societies, business leagues, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, &c., not organized for profit, are exempt from taxation.

Every domestic corporation is allowed a specific exemption of $2,000, but, unless expressly exempt from taxation, must file a return regardless of its net income. Returns are required also of every personal service corporation, notwithstanding they are exempt from taxation.

The term "personal service corporation," according to Treasury regulations means a corporation "the income of which is derived from a profession or business which consists principally of rendering personal service the earnings of which are to be ascribed primarily to the activities of the principal owners or stockholders, and in which the employment of capital is not necessary or only incidental." No definite and conclusive tests, however, can be prescribed by which it can be determined in advance of an examination of the corporation's return whether or not it is a personal service corporation. The individual stockholders of a personal service corporation are taxed in the same manner as members of a partnership, and the net income from such corporations must be accounted for by them.

Corporation returns must be sworn to by the President, Vice President, or other principal officer, and by the Treasurer and Assistant Treasurer. When required by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, corporations subject to the tax must render a return duly verified under oath of its payments of dividends, stating the name and address of each stockholder, the number of shares owned by him, and the amount of dividends paid him.

Corporations, as well as individuals and partnerships, doing a brokerage business, when required by the Commissioner, must file a return showing the names of their customers, the amount of their profits or losses, and giving such information as will enable the Commissioner to determine whether all income tax on profits and gains of such customer have been paid.

In determining net income upon which the tax is assessed, corporations are allowed all the ordinary deductions for business expenses, bad debts, depreciation, losses, &c., granted the individual. Corporations, like individuals, may pay their income tax in full at the time of filing the returns, or in four installments, the first of which is due on or before March 15, the second on or before June 15, the third on or before Sept. 15, and the fourth on or before Dec. 15, 1920.

STANDARD MEETING TODAY.

The annual meeting of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey will be held at Bayonne today. Officials of the company were inclined yesterday to scoff at any idea of a large stock dividend being declared, or that any right to subscribe to new stock at par would be granted. Both of these rumors were in circulation last Saturday in accompaniment to a sharp upturn in the price of the company's shares.

The stock moved forward again yesterday, selling at one time as high as 795, and later reacting to 775. The check in the price advance came with the announcement from Washington that the Supreme Court had again failed to hand down a decision on the taxability of stock dividends. It has been contended by many that there would certainly be no stock dividend in Standard Oil securities unless there was a favorable ruling on the tax question.

Rumors continue, however, to be in circulation that some important developments in regard to the Standard of New Jersey can be expected this year. The financial district still speaks of the possibility of subdividing the shares preparatory to listing them on the New York Stock Exchange. It is argued that such a high-priced security would be unwieldy. Furthermore, it is pointed out that the policy of subdivision has been followed by the Standard of New Jersey with reference to one of its subsidiaries, namely, the Imperial Oil Company of Canada.

Bergen—

THIS well fortified seaport of Norway has an unusually mild temperature for so northern a latitude. Also a heavy rainfall, averaging 72 inches. It presents a most picturesque appearance from the sea. Its principal industries are shipbuilding, barrel making and fishing. In March and April several hundred vessels loaded with fish and other commodities may be seen in the harbor at one time. As a Norwegian port, Bergen is next to Christiania in commercial importance. Up to the end of 1917 Norway had lost by submarines and in other ways 714 ships, aggregating 1,100,000 tons. This is a great loss for such a small maritime country. Bergen's total imports in 1912 were valued at £4,700,000, against £5,000,000 in 1913. This was about 15% of Norway's total imports. Its exports are about two-thirds its imports—wooden goods and fish goods constituting over one-half. There is keen demand in Norway for fine imported shoes, the demand for the coarser grades being supplied at home.

ASKS AUTHORITY TO REGULATE FARES

Public Service Board Demands More Power or That City Be Responsible for Control.

FLEXIBLE FARE FAVORED

Prediction This Would In Few Years Enable Sale of Tickets at Less Than 5 Cents.

ALBANY, Jan. 12.—The annual report of the Public Service Commission for the First (or New York City) District, which was filed with the Legislature tonight, asks that authority be conferred upon the commission to regulate fares in this city. If this is refused the report makes the following suggestion:

"If it be felt that the commission must be kept in leading strings, and that its powers must be so limited and qualified as to require constant judicial interpretation, many of the so-called delegations of power had best be intrusted to the municipalities. Whether this would be a step backward on the part of this State is a matter for the Legislature to determine."

In order to make his position perfectly clear Commissioner Lewis Nixon explains that the commission should have fuller and more definite powers, or that responsibility for all regulatory matters should be placed upon the city. He reverts to the subject again in discussing the question of municipal ownership.

"It is the firm conviction of the commission," he says, "that half-way measures simply temporize. If Public Service Commissions are to continue, they must at least have power to take steps to avoid destruction of utilities regulated by them."

Concessions for Flexible Fare.

The report tells about the frequent conferences held between Commissioner Nixon, Transit Construction Commissioner John H. Delaney and officials of the traction companies, and then says concerning the result of them:

"The operating companies, in a spirit of co-operation, have assured the commission that they are willing to make concessions to the public in return for the right to establish a flexible or 'cost-of-service' fare.

"The commission has been and is ready and willing to aid in negotiating agreements embodying such concessions. If such flexible fare is placed in effect it should apply to rapid transit lines as well as to surface lines, for the obvious reason that both types of railroads operate through contiguous territory, and that traffic would be driven from one to the other if a differential existed in rates of fare."

The report states that the commission is not convinced that the city should not control the transportation facilities, that the representatives of the people should be capable of efficient administration, and that it is the duty of the Legislature to provide a commission whose rulings would prevail over a municipal policy of non-action in emergency.

After stating that the public would be best served if all of the transportation facilities were placed under one management, the report reads:

"This commission has not wished to see fares increased in the interest of watered securities or excessive valuations. It does believe that honest investments should be secured and such fares paid as will provide interest on investment—brought into the full light of publicity—and the cost of operation and full maintenance. Such cost-of-service fare should also pay interest on the city bonds issued for rapid transit construction so that such bonds may be freed from the debt limit."

Looking forward, the report says that with the adoption of a flexible fare and city control of the transportation system it should within the next few years be possible to buy books of tickets at less than 5 cents per ticket. It is pointed out that the growth of the city and the increase in rides per capita add more than 100,000,000 passengers each year to the lines, that these overtax the capacity of the roads and will interfere with the healthy growth of the city if more lines are not provided.

Reference is made in the report to the fact that the lines are now carrying more than 2,000,000,000 passengers a year, that the people as cheerfully pay 5 cents for a ride of a few blocks as they pay for a ride of twenty-one miles, and that the cost of operation has grown, because of the war, 100 per cent.

Consequences of Disintegration.

Attention is called to the futile efforts of the traction companies to obtain some relief from the city administration, to the abandonment of some of the lines and to the appointment of receivers for others, and states that if the process of disintegration goes on the city will be served by a dozen or more companies in place of two large systems, and that this would entail a 5 cent fare within restricted areas.

Commenting on the bus service established by the city the report says:

"It is not the purpose of the commission to take steps to stop the operation of bus lines where required, but within its powers to regulate so that the law will be obeyed and the traveling public protected. The great problem in this city is to lessen congestion of the streets rather than increase it. To establish bus lines not as a studied effort to better conditions, but as a matter of penalising existing companies, simply penalizes the people."

The report refers to the two occasions when the city was restricted as to the amount of coal needed, and suggests that legislation be enacted to enable it to provide and maintain an adequate coal reserve. Concerning the strikes on the traction lines the report asks for legislation to prevent similar disturbances in the future.

Securities issued by public utility companies by authority of the commission during the year aggregated $25,713,564.30, the largest amount being the issue of $15,000,000 of receiver's certificates for the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, and the next largest $5,550,000 of bonds of the Brooklyn Edison Company. The net capitalization of all corporations under control of the commission at the close of the fiscal year was $1,511,503,046, an increase of $121,222,472 over the preceding year.

The report says that during the fiscal year 2,079,942,604 passengers were carried on all the lines, which makes a new high record and is an increase over the preceding year of 104,450,815. The traffic, it states, has doubled in sixteen years and the per capita riding increased from 358 to 370. Operating expenses increased more than $15,000,000 and aggregate income available for dividends declined from $5,000,000 in 1918 to a deficit of $3,000,000 in 1919.

There were 37,435 accidents on railroad lines in 1918 and only 30,278 in 1919. The report says that the commission is making preliminary studies and surveys of the 400 grade crossings in the city with the view of having them removed.

Would Increase Fares Up State.

The Up-State Public Service Commission in its annual report asked the Legislature to enact a measure which, if passed, would have the effect sought by the Carson-Martin increased fare bill which was defeated last session after legislative investigation of an alleged lobby behind it.

The new measure would permit increased trolley fares throughout the State. The commission requests of the law-makers power of determination of just and reasonable traction rates "notwithstanding that a higher or lower rate has been prescribed by statute, franchise or agreement with municipal authorities."

The commission contends that the urgency for such legislation is even greater now than it was a year ago "by reason of changed conditions."

The commission further recommends that identical power of determination be given it over lighting and telephone rates, and it seeks legislation to provide that whenever a new schedule of rates is filed it shall have power to hold a hearing and suspend if deemed necessary operation of the new schedule for not longer than 120 days. Burden of proof of the justness of increased rates would be put upon the corporation.

Rubber Co. Buys Shoe Plant.

The acquisition of the Dolgeville Felt Shoe Company of Dolgeville, N. Y., was announced by the United States Rubber Company yesterday. The plant comprises three factory buildings and the company employs a large number of workers. H. I. Patrie and William Menge, who have been sole owners of the concern, will remain with the company, which will continue business under the same name.

Curb Market Pays for Site.

The Curb Market Realty Associates paid over to the firm of Blake & Ewing yesterday $900,000 as the balance of the $1,000,000 for which they purchased a site for the new building to house the New York Curb Market Association, on Trinity Place north of Hector Street, some weeks ago. It is hoped that the building which the association will erect on the site will be ready for occupancy by the late Fall so that this market may finally be moved indoors.

GOVERNOR LOWDEN URGES LOWER TAXES

FAVORS NATIONAL BUDGET

Sees Destruction to Private Initiative in Burdensome Taxes — No Reference to Presidential Boom.

A plea for the adoption of a national budget plan and the creation of a financial system that would cause a reduction of taxes and of the expenses of the national Government was made at a bankers' dinner in the Waldorf last night by Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois. He had been invited to tell of the reforms in his State that had resulted in the reduction of the general property tax from 90 cents on $100 in 1917 to 40 cents in 1919.

Neither Governor Lowden nor any of the other speakers referred to his aspirations for the Republican nomination for the Presidency, but his demands for "business efficiency" in the administration of the departments of the national Government were loudly applauded by the 1,000 members of the State Bankers' Association. Those at the dinner were members of Group 8 of the State Association, comprising the associated banks of this city.

"The expenses of government have so increased and taxes have become so burdensome that they enter into and influence every activity of our national life," said Governor Lowden. "They have reached the point where private initiative is discouraged; in fact those taxes are dangerously near the destruction of that private initiative.

"They have reached the point where industrial progress is threatened and our future prosperity menaced. Waste and extravagance mark all expenditures, public and private. Economy is a despised and forgotten thing.

Asks Economy to Avert Disaster.

"There must be a return to the homely, old-fashioned virtues if we would avert disaster. Where can we begin this return so effectively as with the Government itself? We are told that the Government should set an example as an employer. Why shouldn't it also set an example in thrift, in economy, in requiring from its officials an honest day's work for an honest day's pay? No one can measure the influence of such an example upon all classes."

Telling of the combination of 125 boards and commissions in Illinois into nine departments, Governor Lowden took a fling at the large number of special war boards and other special commissions in Washington. He told of the success of the department scheme in Illinois, and said he believed that one member of any commission or board did most of the work and might as well be the director of a department.

The speaker urged bankers and business men to take more interest in Government affairs so that the efficiency of American business might be duplicated in the Government departments. He added that "we have been indifferent to the value of our Government and institutions, but we have now had an awakening."

In introducing Governor Lowden, Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange Bank and Chairman of the Associated Banks of Group 8, said:

"In the last year there have been several notable setbacks to the rushing current of the speculative and investment businesses of this country. They are always recognized as the precursors of greater checks unless the bankers help to lessen the dangers they seek to correct.

"I protest against too much confidence in mere monetary strength. The millions of men and corporations that intrust their money and securities to us for a time are swayed by large capitals and handsome surpluses, but at the first scent of danger they scan the individual character of the men in charge of their interests.

Banker Sees Grave Problems.

"We never faced greater problems, political and financial, than in this opening month of 1920. The purchasing power of the dollar has been greatly reduced. Many essential devices of safety have been disregarded, and we have been blinded by the ease which has attended all these deviations from the true principles of finances in the hope that we can easily get back to where we were before this craze became so popular.

"There is but one way out, and that is by a study of the past and a recognition of those infallible laws by which our well-being is secured. Some day we may have to cease competition and join hands in a great public service in rectifying the excesses into which we have fallen. I urge a careful study of the situation upon every banker."

Our Policy Is to provide for our investors, First of all, Safety, and Second—the highest possible interest yield compatible with safety.

To be influenced in the making of loans by considerations of public welfare, to seek to forward payrolls of industry, to increase production, to aid in reducing the consumption of unnecessary things, that savings may be increased, that funds may be provided for sound investment, and the National business fabric strengthened thereby.

Our Guarantee

Many Investment Houses offer bonds to investors—some recommend them. We GUARANTEE both principal and interest of those which we offer, and our guarantee is backed by every dollar of our resources.

The Public Need Is

a. Increased saving—judicious expenditure—the avoidance of buying unnecessary things in order that prices may be reduced because more goods are then available to those who must buy.

b. The sound investment of these increased savings in a way that aids increased production—the provision of more necessities of life, in order to further reduce prices through making more goods available.

c. The increase of National Wealth by producing more per each worker and business man, and through increasing the amount of savings owned by each household.

We hope and intend to do our full part in filling this public need through working, with understanding, to aid production with judicious loans, and to safeguard savings and make saving more productive by providing a security of proven superiority, of complete safety—and an unusually high interest return.

FALSE GERMAN NEWS HITS COTTON SHORTS

MARKET RUN UP 100 POINTS

After Mad Buying Exhausted Itself, Market Lost Nearly All Its Initial Gains.

The cotton traders who sold short on Saturday on the unsubstantiated report of revolution in Germany were whipsawed yesterday when, on the failure of the German revolt report to materialize, they rushed to cover wildly at the opening, running the market up 75 to 100 points over Saturday's closing and buying their contracts from the same people to whom they had sold on Saturday at the lower levels. Then, after their mad buying had exhausted itself, the market fell away for almost all of its initial gains. It was a Roman holiday for those who had kept their heads on Saturday and a slaughter of the innocents for the others.

The Liverpool market got along without the German revolution flurry. Their market had closed before the story got into circulation on Saturday, and by the time it opened yesterday morning the tale had died a natural death. In Liverpool, however, there was an irregular and uncertain trend. The foreign market opened down 4 points to up 10 points, and then proceeded to widen the spread, until at the close the near months were down 21 to 24 points, while the distant months were up 20 to 30 points over Friday's closing. Spots at Liverpool were down 39 English points, to the basis of 28.40d., on sales of 7,000 bales. Arrivals there were especially heavy, amounting to 65,000 bales, of which 60,000 were American.

Our exports for over the week-end were also heavy, totaling 115,595 bales, and making the exports for the season to date 3,190,331 bales, or greater than the exports to this time last year by more than 1,150,000 bales. This very rapid movement, the fastest in some years, is becoming a bull argument of no mean force, and the ring and the trade both are paying more attention to it than was paid a short time back.

The trade, for instance, is filling up with rumors of huge contracts being negotiated by foreign agents. Yesterday there were stories going the rounds that within the last few weeks these foreign agents have bought upward of 2,000,000 bales for export. Meanwhile offerings from the Southern spot markets appear to be increasing. Around the ring yesterday it was said that many of the Southern spot interests were heavy sellers of future contracts for hedge purposes.

VINDICATED, ASKS DAMAGES.

Suits of Man Wrongfully Indicted as "Christmas Keough," Before Jury

The trial of a series of actions by Alexander P. Macauley, a mining expert, of Toronto, against Lambert Bros., Theodore B. Starr, Inc., and Brooks Bros., because they had him indicted here in 1917 on charges that he was the notorious "Christmas Keough," who swindled merchants throughout the country at Christmas time every year, began yesterday.

Mr. Macauley had to prove his innocence at a cost of $50,000 before the indictments against him were dismissed. The real swindler was arrested later in Chicago and is now in Joliet Penitentiary.

Terence J. McManus, attorney for the plaintiff, told Supreme Court Justice Tierney and a jury that, while Macauley was arrested in St. Louis, it was the active prosecution by the defendants in New York that made it difficult for him to obtain prompt vindication. The trial will continue today.

GUILTY, SAYS 'MRS. WARREN'

Woman Who Murdered Mrs. Branch Sentenced to Twenty Years.

MINEOLA, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Marie Warren Strauss, who was known as Mrs. Warren, pleaded guilty today in the Supreme Court before Justice Callaghan to murder in the second degree. She had been indicted for first degree murder for killing Mrs. Clara Branch at Valley Stream on Nov. 13, a woman who had befriended her, by beating her over the head with a hammer. Then she took $131 from a pocket in Mrs. Branch's night dress and fled to New York.

Mrs. Strauss was immediately sentenced to serve not less than 20 years or life, in Auburn Prison. In giving her pedigree she said that she was a widow and by occupation an investigator. She gave her address as 161 West Seventy-ninth Street, New York.

Advance In Appalachian Crude Oil

The advance in crude oil from the Appalachian reserve is directly attributable to the scarcity of this grade of oil. Pennsylvania crude is now quoted at $5 a barrel.

This price is the highest quoted on the market. Development work has been carried on extensively, but this has not served to offset the decreasing supply. Under such circumstances it was only natural that there should be an advance in price to the highest levels that have ever been touched. Appalachian crudes are especially desirable for their refined products.

We have in preparation for free distribution a comprehensive booklet,

"The Appalachian Oil Field"

A faded circular in a hand carved frame hangs in The National Park Bank—

"This Bank will be opened for business at their Banking House, head of Beekman Street, opposite the Park, on Monday, March 31, 1856.—Your account is respectfully solicited."

Sixty-four years ago this institution was launched and manned by merchants with a vision of serving the commercial activity of lower Manhattan.

THE growth of this bank has been closely interwoven with the expansion of commerce in this city and our nation. It stands as a testimonial to the industry, and unflagging labor of merchants, manufacturers, shippers and bankers.

At the threshold of 1920 the facilities of The National Park Bank of New York are again placed at the disposal of commercial and banking houses.

May we confer with you regarding your plans for the New Year?

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

In yesterday's session on the Consolidated Stock Exchange numerous of the active properties registered losses of from 3 to 16 per cent. The early weakness, due to heavy liquidation in the oil shares, was given added momentum in the final hour by an advance in the call money rate to 16 per cent., this factor contributing in large part to the wide culminating recessions. Mexican Petroleum was offered down 9¾, Pan American 6¾. Republic Steel netted a loss of 3¾. Baldwin Locomotive 5¾. American Woolen moved down 5 from its early high to 155¾, and United States Rubber 3¾.

DR. BUTLER OFFERS PLAN FOR BUDGET

SMOOT SEES HUGE SAVING

Would Have Estimates Examined by Congressional Agency Responsible to Congress Alone.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Adoption of a national budget system was advocated today by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, who made a statement before the Senate committee which is considering the various proposals for the creation of such a Federal budget.

Dr. Butler expressed the opinion that lax administration had much to do with present-day dissatisfaction with national expenditure. He declared that if there were a national budget system such as would require Cabinet officers to come face to face with both houses of Congress that body would be placed where it should be—in control of the Federal financial situation—and enable Congress to fix upon the President complete responsibility for any errors or delinquency in administration.

The budget, Dr. Butler thought, should be examined by a single committee large enough to be representative of the whole House and whole Senate without, however, being so large as to become a town meeting.

Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, second ranking member of the Senate Committee on Appropriations, made a statement to the committee in which he opposed any budget plan that would be directly responsible to the Executive rather than the legislative branch of Congress.

"The examination of estimates under the kind of budget plan that I would favor," he said, "should be made by agencies created by Congress, by agencies directly responsible to Congress, and by agencies that should report directly to Congress. The estimates might come from the various departments as usual and be referred to this kind of a budget commission for consideration, but I am not in favor of the kind of a budget system that would be responsible to the Executive rather than to Congress, and which would report its result through the Secretary of the Treasury.

"If Congress will create such a budget agency, I think it can be quickly demonstrated to the people that millions, even millions can be saved."

Dr. Butler in his statement said:

"The President should be required by law to take the responsibility for recommending to the Congress just how the income of the next fiscal year is to be raised, just how the expenditures of that year are to be made, and what provision is to be made for the estimated deficiency in income, if any.

"There has been some argument of the point that the preparation of the budget should be a matter apart from politics. This could never happen in a democratic form of government. A budget is nothing but politics; it is all politics. It is indeed the issues of the last preceding campaign reduced to practice. If the people desire to establish a certain system of taxation, and so vote, the next budget will reflect that decision. If they deliberately choose a policy requiring certain large expenditures, the next budget should reflect that fact. The budget would very quickly come to be looked upon by the people as the method in and through which they could get their wishes carried out and hold responsible for any failure to carry them out either the President or the Congress, or both, as the case might be.

"Legislation for an adequate budget system will, I think, contain three distinct sets of provisions—first, those relating to the preparation and submission of the budget itself; second, those requiring the presence of the heads of executive departments on the floor of Congress at stated times to answer questions and give explanations relative to budget items falling within the scope of their several departments, and, third, provision for an independent audit of all Government expenditures, not only as to the correctness of their form, but as to their economic value, by a public auditor directly responsible to the legislative department of the Government.

"It would be a great step forward if in connection with the establishment of the budget system the Congress were to continue the provisions of the Overman act approved May 20, 1918, authorizing the President to co-ordinate or consolidate the executive bureaus, agencies and offices, and for other purposes, in the interest of economy and the more efficient concentration of the Government, and would strike out the two limitations now contained in the act so that the President would be free to propose in his budget a complete, an effective, and a modern organization of the machinery for conducting the Government's business.

"With the two restrictions removed from the Overman act, no further legislation would be needed to open the way to the greatest administrative reform in the history of our Government."

The Retail Side of It.

Comment in the local shoe trade relative to recent public assertions that shoe prices will remain stationary for some time is not altogether commendatory. The trouble with these assertions, it is charged, was that they have not been complete enough. It was pointed out, for instance, that while there will be no change in the wholesale price of shoes for quite a while, the same is not true of the prices that will have to be asked at retail. It is for this reason, it was asserted yesterday, that the published reports are unfair to the retail trade. It was further pointed out that the retailers, having laid in their Spring stocks at prices averaging around $3 a pair higher than those paid for Fall shoes, would not be able to sell these shoes to the public at the prices now current for Fall goods. Thus, unless the reports objected to are sufficiently explained, it is asserted, that the retailers stand to face a charge of profiteering this Spring when they will actually be getting only prices commensurate with those they paid the wholesalers.

NO LOWER PRICES FOR KNIT GOODS

NEED NORMAL CONDITIONS

These Will Not Come Until Europe Is Prepared to Offer Surplus Goods Here.

Not a whit of relief is held out to those who would like to see an end to the constant advance of hosiery and underwear prices. On the contrary, representatives of the knit goods industry who addressed members of the Jobbers' Association of Knit Goods Buyers at their annual meeting held yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria told of a number of conditions that would add to the cost of their products. Besides these reviews of the production and price situation, a subject that provoked interest at the meeting was whether the jobbers should launch an advertising campaign to correct the popular conception that they stand in the way of lower prices. On this it was decided to have a committee confer with the parent organization, the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association.

In his opening remarks, Simon Beam of the Smith-McCord-Townsend Dry Goods Company of Kansas City, who as President of the jobbers' organization, acted as Chairman, described the last nine months as the most prosperous in the history of the industry, following the rather unsettled condition after the armistice. While there is considerable unrest in the country, he explained that a good deal of it could be traced to Washington, where ambitious politicians could be found willing to create an issue regardless of the cost to industry.

As a means of keeping down the cost of living, J. P. Quinlan, whose subject was "Can Present Prices Be Maintained?" suggested that a direct sales tax be substituted for the present excess profits tax. The latter, he explained, is responsible for eliminating competition at the present time and preventing the proper pricing of goods on a cost, plus the usual profit, basis. An examination of many income tax returns would show, he declared, that there are extraordinarily large expenditures listed which is an extravagance traced to the fact that they are deductible.

In his review of the market situation for underwear for 1920 Frank H. Burgher of Bliss, Fabyan & Co. suggested that some standard of value be adopted with which to measure the price and cost of such goods.

Wallace Wilson, in presenting hosiery prospects for 1920, described the various difficulties in the path of increased production, and held out no prospect of normal prices for a period to come of from one to five years. Even then, he said, prices will be on a level double those of pre-war times. He found fault with the inducements held forth to labor as a means of increasing output because such inducements, he said, have the contrary effect of putting a premium on the least effort. He answered the possible questions a buyer might ask concerning prices and deliveries by saying that besides the labor situation the manufacturers were getting neither their usual supplies of raw material from the spinner nor the accustomed qualities. Normal prices will not return, he said, until Europe becomes settled and is prepared to offer its surplus goods to this country.

J. P. Vorhees dwelt on a comparison of prices paid for yarn now and in former years. One case he gave was of a yarn that is quoted now at $5.65 a pound. Allowing $1.25 a pound for cotton, 50 cents for waste and 75 cents for the cost of spinning, he professed ignorance of where the remaining sum of $3.15 went. One result of these advanced prices for yarn, he said, would be to eliminate 50-cent goods from the retail counters. He also did not believe it would be possible to sell 25-cent goods at all, even seconds. He pointed out that the entrance of large tire companies into the market for yarn spinning mills has taken large quantities of supplies out of the reach of the yarn buyers.

"Are these increases justified?" he asked the meeting. "I am not prepared to say, but I think if we were in the same position as the spinners we might do the same thing." One of the drawbacks to prompt deliveries he put down at the door of delays on the part of printers who asked from four to eight weeks to supply the necessary labels for goods.

In an address delivered at the morning session, Lincoln Cromwell of Iselin & Co. told of the progress being made in correcting labels, following the action of the Federal Trade Commission in condemning the use of improper words. While criticising the manner in which the Commission brought the attention of the industry to the matter of labels, he stated that the Government body had rendered a good service to the industry which in the future would abide by the new code of names devised to prevent improper labeling.

The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: E. C. Hall of the Clawson & Wilson Company of Buffalo, President; Fred D. Crawford of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., of Chicago, First Vice-President; Edward Super of the Ely Walker Dry Goods Company, St. Louis, Second Vice-President, and W. B. Haight of A. S. Haight & Co., Secretary and Treasurer.

How Palm Beach Lines Help.

It is not only in directly swelling profits that the manufacture of "Palm Beach" or Winter resort lines helps the cutters-up who go in for them, according to a well-known member of the local trade. One of the chief advantages of making these goods is that it enables the manufacturer to give his employes steadier work, thus aiding him in guarding his organization against disintegration during the so-called Fall slack season. With good workers as hard to get as they have been for the last several seasons this factor is one not to be taken lightly. It also has the effect, said the manufacturer referred to, of producing better team work in the shop through the employes having more time to get used to each others' methods before getting down to making the "regular" Spring lines.

BUSINESS NOTES.

The second annual informal dinner of the Eastern District branch of the National Association of Sweater and Knitted Textile Manufacturers will be held at 6:30 P. M. on Tuesday next at the Hotel McAlpin. Members of all other associations in the knit goods trade are being invited to attend.

E. Bodenheimer & Co., manufacturers and importers of handkerchiefs, 38 East Twenty-first Street, will remove on Feb. 1 to new quarters at 33 Union Square West. J. H. Greenstein, who for ten years was connected with the Loeb & Schoenfeld Company, has been admitted to the firm.

Kaplan Brothers, manufacturers of coats and suits, 22 West Thirty-second Street, are now celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the business. They have recently completed the organization of the Nalpak Dress Company, which will manufacture popular-priced silk and cloth dresses at the same address.

After a trial which lasted since last May, the fourteen officials and employes of the Coastwise Lumber and Supply Company, who were accused of having conspired to defraud the Government by short shipments of timber, were acquitted yesterday, in the United States District Court in Brooklyn. The jury which required only twenty-seven minutes to reach a verdict, presented a gold fountain pen and a set of resolutions to Judge Edwin S. Thomas, thanking him for his kindness and courtesy during the long drawn-out proceedings.

George T. McQuade, President of the company, issued a statement in which he asserted that he had no fear of the outcome of the trial and thanked Judge Thomas for his fairness during the trial. REAL ESTATE FIELD

Trustees of the estate of R. H. Martin closed contracts yesterday for the sale of the Marbridge Building, on the northeast corner of Broadway and Thirty-fourth Street, held at $5,000,000.

The buyer is reputed to be a prominent operator who has made purchases in the same vicinity lately.

The Marbridge Building, which is an eleven-story structure, covers all the easterly frontage on Broadway from Thirty-fourth to Thirty-fifth Street, with the exception of an eighteen-foot lot at the southeast corner of Thirty-fifth Street, owned for many years by the McAleenan estate. It fronts 178.8 feet on Broadway, 150 feet on Thirty-fourth Street and 92 feet on Thirty-fifth Street. Rogers, Peet & Co., of which the late Mr. Martin was President, has occupied the lower portion of the building since its completion.

Plans for the building were filed in 1906 by Townsend, Steinle & Haskell, architects, who estimated the cost of the improvement at $1,000,000. The building, which faces the Hotel McAlpin, the Macy and Saks department stores, yields a total yearly rental of $440,000. It carries a first mortgage of $3,750,000, held by the New York Life Insurance Company, and is assessed at $4,400,000. The holding price was $5,000,000.

The trustees of the Martin estate, Alfred E. Marling, Robert Thorne and George Least, recently sold the Martinique Hotel, at Broadway and Thirty-second Street, held at $5,000,000, and the Martin Building, at Broadway and Thirty-first Street, valued at $2,000,000.

Walter T. Stern Buys $300,000 Hotel for Investment.

As a permanent investment Walter T. Stern, of the firm of Coleman, Stern & Ellenwood, attorneys, has purchased 420 West 116th Street, a nine-story fireproof hotel, constructed about ten years ago, on a plot 50 by 100. The property which is located between Amsterdam Avenue and Morningside Avenue contains one hundred and forty-four rooms and about seventy baths, arranged principally in suites of two rooms and bath, included in the sale is the

ACCUSED OF MURDER OF MOTHER-IN-LAW

INVESTIGATE OTHER DEATHS

Authorities Assert Several of Family Have Died Mysteriously in the Last Five Years.

MARKASAN, Wis., Jan. 12.—Dr. J. A. Freudenberg, a young physician of this town, was arrested today charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Nettie Duffies. A Coroner's Jury formally charged Dr. Freudenberg with causing Mrs. Duffies's death by means of an injection of mustard in the bladder. The death under mysterious circumstances of other members of the Duffies family during the last five years is being investigated, and plans have been made for the exhumation and examination of the body of Alfred Duffies, Mrs. Duffies's second husband, who died two years ago.

Dr. Freudenberg was placed in jail and refused to make a statement. Preliminary hearing in his case was continued for ten days and under the law no bail can be fixed until after this preliminary. Complaint upon which warrant for the physician's arrest was issued was made by Wilfred E. Perry, brother of Mrs. Duffies.

The arrest followed quickly upon two important discoveries, according to District Attorney Paul. He said he had received evidence tending to show that the physician might have brought about his mother-in-law's death Nov. 1, to prevent her marrying a third time. Some time ago, Mr. Paul said, Edward Mathers, an old acquaintance of Mrs. Duffies, had come from South Dakota to visit her and had remained for several weeks.

Mr. Paul said he had evidence to show that Dr. Freudenberg had sent the brother, Mr. Perry, to the store for mustard the day Mrs. Duffies was taken to a hospital.

Dr. Freudenberg is 37 years old, and five years ago came to this quiet village of 1,200 population. His wife says she will stand by her husband.

The District Attorney has affidavits from Mrs. Grace Briehl, the nurse who cared for Mrs. Duffies on her deathbed, and from patients in St. Mary's Hospital at Fond du Lac, where Mrs. Duffies died. These patients are said to have overheard conversations between Dr. Freudenberg and members of the hospital staff regarding his mother-in-law's condition.
